IMPREGNABLE BRITAIN There has been no successful invasion of Britain since 1066; no civil war since 1660.

CAUSE CHEST ILLS Tight lacing and rickets, which cause alteration in the form of the chest, often cause chest diseases.

Ignoring flames that levelled his four-room Winnipeg, Man., home, Michael Scherba, 17, carried his invalid mother, three sisters and two brothers to safety through a window, saving everyone but himself from burns. A spark from a gasoline motor had ignited leaking gas beside the only door of the small frame dwelling, blocking exit from the house. Michael is shown above with his two-year-old sister Nettie.

CLYDE RIVER MISSION BAND MEETING

The regular meeting of the Clyde River Presbyterian Mission Band met in the vestry of the church on Sat. afternoon Feb. 22nd with the president presiding. The devotional period opened by singing "Stand Up for Jesus" followed by prayer by Bernice Gass. Scripture reading was read by Shirley MacKinnon from the 100th psalm hymn "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling" was then sung. Responsive reading was taken from John 14th. chapter.

The business period followed by the minutes of the last meeting was read and approved. Sixteen members answered the roll call by repeating a verse of Scripture. One new member was added. The offering was then received by Keith MacKinnon amounting to $4c. A good collection of cards were received for the scrap book.

Programme was as follows: Reading and stories were given by Billie MacKenzie, Alex MacPhee, Bhal Gillispie, Joan Murray, Shirley & Velma MacKinnon, Betty MacLean, Bernice Gass and Thelma Willis. The Missionary story was given by Mrs. J. Gillispie. The meeting closed by singing "shall we gather at the river" and the Mission Benediction repeated in union. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Gillispie. Lunch was then served by the committee in charge.

SAYS IT'S ALL BIG MISTAKE ABOUT BEAUTY SALON GOSSIP

Ever since a man in the business told women beauty-salon operators that women customers were tired of gossip in beauty salons and that the gossiping must go, I have been doing a little unofficial investigating, remarks a woman columnist.

Now I want to know—what gossip?

It looks as if the idea that women gossip in beauty salons is one of those notions without foundation, like the ones that women are naturally poor drivers, can't keep a check-book straight, go through their husbands' pockets at night, are likely to be waiting up with a rolling pin when a man comes in late from a poker game, etc.

I've yet to hear a juicy bit of gossip in a beauty salon—either from an operator or from women in adjoining booths.

Sure, the women talk. But it's small talk—not gossip. They talk about their kids, their household problems, their shopping experiences, the condition of their scalps, the advantage of one hair-style over another, etc.

That's no more gossip than the talk that goes on in barber shops—such as local business news, sports, politics, etc.

The women talk about their everyday interests, and the men do the same.

But for some reason or other, the fable persists that in any purely feminine gathering women do nothing but gossip about other women.

To a certain extent that is true of bridge parties—but it isn't true of beauty salons. When a woman goes to a beauty salon she is interested in herself—and absorbed in her own problems.
