The Doctor's Private Secretary

The Doctor's Private Secretary given by Mr. Bird on Feb 13 and 14 and a matinee on Saturday to crowded houses, outdid in point of good acting and fine spectacular effects even the entertainments of two previous years, which in themselves were considered exceptionally good, the only regret being that there were not enough seats to accommodate all who desired to attend, a full house for a third night having been quite confidently assured.

The usual question disturbing the public mind as to the amount of money allowed to go out of town, through the division of proceeds is answered more definitely by the fact as shown by bills paid here, that several hundred dollars have been expended by the putting on of the play to the benefit of a large number of stores; offices and workmen and a delightful entertainment afforded the public through the wonderful ability and untiring energy of Mr. Bird, who is acknowledged as a marvel in his profession.

That it is to a certain extent a means of education to our young people is conceded by many, especially from an artistic point of view and to every one the development of so much dramatic talent in the midst of us is a surprise and pleasure.

It is hoped that the great good the "Aid Society" represents will not be lost sight of in important questionings and criticisms regarding the ways and means employed in sustaining so important an enterprise.—Brockville Ont. Record. 2390-11-18-M11

In Memoriam EUGENE E. BANS. On Tuesday there passed away very suddenly at his home in DeGrose Marsh, Eugene E. Bans. He had just eaten his supper and had taken the paper to read when he was called without a moment's notice. Although he had been ailing for nearly two years his death was unexpected at the time and came as a great shock to his wife and many friends. Mr. Bans was a man of sterling character, and had a kind and loving disposition, being liked by all who knew him. He leaves to mourn a sorrowing wife, who had tenderly cared for him through his long illness and she has the sincere sympathy of their many friends in her sad bereavement. May his soul rest in peace. MRS. J. C. BERRIE Very many in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island will hear with regret of the death of Hannah S. L. Berrie, wife of Rev. J. C. Berrie, which occurred Friday afternoon, November 14th, at the residence of Carnation Street, St. John, after an illness of three years. Mrs. Berrie greatly endeared herself to all with whom she became intimate in the various circuits to which her husband was appointed as Methodist minister. She was an active and ardent worker for the W. M. S. and for the mission bands in all districts where Mr. Berrie was minister.

Mrs. Berrie was, formerly, Miss Hannah S. L. MacIntyre, and was born in Kin Lockapelle, Isle of Mull, Scotland on August 28, 1849. The daughter of Rev. Angus MacIntyre, minister of the Established Church of Scotland, a Gaelic scholar of repute and for six years pastor of St. James' church, Charlottetown, and Hannah Bina of Charlottetown (P. E. I.), who was a daughter of Attorney-General Bina of the P. E. I. government of that time. Mrs. Berrie came to Prince Edward Island in 1876 and returned to Scotland in 1876. The following year she returned to Canada and was married to Rev. J. C. Berrie in Halifax in 1876 at the Brunswick Street church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Ralph Brecken, D. D.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Berrie is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. C. Good and one son, J. Charlton Berrie, both of St. John. The second child, a girl, Adrienne, died in infancy, and only other relatives on this side of the Atlantic are in Prince Edward Island, Hon. George E. Hughes is a cousin.—St. John Telegraph.

STEWARD OF THE CHILTERN HUNDREDS. A member of the House of Commons at Westminster is forbidden by law to resign his seat, but if he accepts an office under the crown, his seat becomes legally vacant. York and the demand for livestock for breeding purposes the future of the business seems assured. There are a number of ranches around Amherst and we trust that they will participate in the business now being done elsewhere. We hope to publish an interview with Sheriff Davison on the fox business at a later date.

RANCHER'S VIEWS OF FOX INDUSTRY (Amherst Daily News. Sheriff Davison has returned from Charlottetown, bringing with him a large shipment of pure standard bred P. E. Island black foxes of the best breeding and quality obtainable. These foxes are the foundation stock of the new ranch "Briarwood" recently built by Sheriff Davison, near Rocky Road about a mile from town, and we understand it incorporates most of the most modern and up-to-date methods for housing and caring for foxes as practised in the Island and elsewhere and no pains or money has been spared to make it as good as could be. Sheriff Davison has made many trips to the Island and elsewhere visiting the different fox ranches and has kept in touch with the changes in methods of breeding and feeding and of the markets for the live stock and pelts. He informs us that the fox business as he sees it is in a very healthy and flourishing condition; large numbers of foxes are being sold and shipped weekly and many shipments are for far away points; one car load went to Michigan the other day and another large shipment started for Norway, besides many smaller shipments for various points in the United States and Canada and Japan for years has been a large buyer of live foxes. In addition to this many of the larger ranchers are extending their plants, and a number of large new ranches are being built. The result is that this year's supply of foxes has been about sold out at good figures and the outlook for next year's business seems very bright. A large number of the fox companies are now paying regular dividends and the interest taken in the business generally on the Island reminds one of the fox days before the war. With the present high price for pelts and realizing on the markets of London and New York and the demand for livestock for breeding purposes the future of the business seems assured. There are a number of ranches around Amherst and we trust that they will participate in the business now being done elsewhere. We hope to publish an interview with Sheriff Davison on the fox business at a later date.

ABOUT RHEUMATISM What Thousands Have Found Gives Relief From This Painful Trouble. Rheumatism is a constitutional disease, manifesting itself in local aches and pains, inflamed joints and stiff muscles. It cannot be cured by local or external applications. It must have constitutional treatment. Take a course of the great blood-purifying and tonic medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, which corrects the acid condition of the blood on which rheumatism depends, and gives permanent relief. This medicine combines, with excellent alteratives and tonics, what is generally conceded to be the most effective agent in the treatment of this disease. If a cathartic or laxative is needed take Hood's Pills. Purely vegetable.

England's Dispute About Frame Houses

most districts. The requirements imposed by these by-laws are often absolutely prohibitive of the erection of any wooden houses. But the Ministry of Health has the power to supersede them by general regulations of its own, and it was announced a few days ago that steps are to be taken in this direction. The Ministry declares itself eager to investigate the whole question, and to that end it has accepted the offer of the Agent-General for British Columbia to send over a sample house, which is to be placed on public view, so that its advantages and disadvantages may be impartially weighed. In contrast with this is the offer of William F. Regan, once well known in the mining world, who undertakes to deliver in various English ports 60,000 American wooden houses within one year, at the rate of 5,000 every three weeks, from a given date, at prices ranging from £250 to £750 each. These, he says, will not be disreputable, cast-off, worn-out army huts, but artistic residences, furniture saving, labor saving, warm in winter, cool in summer, and fit for any man to occupy, he be a workman or a capitalist.

Houses Must Be Provided. As the situation is to-day, the question of the comparative merits of the wooden and the brick house is rapidly becoming irrelevant. The wooden house may be cheaper or dearer than the brick house; it may be less durable or more; it may run greater risks of being burned down or it may not; it may or may not be as comfortable as the house in which the Englishman has hitherto been accustomed to live. The great thing is that the wooden house is a house. Every other consideration is nowadays beside the point. It is no longer a question of the ideal place to live in. There are tens of thousands of people in England just now who would jump at the chance of getting a house of any kind or pattern. At the Manchester City Council this week it was declared that if the building of municipal houses proceeded all at the present rate it would be twenty years before the local building scheme was completed. The shortage affects the middle and working classes alike, and it extends all over the country.

MILK AND MUDHOLE GERMS. The farmer who keeps dairy cows has a job on his hands when the cows come up in the evening with their udders covered with mud and filth which they gathered in some stagnant mudhole in the wood lot or the pasture field. A lot of work is saved to the milker if the udders do not require a scrubbing at each milking time, and a lot of disease germs are kept clean. A mudhole filled with stagnant water on which a green scum is swimming is a very bad place to send the cows to seek relief from the wood lot or pasture should be drained or filled, and unless a stream is accessible the cows should be kept on dry land. Let the cows run in the woods during the hottest part of the day if it is at all possible, as it will furnish them shade and a protection from flies. If no shade is accessible, it is a better plan to keep the cows in the barn during the hottest part of the day and then leave them on pasture during the night when it is cool and the flies are asleep. A pasture lot that is not clean and sanitary is not fit to use for dairy cow pasture. Milk is a good food when it can be obtained from a clean cow and kept in a clean place and free from germs and dirt.

Did Not Need Help. A Baptist minister's son was playing cards in his father's study one afternoon, when he heard his father, who was strictly opposed to card playing in any form, enter the house. The boy sought the first thing at hand in which to hide the deck, and the thing happened to be the minister's baptismal robe. The following Sunday the father was conducting a baptism in the lake, and as he raised his arms the cards fell out and floated down the river, first the king of hearts, then the queen, jack, knave and ten. The congregation began to chuckle, and the mother turned to her son and said:

"Jack, speak up, say something to help your father."

"The son looked at his mother and then at the cards. Then he replied: "Mother, dad doesn't need any help from me with a hand like that."
