LOOKING 'EM OVER

(By "Tec")
 VISITING HOME FOLKS

Had the pleasure of shaking hands with Jimmy Jerome on Saturday last. By the way in case the average reader is not acquainted with the genial chap, I might say his proper cognomen is James Jerome McLean of De Gros Marsh, but when he was battling for honors in the welterweight ranks on the Pacific Coast, where he earned the title as champion, he was known as "Fighting Jimmy Jerome".

Mr. McLean last visited his home six years ago and since then has travelled extensively and for the most part has domiciled in Texas. He arrived on the Island Friday and on Saturday evening took off by plane with Pilot Jones at the controls for his old home—and no doubt received a royal welcome from the old folks.

Mr. McLean, who is now bordering on the two score mark has shook the smell of the rosin from his nostrils and has settled down to a less arduous routine. Due to his quiet mode of living with strict attention to healthy recreation, Jimmy has retained that flush of youth typical of the athlete who has lived clean and has made a name for himself in his once chosen profession.

It may be mentioned here that McLean broke into the boxing game while on the Coast and in later years was one of the famous Jack Britton's sparring partners. He remained in Britton's camp for a long while, and today Britton, who is also out of the "racket" still speaks very highly of his protegee, "Jimmy Jerome".

FERTILIZERS

Our farmers in general are not yet placing their orders for their fertilizer requirements. Conditions do not permit their doing so.

We have in stock and to arrive the latter part of April a full supply of chemicals and mixed fertilizers. We believe we are stocking enough to meet the full seasons demands.

We will supply your requirements now or later in the season if you prefer. Or we will take your orders now for shipment when you wish.

At the request of a large number of our best farmers we are this year shipping our superphosphates and mixed fertilizers in bags of 100 pounds cash. This makes lighter handling and simpler calculating.

All our goods are freshly ground at the time of shipment from the factory excepting sulphate of ammonia and nitrate of soda. This guarantees the goods delivered you in first class condition and packed in bags 100% sound.

Our prices are and will be in line with our competitors. And we guarantee you that our present prices will not be advanced while our supply now in stock and to arrive the latter part of April remains unsold. As already stated we believe these supplies will be enough for our seasons requirements.

We will be pleased to serve you.

that they are real sportsmen. "Boston might have won the game in the Windy City. They were just as good as the Hawks. They had several good chances to score, but they gumbled them up. Charlie Gardiner, playing with a football helmet on his head, was impregnable, but George Boucher was the hero of the game. In the last half minute Boucher made two miraculous stops with Gardiner out of the net, and his brilliant playing saved the Hawks from defeat.

"Boucher's comeback is an epic of hockey. Turned loose by the Montreal Maroons, he went into retirement. Then an injury to Helge Bestrom brought him to the Hawks, and he proceeded to play in old-time form. Boucher is the oldest player in the National League, but he seemingly can go on indefinitely. They don't make them any better than the hard-bitten veteran from Ottawa.

"Art Ross will commence the rebuilding of the Bruins immediately. He knows that several of his players lack major league ability, and he aims to dispose of those who have failed. Ross knows his hockey, and he will be back next year with a team worthy of the support of the loyal Boston fans."

"TUNNEY'S STORY"

Gene Tunney has concluded the story of his life. He has handled the long count episode deftly, placing the onus on the late Leo Flynn, Dempsey and others. In literature he is a prolix puncher who constantly keeps up his guard. His story is, however, a most interesting one. One gets the idea that he considers himself the greatest fighter that ever lived. His attitude to Dempsey carries the correct sporting angle of being generous to a defeated foe. He deplores short bouts for heavyweight titles, disdains the whole business which he writes of with ill concealed contempt.

While the long count on he did a lot of thinking. To judge from his explanation he thought fully a minute's worth of time away. He exonerates Barry whom he declared was the last man he wanted in the ring. Still he is plausible in piling up his storytelling points. The narrative skillfully disposes of many arguments at issue subsequent to the clamor that followed the bout. He asserts Dempsey refused a third fight though he was willing to go through with one.

Tunney, it is assumed, didn't have many admirers in sport, and his story won't add to his friendships; but it is a courageous yarn, and a considerable contribution to fistie lore. There will be many minds to dissent with his conclusions. His facts will be impugned. The dead debates of almost forgotten controversies will be stirred. There is merit to the work when one overlooks the sometimes stilted style, the pedantic posing, and the obvious straining for effect. Otherwise a readable tale.

CHICAGO 1 TORONTO 0

CHICAGO, March 27. (A.P.)—A fraction of a second relaxed vigilance by goalie Lorne Chabot on a long, apparently hopeless shot by Jerry Lowery, gave the Chicago Black Hawks a 1-0 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in the first game of their Stanley Cup play off series.

Early in the final period, when the Hawks appeared to be sagging badly under the bruising rushes of the Leafs, Lowery, winger of the Chicago kid line, lifted one almost from mid-ice. It flopped lazily down in front of Chabot, and bounced between the Leaf goalie's skates for the only score of the match.

Mr. Kemp had previously submitted a proposition, on request of some power users here, for the cost of installing a generating plant for this purpose, to be purchased and operated co-operatively by the power users. Mr. R. E. Mutch presided at the meeting, which was representative of the power users of the city.

had a long conference Friday with Lord Willingdon, Viceroy of India after which she hurried to Benares for a talk with Pandit Malidan Mohan Malaviya who is an influential Nationalist leader. These conversations, it was believed, were intended to pave the way for resumption of a policy of co-operation and conciliation between the Government and Nationalists. It was said, Pandit Malaviya would come from Benares immediately to resume the discussion with Lord Willingdon.

It was also regarded as significant that the Rev. Charles F. Andrews, Gandhi's biographer, had cancelled a trip to China so that he might try to bring the Mahatma and the Viceroy together if possible.

Representatives of both sides contend that restoration of harmony must precede the formulation of a constitution for India.

BANDIT MAKES

which he had filled with ammunition, guns and food. The car was operated by game warden Warren Cameron who was held up by Bagley and Fawcett between New Westminster and Vancouver. While Bagley stood guard over Cameron in the bush near Burnaby, Fawcett proceeded to Vancouver where he loaded the car with four hundred rounds of ammunition, a revolver, automatic pistol, rifle, nitro-glycerine "soup" such as used in safe breaking, and a brace and bit.

British Columbia police and officers from Vancouver, Westminster and Burnaby, and other forces in adjoining municipalities are combing the lower mainland for the wanted man.

About 11 o'clock last night Bagley, who had appropriated Cameron's provincial police badge, walked into a store in North Burnaby and asked to be driven a distance along the highway. His intention apparently was to entice the driver, R. Chesney, into the bush and after binding him, take the car. The ruse failed, however, when Chesney refused to enter the bush. Bagley then asked to be driven back to Vancouver. In the meantime Harry Royal who was at the store when Bagley arrived, became suspicious and telephoned to police headquarters. Detective Maxwell went to the scene. With Royal, Maxwell picked up the trail of Chesney and Bagley, and finally forced their car to the curb. Jumping out Bagley ran to the police car, ordering Royal and Maxwell out. Royal made a dash for cover. Bagley fired but missed and turned back to the car in which he had been riding with Chesney. Maxwell followed him but Bagley turned and emptied his gun at the officer, four bullets taking effect, three in his chest and one in the abdomen. Bagley then ordered Chesney to drive him away and when the latter refused the bandit again pulled the trigger but the gun was empty. Bagley then jumped in Royal's car and fled. Maxwell fired after the fleeing car, hitting it four times, but was unable to say whether any of the shots had touched Bagley.

When Bagley escaped from Oakalla he was awaiting an appeal of his conviction of 14 years and 15 lashes for participation in the Harrison Hot Springs Hotel holdup in April last year. Since his escape he had been sought unsuccessfully in all parts of British Columbia and the State of Washington. Fawcett had been sentenced to serve three years for complicity in an attempted holdup of a branch of the Bank of Montreal here last fall. The other three convicts who escaped in the jail break, Frank Moore, William Lane and Norman Sore, were all picked up within a week of their escape.

CANADIENS SUCCESSFUL NATIONALS 3 AGAIN LOSE WHEELERS 1

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, N. Y., March 27.—(By W. R. Wheatley, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—New York Rangers out-lasted Canadiens of Montreal in the third game of their play-off series tonight and the weakened Montrealers were shut out by Ott Heller's single handed goal in the second period.

The Rangers went one up on the world champions in the play-off for the National Hockey League and for continuance in the play-downs for the Stanley Cup. The New Yorkers now hold two games to Canadiens one, and need win only on Tuesday night to take the series and title. Should a fifth game be necessary it will be played here Thursday night.

Two hockey-weary and train-fagged teams fought it out in this third and all-important game of the series. Canadiens, weakened by injuries, failed to show much of their dashing attack tonight, with George Hainsworth in goal saving them from a worse defeat. The Canadian goalie was called on for 35 saves as against 24 for John Ross Roach, most of whose trying moments were not fraught with goal possibilities that concerned Hainsworth. Without the services of Aurel Jijlat, brilliant little left winger, who is nursing an injured leg, and losing Pit Lepine in the third period for the rest of the series, Canadiens found themselves hard pressed throughout. It was announced soon after Lepine was carried from the ice that he suffered a broken ankle.

QUIET EASTER

Perhaps half of Dublin's half-million population lined the streets to see the marchers. They watched in a silence that was interrupted only by a few scattered cheers. At the gravesides, the Last Post was blown, the Republican constitution of 1916 was read and Moss Towney said:

"There is no question of honor since the treaty was signed under the force of a threat of war."

He referred to the Anglo-Irish Treaty of 1921, which ended the strife between Ireland and Great Britain and set up the Irish Free State.

"The treaty must go, lock, stock and barrel," he shouted. "The need for the Irish Republican army will exist while Ireland is held in the shackles of the British Empire."

After the speech the parade marched back to the tune of "The Double Eagle," and dispersed.

Arbor Hill prison cemetery was opened to the public for the first time today. While warm Easter sunshine sparkled through the gray, grim prison yard many saw the graves of their relatives and friends for the first time.

The Republican army issued a statement, which was read at celebrations throughout the country. "The need for the Irish Republican army will exist as long as Ireland is held forcibly within the British Empire and the shackles of the so-called treaty remain upon the country," the statement said. "This treaty was imposed by force. It is unnatural and immoral. To undo it absolutely is our duty."

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Mar. 27.—(A.P.)—Bodies of armed police kept peace throughout Northern Ireland, where many republican demonstrations were held today in commemoration of Dublin's Easter Rebellion of 1916.

"Owing to the presence of armed soldiers of England, there will be no oration here today," said Malaichi Quinn, noted Ulster Republican, to 30 persons who assembled in St. Mary's graveyard at Newry, County Down.

All roads leading to Newry were patrolled by armed police. A large force of the police also assembled at the cross in the centre of the cemetery. At the foot of the cross Mr. Quinn placed a wreath in memory of those who fell in the 1916 uprising and read their names.

The crowd knelt and recited the Rosary. The ceremony lasted a bare ten minutes.

The police from midnight on throughout the day occupied the cemetery in the city of Londonderry, where a number of Republicans are buried. Five hundred Republicans gathered, however, at the rear of a Catholic Church. There a Republican Leader spoke and prayers were said for the dead. As soon as the ceremony was over a strong contingent of police marched up and remained on duty for several hours.

A crowd of 1,000 gathered outside Milltown, Belfast's great Catholic cemetery. Its gates were locked and guarded by the police. The crowd knelt in the roadway fiscal years. It is impossible in all cases to give volume, but the values themselves indicate the trend. In 1929-30 the export of animal products to Great Britain was valued at $38,486,000, in 1930-31 it was $39,015,000 and in 1931-32, ending with February, it rose again to $30,231,000.

"Prices have fallen but volume has increased. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics states that the index figure of values of these products in the first eleven months of 1929-30 was 109.1, in 1930-31 it was 94.8, and in 1931-32 it had dropped to 69.1. Put in another way the drop in prices of animal products in two years has been 37 per cent.

"On the 1929-30 values therefore, says the Bureau, the export of animal products to Great Britain would be: 1929-30, $38,486,000; 1930-31, $32,874,000; 1931-32, $41,312,000. The volume of our eleven-month export of 1931-32 was 9 per cent greater than in 1929-30, and 25 per cent greater than in 1930.

"The progress we have made in our export of animal products to Great Britain is well illustrated by the following comparisons. In the eleven month period of 1929-30 we sent no cattle there, but in 1931-32 we shipped 26,325, valued at $2,137,743. That was clear and definite pioneer work in the direction of assisting the farmer. We increased our fish sales from $3,916,000 to $5,293,000 despite the lower values, leather uppers for boots from $791,000 to $1,225,028, butter from 800 pounds to 8,652,000 pounds, condensed milk from 6,546,000 pounds to 7,431,000, lard and lard compound from 1,168,200 to 4,915,000, honey from 1,194,000 pounds to 1,877,000, and so on. We found that no fresh beef was sent to the United Kingdom in 1929-30, and we sent 478,100 pounds in 1931-32, which was more pioneering. Fresh pork we increased from 3,000 pounds to 603,400 pounds."

Although handicapped by the absence of Charlie Delaney crafty front line performer ill here with influenza, Wheelers appeared to have an edge in this play during the first two periods; but penalties in the final chukker proved costly and Nationals ran in their three tallies.

Uninteresting and ragged play marked the scoreless first period. In the second period Neville tallied M. A. A.'s lone goal when he sailed up centre ice, faked a pass to his wing and drifted through to pick a corner of the net. It was the best play of the night.

Collins took McMullen's pass inside the blue line and whistled a shot into the Wheelers' cage to start the Nationals on their last period winning streak. With two Montrealers and one Toronto player on the penalty bench, Hearne scored Toronto's second goal when McMullen again assisting, McMullen got the final tally for Toronto when he let a hard drive go from inside the defence area.

and Elmore counties in central Alabama.

Bill Smith, editor of the Chilton County News, told the Associated Press this afternoon that the tornado at Pleasant Grove came near catching hundreds of sightseers and that many abandoned their automobiles to seek safety in ditches beside the highway.

HENDERSON, Tex., Mar. 27.—Eight persons were injured and a score of shacks were demolished by a tornado which today struck Belmon City, east Texas oil field town. Ambulances were hurried to the scene immediately and brought the injured ten miles to Henderson. Hospital attendants said none were in a serious condition.

A number of oil derricks were blown down, and the Christmas tree on one well was broken off permitting the well to run wild near a highway.

Anxiety was felt here for the safety of scores of fishermen known to be in the vicinity of the tornado in Elmore County.

The first check up by the Alabama Power Company from its Jordan dam plant showed the tornado struck several fishing camps above the dam and dipped into Jordan Lake where a geyser-like spray of water spouted into the air and showered over an area about 100 yards square.

Red Cross central headquarters, which had been established at Birmingham for relief work in Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia as the result of last week's storms, sought to get in touch with workers in the field and obtain data on the extent of today's damage.

H. T. Johnson, of Gorgas, 8 miles from Cordova, reported hailstones of size of baseballs fell over a three mile area and literally covered the ground. Cordova is in the north-western section of Alabama.

TORONTO, Ont., March 27.—(By The Canadian Press)—Toronto's highly rated National Sea Fleas marched a step further along the trail leading to the Allan Cup at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night when they soundly thrashed Montreal Winged Wheelers, senior monarchs of Quebec, a 2-1 reverse in the first of a two game total goal series. Nationals will carry their two-goal lead into the second game of the Eastern Canadian senior final billed for the Montreal Forum Wednesday. The ultimate winner will meet Port William western winners for the Dominion championship.

Three fast goals in a dashing third period rally gave Nationals their triumph over Wheelers and established their favorite to capture the rosend.

Although handicapped by the absence of Charlie Delaney crafty front line performer ill here with influenza, Wheelers appeared to have an edge in this play during the first two periods; but penalties in the final chukker proved costly and Nationals ran in their three tallies.
