

FRIDAY MORNING

"IT SAVED MY LIFE"

PRaise FOR A FAMOUS MEDICINE

Mrs. Willadsen Tells How She Tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Just in Time.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham— I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words.

"Before I wrote to you, telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady and spent lots of money on medicines besides, but it all failed to help me. My monthly periods had ceased and I suffered much pain, with fainting spells, headache, backache and bearing-down pains, and I was so weak I could hardly keep around. As a last resort I decided to write you and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful that I did, for after following your instructions, which you sent me free of all charge, I became regular and in perfect health. Had it not been for you I would be in my grave to-day.

"I sincerely trust that this letter may lead every suffering woman in the country to write you for help as I did."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of an organ, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. Refuse all substitutes. For twenty-five years Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, has under her direction, and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge. Address, Lynn, Mass.

PRINCE COUNTY GUARDIAN

Branch Offices in Summerside and Alberton.

The newly elected mayor and councillors were sworn in yesterday morning by Stipendiary Magistrate.

Her many friends will be pleased to learn that Mrs. (Dr.) John E. McDonald is rapidly recovering from injuries received a few days ago.

A special train will leave Summerside at 7 p. m. sharp this evening in connection with the Old Maid's Convention at Kensington. Return fare 25 cents.

Roy Silliphant has leased the store on the corner of Water and Summer streets, Summerside, next to J. H. Locke's grocery, and will open today with a full stock of meats.

Preparations are being made under the direction of a thoroughly competent committee for a grand entertainment to be held in Market Hall, March 8, in aid of the public library. Remember the date.

The little daughter of James V. Higgins, aged two years, met with a serious accident yesterday. The child was left alone in the house while her mother was attending to some duties outside. When she returned in a few minutes, the little one was enveloped in flames, her clothes having caught fire from the kitchen stove. The mother succeeded in smothering the flames, but not before the poor little one's back, neck and arms were fearfully burned. Dr. John McNeill was hastily summoned and all possible was done to relieve the little sufferer. At last accounts last night she was resting easier.

At a large and representative meeting of the Summerside Board of Trade held last night, the following delegates were appointed to attend a convention of delegates from the different boards of trade in the Province: Capt. Joseph Read, Neil McQuarrie and J. A. Brace. The meeting was called in response to a letter from the Charlottetown Board of Trade suggesting that such a convention be held with a view to forming a policy on which all island boards could unite with reference to the transportation service, winter communication and other matters of Provincial importance. The Summerside board suggested holding the convention in Charlottetown at a date as early as possible to be named by the Charlotte town board; that each board in the Province send three delegates and that steps be taken at the convention to organize a Provincial Board of Trade.

A meeting of the Let's 27-28 Institute was held in Sarsfield Hall Feb. 22nd at 2 p. m. Pres. G. W. Cameron occupied the chair, and the Secretary read the minutes of last meeting which were approved. The President stated that the first subject for discussion was: How can we increase the flow of milk from our cows. W. S. Muttart said he had tried winter dairying, but did not consider it paid him. He believed if the cows began milking in the spring and continued about 9 months and were fed plenty of green corn and turnips, also oats and vetches, it would obtain the best results. A. S. Wright thought it depended on the amount of feed the farmer had at his disposal for the production of milk. The President said "we did not know what the winter milk cost. If some of our farmers would keep an account of all the feed consumed, and the receipts for milk, we would be in a better position to talk intelligently on this matter. J. Webster believed that spring was the best time for the cows to begin milking, also that oats fed in the sheaf was better than turnips in cold weather. Lewis Trueman said the main point was to give the cows the green feed before they began to shrink in their milk. He was in favor of mixed grain and green and cured like hay for milk cows. W. Arnett said he had cut and cured some oats and vetches and he believed it was about the best food for milk production. J. Affleck said in his opinion it was impossible to get as much milk in the year by having the cows fresh in the fall; as all could not keep them up during April and May. If they were allowed to shrink then, they would not give a full flow on the grass. He asserted that if cows were given all they will eat morning and evening, they are better without anything at noon; also that lucerne is the best green food for milk. This was an excellent discussion, the several speakers bringing out many points of much interest to all present. The secretary now read a letter from the secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, asking expression of opinion of the Bill now before the House which provides that no working man engaged on a Government contract shall be allowed to work more than eight hours in any one day. W. Arnett moved the following: Resolved that this Institute strongly disapproves of the Bill now before the House, reducing the hours of labor on all Government contracts to eight per day, instead of ten as at present. After a very lively discussion this was passed unanimously. The next topic, how can we improve our present public road system, was spoken to by A. S. Wright, W. Arnett, the Pres., J. Affleck and others, but as it was getting late it was left over to next meeting which will be at Albany on Friday March 1st. J. E. Howatt, Sec.

Summerside's civic machinery is once more in motion and, it is generally believed, under most promising conditions. The new blood added by the recent election is young, fresh, vigorous, progressive, with a stake in the town, in touch with its best interests and each personally concerned with its material prosperity. Citizens have a right to hope for much from the new Town Council. And there is much to be done. Confidence in the Fire Department received a rude shock not many months ago. This confidence has not been restored. Citizens are not satisfied that this one bulwark between the town and destruction has received the attention its importance demands. Indeed they have grave doubts about it. One of the councillors, now ex-councillor Dobson, had the courage to give expression to these doubts at the civic meeting a few nights ago and to tell some wholesome truths which it would have been prudent for citizens to have heeded. Councillor Muttart, still a councillor by virtue of the recently enacted biennial clause took exception to Councillor Dobson's outspokenness and prophesied that he would lose votes on account of it. His prophesy has been fulfilled which shows that a man may be a great prophet though an unreliable town councillor. Every man in the hall that night and the hall was full knew that Councillor Dobson was full of truth and that councillor Muttart prophesied. Councillor Dobson was defeated, and as he retires to private life will doubtless console himself with the reflection that he is not the first man sacrificed for telling the truth. Confidence in the department must be restored, not by vote-winning platitudes, nor by white-washes but, definitely, palpably, unmistakably. Citizens will insist on this and will demand reasonable assurance that it has been accomplished. It is too close to the town's vital to permit of any monkeying. There are other reforms needed. Some of them can wait, this one is imperative and immediate. The adjustment of taxation to suit new conditions, the rescinding of certain by-laws which have proved unsuitable, a shaking up of the police department, are among the duties that the new council is expected to grapple with and citizens have strong faith in its judgment.
