

TALCUM DAYS

Warm weather brings need of a pure talcum powder, a powder that won't streak or dissolve in perspiration, that prevents chafing, that is perfect for all toilet purposes. We recommend one of the following.

- Nyala Red Rose, Wintys Rose, Violet or Lilac, Rigauda Lilac or Mary Garden, Jergens Rose or Violet, Sashy Lotus or Luxury, Jess Trailing Arbutus, Colgate nine kinds, Phoebe Snow Bouquet, Nyala Mayflower, Royal Rose, Ojer Kiss, Nyala Nyaletis, Euthymol.

All these talcs are reliable and list includes a large variety of delicate odors.

COAL, THINK IT OVER!

The schooner E. Marie Brown is now due from New York with a cargo of 625 tons anthracite coal in stone and chestnut sizes. She will be followed by the Nineta M. Porcella, with 825 tons, and we have closed another schooner of 1,000 tons to load latter part of this month.

This coal is all of highest American grade, and will be sold at lowest possible prices while discharging. Parties requiring anthracite coal cannot do better than book their orders and take delivery now, as prices will advance later on.

We have also a stock of good soft coal on hand, and to arrive, suitable for domestic and steam purposes. There is a cold winter ahead, so in order to be prepared for it, we would suggest putting in your coal early, as owing to present conditions one cannot tell about the coal supply later on.

FOX NOTES

The Security Silver Black Foxes Limited, Summerside report splendid sales of stock in their Company. The larger sales are being made in the Maritime Provinces, Quebec, and the United States. This Company has already taken delivery of a number of pairs of foxes for their Company, and expect to take delivery of additional pairs in the very near future.

There is marked activity in the Fox Industry throughout Prince County. The improved war conditions and prospects of an early peace is awakening to many the excellent future prospects for making money in the Fox Industry.

The British American Silver Black Fox Company Limited, Summerside, has recently sold fifteen pairs of foxes. This will place the Company in an excellent position to pay a good dividend this year.

The Security Fox Company, Summerside, received in one day's mail recently applications for 695 shares in the Company. Not too bad for war times. The Company reports sales exceeding their anticipations, which goes to prove that the public is not slow to appreciate a good proposition.

Joints Quit Aching Soreness Beats it Away

NO MORE STIFFNESS, PAIN OR MISERY IN YOUR BACK OR SIDE OR LIMBS!

Wonderful "Nerviline" is the Remedy

A marvelous pain reliever. Not an ordinary liniment—just a few times more powerful, more penetrating, more pain-subduing than any thick, oily or ammonia liniment. Nerviline fairly cuts up the pain and stiffness in chronic rheumatic joints, gives quick relief to those throbbing pains, and never burns or even stains the skin.

"Rheumatism kept my joints swollen and sore for ten years. My right knee joint was often too painful to allow me to walk. I was in a crippled, tortured condition I found Nerviline a blessing. Its warm, soothing action brought relief I had given up hoping for. I rubbed on quantities of Nerviline and improved steadily. I also took Ferrazole at mealtime in order to purify and enrich my blood. I am to day well and can recommend my treatment most conscientiously. (Signed) C. PARKS, Prince Albert.

Not an ache or pain in the muscles or joints that Nerviline won't cure. It's wonderful for lumbago and sciatica, for neuralgia, stiff neck, earache and toothache. Nerviline is simply a wonder. Best family liniment known and largely used for the past forty years. Sold by dealers everywhere, large family size bottle 50c., a small trial size 25c. Refuse a substitute, take only "Nerviline."

THE FRENCH "75"

The wonderful "75" gun of the French is described by a military writer as "the most perfect," most daintily-conceived engine of human slaughter which the mind of man has devised, which blows great holes in the scenery, and is a veritable hose of death. Technically, the "75" is a piece of French artillery of which the caliber—the interior diameter of the bore—is 75 millimeters, or approximately three inches. In its extraordinary rapidity of fire, loading and automatic deterring action and maintenance of range lies the secret of the French "75."

Prior to the invention of this gun the rapidity of fire depended on the skill of the gun-layer, who had to relay the weapon after each shot, owing to the movement caused by the recoil. By an invention of the French gunners, however, the recoil is absorbed by a buffer to which the gun is attached. Furthermore, the buffer not only absorbs the shock of the recoil, but runs back the gun so exactly into its former position that no second laying in order to find the range is necessary.

Further improvements were carried out in regard to the fuses of the shells, which on ordinary circumstances could only be fired as rapidly as the gunners could adjust the fuses. The French overcame this difficulty by inventing a machine to set the fuse, the details of which are still a secret. The latter cannot be discovered even when a "75" does fall into the enemy's hands, since the opening of the fuse which controls the recoil of the gun caused the escape of compressed air. The secret lies in the exact combination of this compressed air and glycerine, which controls the fuse-setting device.

With the speed of fire, 30 shells to the minute, the "75" resembles a machine gun rather than a field piece in action. So precise is the adjustment of the recoil that a coin, or even a glass of water, can be placed on the wheel while in action without being jarred off. Another great advantage of the "75" is that it stands far more wear and tear than the average big gun, whose life is very short. After firing as many as 30,000 shells the "75" is capable of sending a few more, while its capacity for work may be gathered from the fact that there have been "75's" in this war that have fired 1,000 rounds in a single day.

DEVIL'S WOOD.

The history of the two weeks' fight for Deville Wood, on the Somme front is one of the most wonderful things for sheer stubborn courage that has been done in all this great battle, writes the correspondent of the London Chronicle.

That evil position has earned the nickname of Devil's Wood from the soldiers who have been through it and out of it.

An officer recently remarked: "I wish to goodness we could wipe the place off the map, or burn it off. A good forest fire there would cleanse the ground of this filthy wreckage of trees, which has been the death trap to so many good fellows."

It is a queer thing that so many trees are still standing and that it still looks like a wood. In spite of all the trees that have been cut down by the shells, the foliage still looks dense at a distance and hides all horror underneath.

Our batteries over an area of several miles, from the long-range "heavies" to the 18-pounders, flung every size shell into Devil's Wood and filled it with high explosives and shrapnel so that one great volume of smoke rose from it and covered it in a dense black pall.

They had no more cover than our own men who held the wood when it was the turn of the enemy's artillery. "Devil's Wood," said one of the men, "is easily the worst place on earth. As far as I can guess, it's just crowded with corpses, and to stay there is to join their company. The only cover one can get is to crawl under a log and hope for the best, or crawl into a shell hole and expect the worst, which generally arrives."

BONNIE ELLERSLIE. Someone has suggested that the author of the following must have been aware of E llerslie in Prince County. At any rate it looks—bonnie now:

She's gentle as the zephyr. That sips of every sweet, She's fairer than the fairest lily. In nature's soft retreat. Her eyes are like the crystal brook. As bright and clear to see. Her lips outshine the scarlet flower Of bonnie Ellerslie.

Oh, were my love a blossom. When summer skies depart, I'd plant her in my bosom. Her garden near my heart. And oft I'd kiss her balmy lips. So beautiful to see. That far outshine the scarlet flower Of bonnie Ellerslie.

Might I be King of Scotland's throne, And 'at the world bequear, Right glad I'd give my crown to her, That lovely maid, my bride. The gate of heaven is at her lip. Denied, alas, to me. That lip which shames the scarlet flower Of bonnie Ellerslie. —W.
