Children's Aid At Summerside

Report of Agent of Children's Aid Society, submitted at annual meeting in Summerside.

To The Children's Aid Society of Prince County, the Board of Trustees, Summerside High School, the Town Council, town of Summerside.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I have the honour to submit my annual report for the year ending November 9, 1937, in connection with my duties as Agent of the Children's Aid Society of Prince County, Truant Officer of the town of Summerside, and Probation Officer of the Juvenile Court of the Town of Summerside.

Existing conditions pertaining to Child Delinquency in the Town of Summerside for the past year may be considered as favourable, although there is room for improvement in this matter, the situation on any one time could not be considered as alarming, and you can rest assured that every precaution is being taken to bring this position to the lowest possible minimum.

Proper parental control and co-operation with members connected in any way with Social Service work is a determining factor in the wiping out of Child Delinquency in a community, as it is the experience of your Agent that in cases where you can depend on one hundred parents co-operating with their children back into the natural sphere of society, you encounter very little if any trouble in cases with circumstances as mentioned.

From time to time complaints are lodged with the proper authorities in relation to boys chasing the streets after school hours, and in general making proper nuisances of themselves, a properly supervised public play ground would eliminate this situation, for no boy with the least bit of spirit in him would leave a game of organized sport in session to go down and chase through alleys and business houses with no destination or aim in view.

May I suggest that a recommendation of this sort be brought to the attention of the proper authorities through a press report and reminders given from time to time until action was taken.

During the year ten sessions of the Juvenile Court were held in the Town of Summerside re charges laid against youths, namely for defying breaking and entering etc. The total amount of youths before the court numbering, fifteen, of these thirteen were placed on probation and two were committed to institutions. One girl was also before the court and was recommended to the Home of the Good Shepherd at St. John, N. B., and two youths ordered to be placed in foster homes, and also four orphans to be placed in the orphanage at Charlottetown.

In my capacity as Truant Officer of the Town of Summerside I made 57 listed visits to the High School, finding total absentees numbering 190, which are as follows: sickness 69, lack of clothing 47, divers excuses 57, truancy 15.

The above takes in only the general checkups and does not include dozens of other visits made to the High School in an endeavour to see that the mentioned absentees were returned to classes.

Many old friends in Summerside and other parts of the province will remember Harold D. Mr. Ferguson resided in Summerside many years ago and worked with the late Wm. Stewart. He afterwards moved to Calgary, later going out to Vancouver. He is a brother of Mr. Edwin Taylor Bedeque. The late Mrs. David Walker of New Annan, was also a sister.—S.

Many friends will learn with regret of the passing of Mrs. George Semple of Kensington, who died in the Prince Edward Island Hospital on Saturday evening at the early age of 25 years.

Mrs. Semple had been ill for some time and although her death was not unexpected it came as a great blow to her family and friends. She was a devoted wife and mother, and her sweet disposition and beautiful Christian character made her a general favorite in the community.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marks of Margate. Besides her husband, George Semple, son of Tyndall Semple, Kensington, and two small children, there are left to cherish her memory, her parents, two sisters, Helen and Vivian and one brother, Gardner, to all of whom much sympathy is extended.—S.

Gossip From London

WHITE AND GOLD LAME SHOT WITH MAUVE AND GREEN OF BEETLES' WINGS FASHIONS LOVE-LY GOWN FOR THE QUEEN—HOSTESSES PLANNING BRILLIANT ENTERTAINMENTS—NEW CHEF AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

LONDON Nov. 13—Hostesses here are looking to their kitchens, writes Mollie McCee. Not for more than 10 years have there been such brilliant, formal entertainments and more than ever success is a matter of culinary effort.

At Buckingham Palace there has been a change of chefs. During the reign of George V, Monsieur M. Poupard prepared royal meals. He resigned in the time of Edward VIII, returning to superintend the coronation banquets for George VI and to instruct Monsieur Rene Roussin who has taken his place.

The new chef will show his skill at the banquet November 16 in honor of King Leopold of the Belgians. Later he will prepare royal feasts for King Carol of Rumania, King Boris of Bulgaria and the King of Greece who will visit the King and Queen during the next few months.

At the reception given by the Marchioness of Londonderry the most brilliant affair of the season to date—refreshments came from the historic tiled kitchen that is large enough to accommodate an army of servants and has great copper pans more than 100 years old lining the high shelves.

It is no longer considered smart merely to have a caterer come in. Old cook books are being brought out, old recipes tried out. Women who bear great names are house-proud of new electric appliances and are taking pride in offering their guests delicacies prepared under their own supervision by their own cooks.

DRESS RESPLENDENT
Lovely gowns were worn to the opening of Parliament. Mrs. Neville Chamberlain's mauve and silver brocade with purple velvet cloak being given special mention by the papers. Costumes were also a feature of the London-derry reception on the evening preceding the state opening. It was attended by about 2,000 of London's elite.

Hemmed in by brilliant uniforms and scintillating jewelry it took about 20 minutes to ascend the marble staircase and greet the hostess, Lady Londonderry, who wore the spectacular diamond tiara and brooches given her by an empress by a Russian Czar. Yet, amongst all the women's gowns one particularly stood out, a marvellously-embroidered yellow Chinese silk dress worn by Madame Qiu Tai-chi, wife of China's ambassador. It made be-sequestered sabbath look ordinary.

QUEEN'S NEW WARDROBE
Queen Elizabeth spent only four days in London when she first returned from Scotland before leaving for a tour of Yorkshire. While in town she chose her white and gold gown for opening of Parliament and a collection of other dresses from the house that has designed for her since she grew up.

For evening, the Queen decided on a white-and-gold lame patterned in small squares shot with the mauve and green of beetles' wings. This is known as "Precious Stones" and will be worn on official occasions. For family parties she chose an ash-of-roses satin brocade, featuring a lovely old brocade. Her day-time dresses, all made with three-quarter of hip-length coats, are in old rose velvet made with a house of lame in soft biscuit angora—with matching satin top and in "Queen's Blue" wool—h e a v y moro-ain top.

The Duchess of Kent has thrown her lot in with women who wear hats in the evening. She appeared with the Duke at a restaurant late one evening recently in a black velvet evening gown and tiny black velvet hat with a nose veil.

Urges Sanctions
Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese delegate, asked the conference to withhold supplies, war materials and credit from Japan and extend aid to China.

Refrain from contributing to the financial or economic resources of the aggressor or feeding him with an uninterrupted flow of arms," he urged.

Dr. Koo declared that the door to conciliation and mediation has been slammed in your face by the latest reply of the Japanese government.

Italy opposed the Chinese demand which was regarded as urging virtual sanctions against Japan.

Count Aldrovandi - Marescotti flatly asserted: "That is entirely ruled out. We are not here for that. It is entirely outside the scope of the conference."

The draft of the declaration expressed hope Japan would not maintain her refusal to cooperate with the conference.

It warned Tokyo that the states represented at the conference must consider what is to be their common attitude when one party to a treaty maintains against the views of all other parties that action it had

Death Saturday Of Mrs. Lucy Dunn, Summerside

Many friends will regret to learn of the passing of Mrs. Lucy Dunn, whose death occurred at her home in Summerside on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Dunn was 83 years of age and the widow of Captain Matthew Dunn, and was a resident of Summerside for many years, although she had of late years spent her winters in the United States.

Mrs. Dunn had a very charming personality and her illness was a source of much regret to her family and friends.

She leaves to mourn the following family, Mr. Charles T. Dunn Woodstock, Ill.; Dr. R. H. Dunn, Salem, Mass.; Mrs. John Huestis, Rosindale, Mass.; and Mr. Charles A. Meikle, Summerside; also one half brother, John T u c k e r, Bedeque, to whom sincere sympathy is extended.

Dr. Dunn, Mr. Charles Dunn and Mrs. Huestis arrived home early last week to be with their mother, and are remaining for the funeral, which is taking place this afternoon from the United Church at 2 o'clock, a short private service being held at 1.30, from the house.

Special sympathy will be extended to Mrs. Meikle in the double bereavement she has been called upon to bear, as only last Sunday, her daughter, Miss Mollie, was called to her eternal rest.—S.

Similar positions were stated by France and Russia.

The draft of the declaration expressed hope Japan would not maintain her refusal to cooperate with the conference.

It warned Tokyo that the states represented at the conference must consider what is to be their common attitude when one party to a treaty maintains against the views of all other parties that action it had taken, does not come within scope of the treaty.

The declaration emphasized that the Japanese-Chinese hostilities were affecting adversely the material interests of all nations and were filling all peoples with "horror and indignation."

It said a just and enduring settlement could not be expected from direct negotiations between China and Japan.

The draft said there exists no warrant in law for intervention by armed forces of one country in the internal affairs of another without purpose and that any general assumption of such a right would lead to continuous conflict.

The original phrase in this regard said: "There exists no warrant in law for the use of a country of armed force for the purpose of combating in another country the spread of a political doctrine, and the logical conclusion of any general assumption of such a right would be international anarchy."

Also eliminated was a reference to the fact that the League of Nations had gone on record that Japan's action in China was a matter of concern to all nations. This was removed on the ground that it would support Japan's contention the Brussels Conference was linked with the League.

The declaration said the conference could not understand Japan's repeated refusals to accept the good offices of a small number of powers to reach a settlement which would lead to peace between China and Japan and political and economic stability in the Far East.

What the conference will do next will be decided at its second stage, possibly tomorrow, after adoption of the declaration in final form.

The draft declared it was clear that Japan's concept of the issues and interests involved in the conflict "is utterly different from the concept of most of the other nations and governments of the world."

The declaration asserted the war was a violation of the Nine-Power Pact and the Kellogg-Briand Pact outlawing war as an instrument of national policy. Japan is a signatory of both.

The declaration referred to "the enormous number" of Japanese troops in China, to the declared objective of Japan "to destroy the will and ability of China to resist" and to the refusal of Japan to dis-

SEVEN DROWNED

The captain ordered the SOS at 4:20 Saturday morning, and then told the crew to abandon ship. Several lifeboats had been carried away. Two men drowned when they leaped into the water, the mate said; and 10 minutes later the ship went under.

Six men were picked up five hours later from a water-logged lifeboat by the Malory tanker Swiftsure. They spoke only Greek and could give little information.

Coast Guard cutters which had heard the SOS followed by an ominous silence sped through the heavy seas. Skies were
