The time to stop Eye Trouble
Is in childhood. Bring the children to us. There may be bad tendencies—inheritance weaknesses. If there's anything wrong, right glasses will correct it. Worn in time, it is often unnecessary to use them long. Careful examination may save your child years of discomfort.

No matter HOW YOUNG OR HOW OLD YOUR BUSINESS may be, the demand today is that everything be done in an up-to-date manner. Therefore a Smith Premier is essential, as it stands at the head of the Typewriter industry. Consider the matter carefully. Some bargains in second hand typewriters of all makes.

Viscount Kitchener's new peerage is granted with a very unusual remainder. It goes first to his male children, next to his female children, and in default of both to his two brothers in succession.

The corner-stone of the new Campanile will be laid April 22, 1903, and the Venetian authorities are projecting such ceremony for the occasion. At present the courtyard of the Doge's palace is entirely occupied by fragments of statues and bas-reliefs saved from the ruins. Some of them will be employed in rebuilding the Campanile, while the others are destined for a museum. The subscriptions from all sources so far aggregate $295,000. The restoration will cost $500,000.

The new civilization of the plains is pictured by a recent incident ten miles from a Kansas town. A farmer, riding under an awning on a sulky plow, met at the end of his furrow, the rural mail wagon. The driver tossed the farmer a bundle of mail, and as the team took up its steady course back across the half-mile field, the farmer unfolded the daily paper, printed that morning two hundred miles away, and read the happenings in China and the news of the political campaign.

An energetic statistician contributes the following table showing what President Roosevelt has done since his vacation commenced at Oyster Bay on July 5: Miles walked, 125; miles ridden, 200; miles rowed, 35; hours given to sleep, 393; hours devoted to official business, 89; hours devoted to semi-official business, 40; number of callers, 595; times he has shaken hands, 770; entertainments, 5; special dinners, 20; special luncheons, 12; speeches, 6; trees cut down, 8; cords of wood cut, 4; shooting at target, 8; sets of tennis played, 30; sets beaten, 14; days at Sagamore Hill, 45; wrestling matches with children, 8; times beaten, 1; and cigars smoked, 47.

Germany is reported to publish about 25,000 books in a year. Great Britain is credited with between 6,000 and 7,000 a year, of which about 1,500 are new editions. France turns out 13,000 new books and Italy 9,500 in the same time. The year's total new books is 70,000. Many of the modern books, the London "Express" reminds us, are written for the moment only. "They are merely enlarged magazine articles. If there is a revolution or a big disaster, or a war, the men on the spot promptly rush out a volume apiece. Of course, these works do not last; but they pay at the time. Not 10 per cent. of one year's books continue to sell or to be remembered a twelvemonth later."

Charles Fere calls attention in the "Revue de Medecine" to the fact that the skin possesses a certain odor, which varies according to the individual, the age and the race. Says the "Medical Century" in an abstract of Fere's paper: "The nervous system seems to exert much influence over the odor of the cutaneous secretions. Hammond cites the case of a woman who always gave out an odor of pineapple when she was in a temper, and another who smelt of violets when suffering from an hysterical attack. The special point to which the writer desires to call attention is that certain odors are inherited, or may even extend to side branches of the same family. Dogs are always able to recognize this odor even when it is so subtle as to escape the observation of man."

Two German aeronauts, Doctor Miethe and Lieutenant Hildebrandt, recently had a remarkable experience in the heart of a thunderstorm. They ascended from Tegel at three o'clock in the afternoon, and, passing through a mist, came suddenly into a thunder-cloud. From a height of 650 feet the balloon was shot a mile upwards, and then as suddenly it dropped half a mile. They made the curious statement that, although they did not see the lightning, they were deafened by the thunder, while pelted with rain, hail and sleet. The balloon leaped and plunged so swiftly that at times the car was on a level with the gas-bag, and the tow-rope was above their heads. After about half an hour of this experience the balloon fell from a height of 7,200 feet, descending upon a thick wood of beeches, branches of which broke the fall and saved the lives of the adventurers.

With Confidence we Direct You To The Never-Failing Health-Building Paine's Celery Compound

Quickly Elevates the Constitutional Condition of all Run-down and Sick People.

In the winter season when many people, especially women and children, are confined to close and stuffy apartments which lack proper ventilating facilities, the blood becomes watery, pale, sluggish and impure; the nervous system is impaired; the brain is tired, insomnia begins its terrible work, and a general collapse of the whole system ensues.

Our object at this time is to suggest the true means of succor and help for pale, languid, nervous, irritable and weakened women and children. Thousands of such nerveless and frail victims will soon be out down if help is delayed, and time lost. Paine's Celery Compound is the "life-line"—the sure and tried rescuer that saves and blesses when all other means fail. Paine's Celery Compound is doing the same Heaven blessed work to-day for sufferers that it has so well done in the past. It quickly furnishes the new, pure and fresh blood which is the foundation of true health; it promotes cell-growth, builds up flesh, bone and tissue, and elevates the constitutional condition of every sick person, and defends them from germ and bacterial dangers. Try Paine's Celery Compound, dear reader, and your efforts will be fully and happily rewarded.

Here's a late story about Christian Science. A Boston mother said to her little daughter: "If you had my faith, darling, you would have no toothache." The child replied: "Well, mother, if you had my toothache, you wouldn't have any faith."

When Major-General Samuel B. M. Young, a United States army officer, was presented to the Kaiser during a recent visit to Germany, Emperor William asked him if he had ever visited that country before. "Not this part," General Young is said to have replied. The Emperor then enquired what parts he had visited, whereupon General Young said: "I have visited St. Louis, Cincinnati and Milwaukee." The Emperor roared with laughter, and took General Young to the Emperor, to whom he repeated the witticism.

Not long ago United States Senator William P. Frye of Maine was summoned to prepare a will for a man who was very ill. It was necessary, of course, to secure two witnesses, and they had to be sent for. While awaiting their arrival, the invalid seemed to get worse, and Senator Frye thought it his duty, no minister being present, to talk seriously to him. He told him that he was very ill, and that it was likely he would soon depart this life. "And are you ready to meet this great change?" Frye asked him. "I will be," was the reply, "as soon as the old doctor—my witness gets here."

The old story of the man who saw on the rail of the organ gallery in a little Western church a placard bearing the words, "Don't shoot the organist." He is doing the best he can," has lately been matched by another somewhat like it. A man recently returned from a mining region where, one Sunday, he attended a service in the only church for miles around. As he entered, the strains of an organ, apparently in great distress, reached his ears, and when he was seated he looked up to discover who the player was. On the back of the parlor organ which stood on the platform was a neatly lettered square of pasteboard which read, "Come up and try it yourself!"

Perhaps the best anecdote of Horace Greeley is that relating to Greeley's comment upon himself for a blunder he had made in an editorial by writing the word "Cattaraugus" when it should have been "Chautauqua." When the editorial appeared Greeley went up into the editorial room in a great rage and called out, "Who put that Cattaraugus?" The printers all gathered around him, amused at his anger, until one of them, pushed down from the hook the original editorial, showed him the word "Cattaraugus" just as he had written it. When Greeley saw the situation he assumed an air of the greatest meekness and drawled out: "Will someone please kick me down those stairs?"

When you are with the scientists do as the scientists do, namely, repress ordinary emotions, if you are making a discovery or confirming a known fact. The experience may not always be agreeable. Witness the plight of a guest at a dinner given by a child-study specialist, whose note-book is always ready for use. Dissatisfied with a hot, buttered biscuit, a young child threw the despised article across the table, and hit the visitor. The father and mother took no notice of the incident, and naturally, the guest imitated their example. A second biscuit followed, and the guest was struck on the chin. He was about to make a remark, but the mother warned him to be quiet. "Sh-sh-sh!" she exclaimed. "The professor is observing him."

A lady's coachman—a crusty old fellow who had been in the service of the family in her father's time—gave her great trouble and annoyance on several occasions by not carrying out her instructions. At length his conduct became unbearable, and she determined to dismiss him. Calling him into her presence, she said with as much asperity as she could command: "I cannot stand this any longer, John. You must look out for another situation. You will leave my service at the end of the month." The old servant looked at her in amusement for a minute, and then the characteristic "loyalty" came to the surface. "No, my lady," he said, "I drove you to the kirk to be baptized. I drove you to your marriage, and I'll stay to drive you to your funeral!"

Frederick of Prussia was an inveterate snuff-taker. There seems to have been some bad feeling between him and Count Schwerin. His Majesty presented the Count with a snuff-box, on the inside of which was painted a donkey's head. Next day the Count produced the box at dinner and showed it to the Duchess of Brunswick. "What an excellent portrait of his Majesty!" remarked the Duchess. The King looked somewhat annoyed. "Is it not a fine portrait?" said the lady, handing it to her neighbor. "Most excellent," was the reply, and the box began to travel round the table, when the King ordered it to be handed to him. He found that the wily Count had had the donkey's head removed, and a portrait of himself substituted, in order that he might teach the King a lesson.

THE EDITOR'S MAIL—A FEW QUESTIONS.

Sir,—I would like to ask the editor of The Patriot who are the opponents of the D. P. Company, to whom he refers as using the name of the Armour Company to raise the scare cry of monopolist, trusts, &c.

Does he refer to his own original glowing announcement (which heralded the dawn of the Golden Era—when the edict should go forth—"Let there be hogs and there would be hogs") wherein he made a statement to the effect that a large American concern were interested in the Company? Does he refer to N. Rattenbury's statement at the Board of Trade meeting "that Mr. Wiley gave him to understand that the Armours were behind it," or does he refer to Mr. Wiley's own statements when it suited his purposes, insinuating that Armours were behind it?

I know of no opponents of the D. P. Company as a business concern, but I do know that ninety per cent. of the farmers of this Island are opposed to the Government's action in guaranteeing the bonds of the millionaires (D) Company, and I think had the Premier not (foolish virginitic) at the two nights he had the matter under consideration he would never have been led into an agreement that is going to take him many wakeful nights to make the country believe in his best interests, even with the assistance of the Editor of The Patriot, who is lavishing his talents so freely on the D. P. Co., at the expense of his own dear Island home.

Your Truly,
FARMER.

IT CURES CATARRH.
The Ozonated Air Cure, Catarrh-ozone, is a sure cure that is sold under guarantee. Money back if it fails.

Catarrh-ozone relieves even the most distressing symptoms of catarrh in short time. It can be used right at home or even at work, without making it necessary for the patient to seek a warm climate or run up long doctor's bills.

Headache, hawking, drooping in the throat, and general weakness, the blood is purified and strengthened by an additional supply of oxygen which comes from the use of Catarrh-ozone.

Catarrh can be driven so completely from the system by breathing Catarrh-ozone that it never returns. Kindred diseases such as bronchitis, asthma, impaired hearing and winter hoarseness are also very successfully treated by Catarrh-ozone. Permanent cures are always effected.

Mrs. M. J. Whitney, Clay St. Topeka, was cured of Nasal Catarrh of the most disagreeable kind by Catarrh-ozone. She had suffered for twenty years and says, "I owe Catarrh-ozone an immense debt of gratitude. It cured me of the most disagreeable Catarrh after many doctors had pronounced my case incurable. I do not cough any more. My breath is sweet, and my regular since using Catarrh-ozone."

Mrs. James Tweedle of Jay Bridge says: "For years my daughter doctor for Catarrh. She had drooping in the throat, hawking, coughs and could not sleep at night. The first day's use of Catarrh-ozone benefited, and it cured so the Catarrh never returned."

Catarrh-ozone will cure any case not beyond the reach of medicine, and is deserving of a trial from every sufferer in distress. The first day's use of Catarrh-ozone will cost you one dollar. Sample size 25 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail from N. C. Polson & Co. Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

EIS OWN FREE WILL.
Dear Sirs,—I cannot speak too strongly of the excellence of MINARD'S LINIMENT. It is THE remedy in my household for burns, sprains, etc., and we would not be without it. It is truly a wonderful medicine.

Publisher Arnprior Chronicle.

Back of the Cough

There's more to a cough than the tickling sensation in the throat. There's a cold behind that and a weak spot to be strengthened.

Cough mixtures get as far as the tickling sensation in the throat; that is where their work stops. They may relieve the cough, but they do not cure the cold and certainly will not build up the system. Their action is therefore merely local and of necessity very limited.

Scott's Emulsion does not stop at the throat. It eases that too, but its mission is beyond that. It not only cures the cough, but it cures the cold which is back of the cough. It searches out the real cause of the trouble and corrects the wasting and weakening conditions. In its passage through the body it distributes strength to the worn out tissues, feeds the blood corpuscles and tones up the body. There is nothing better than Scott's Emulsion to build up a run down system after a cold.

We will send a sample free to anyone on request.
