THE KIDDIES WERE REMEMBERED IN HALIFAX AS NEVER BEFORE

HALIFAX, December 26.—Christmas day, 1917, will stand out in the history of Halifax as a day of unparalleled giving and service. Never was there such an opportunity for the exercise of the Santa Claus spirit and never was opportunity more effectively and generously taken advantage of. The organization of "Santa Clause Limited" made it possible to reach every hospital and shelter and various societies co-operated heartily in the work. There were well filled Christmas trees at both the hospital and the shelter. The "College hospital and the shelters were not forgotten for there were also trees at St. Mary's Hall, K. of C. hall, Acadian hotel, Victoria hotel, Grafton street, Methodist school room, St. Paul's hall, the Dwyer home and other places where the homeless and homeless were destroyed on December 6th are being sheltered.

- 1000 Probably the most pathetic sights were witnessed at St. Mary's college hospital, where there are a considerable number of sightless children. When the water, secured to enter joyfully into the spirit of the day and there were kind hands ready to minister to their every need and desire. At some of the shelters there was much merriment among the little folk. Added to the attractions of the tree were games, music, songs and the children will never forget the first Christmas after the great explosion.
- 1000 The relief committee, in its supplies of food to those who are living outside of the shelters but who are entitled to their share of the relief, provided a generous Christmas fare which was distributed on Monday.
- 1000 In addition to the tree at the Acadian hall a commercial traveller from Truro was detected unostentatiously slipping crisp bank notes into the hands of some of the older people. When "caught in the act" he said that it was not his generosity that made the gifts possible but of a group of people in Truro. "This has been the saddest and yet the happiest Christmas I ever spent," said the Truro man and he told of his visit among a number of groups of the homeless kiddies.
