Happenings Of The Week

The Queen paid her first visit to the London Stock Exchange on Wednesday on a tour of stations selling flags for the benefit of service men. Silk-hatted traders drooped their toppers and cheered. The Queen wore a silver grey ensemble with hat to match.

The Duchess of Gloucester recently opened the King George and Queen Elizabeth Club for Service Women of the Empire at 15, Manchester Square, London. Field-Marshal Lord Milne, chairman of the Empire Societies' War Hospitality Committee, said that this was the fourth of a series of such clubs and centres, and that Majestic had graciously granted the use of their names for it. Some place was needed where the numerous girls of the Services could go and have somewhere to sleep when they came to town on leave. They could have a room here for 3s. or a bed for less. The difficulties of finance had been overcome as the Nuffield Trust was helping them for a year.

TREAT YOUR SISTER WOMAN AS YOU WANT TO BE TREATED

No Girl Should Have Affairs With Married Men - Neither Should Wives Allow Themselves Undue Liberties

Dear Miss Dix - We are four young women and each one of us wants to ask you a question: (1) I am in love with a married man and I know he loves me. Should I accept his attentions? (2) Why are married men more interesting than single ones? (3) I am a young married woman and find my husband can't hold me. I am just this side of giving up on him as I use to be. I am not justified in accepting the attentions of another man? (4) My husband's business keeps him away from home much of the time and I am very lonely. What should I do? THE "FOUR."

ANSWER - (1) Certainly you should not accept the attentions of a married man. Your sister woman would not want you to do that. When you get married you will not want some other girl to be running around with your husband and encouraging him to spend his money upon her.

Unless you are cruel and a conscienceless girl, you cannot want to break up another woman's home and orphan little children. Unless you mean to get out of a love affair with a married man? The girl who indulges in a love affair with a married man bays bitterly for her folly. For he seldom divorces his wife, as he promises to do, and marries her. And in the end she has to make way for another, as his wife had to make way for her.

Who Are Most Interesting (2) Married men are not more interesting than single ones. They only seem so to you because they have the air of being successful. Many women have a passion for playing with fire, and the fascination of married men to them consists in this.

(3) Marriage isn't made of thrills. You can't palpitate over a man who you see every day and with whom you are familiar, but you can have a warm feeling of admiration and appreciation of a man's character and a sense of security in knowing that he is a thousand times more satisfying than any hectic and romantic chit-chat and flirts. It is far more important to be "dating" or when he pays her compliments.

I know a man who exhausts the supply of pet names on his wife. He calls her "darling," "dearest" and "love-dovey," and who is forever telling her how he adores her, but he is a good-for-nothing whom she has to take in boarders to support.

I know another man who stages a continual petting party and never goes out without giving his wife a kiss, but that is about all he does give her, for he is so stingy she has to almost choke him with her kisses.

And only the other day a widower was telling me how he loved his dear, departed wife and how his heart was broken over her loss, yet he never showed her a kindness while she was living.

Talk is cheap. My idea of the proof of love is what some one is willing to do for you, and as long as a woman has a husband who is a fire-side companion and a good party partner, I think she need worry about the state of his affections.

HAS GIRL RIGHT TO KEEP THE RING? Dear Miss Dix - A young man and a young girl think they are in love and become engaged. He gives her a ring and wristwatch. She gives him a ring. The engagement is broken over her loss. She returns the ring to him. He says she is unfaithful to him. If you are lonely, find something to do besides philandering to amuse you.

SELFISHNESS IS NOT TRUE LOVE Dear Miss Dix - I have left my home where I had good prospects, to come to another city where I can get more money, even when I have a job, because my sweetheart demands that I live in her home. She refuses to leave her home and family to go where I could be a success. What should I do? PUZZLED YOUNG MAN.

ANSWER - Take the next train back to your own place where you belong and where you can make money. If the girl doesn't love you, you would do better to follow your fortunes lead, she will make a poor wife.

Have known many men who sacrificed their prospects to please the women they loved, but I have never known one of these women who didn't reproach the man for making money, even when he had been the cause of his failure.

RIVALS OF THE TRAIL

By Samuel White

And, blending their slogan into the sonorous chant of "La Valette" that crowned Chavignaud's ravings in their rear, they foamed away for the mouth of the Ottawa river with their lightning paddle strokes.

The Northwesters' pace, duplicating their day's paddle or pack, Chavignaud and his XY men tava from its mouth to the branching of the Mattawan. By day he kept them in sight upon the tumultuous waterway. By night his campfires starred the fringe of forest in close proximity to theirs. On the moist spring nights when the kiss of balmy winds tempered the last bite of winter, the changes of his voyagers rose in their ears. Also rose the snarls of maudlin brawls, bred of rum about his fires and with every good and kind and indulgent to us and works very hard, although he is not in good health, to provide us with a nice home, clothes and a cat etc. But I am very unhappy because I wonder if he still cares for me, as he doesn't show it by being affectionate. What do you think? WORRIED.

ANSWER - Well, Worried, what do you think is a sign of love? Do you put up with a man who is a good-for-nothing whom she has to take in boarders to support.

I know a man who exhausts the supply of pet names on his wife. He calls her "darling," "dearest" and "love-dovey," and who is forever telling her how he adores her, but he is a good-for-nothing whom she has to take in boarders to support.

RESOLVE

To keep my health! To do my work! To live! To see to it I grow and gain and give!

Never to look behind me for an hour! To wait in weakness and to walk in power! But always, fronting onward toward the light! Always and always facing towards the right. Robbed, starved, defeated, fallen wide astray. On, with what strength I have; Back to the way. -Charlotte Perkins Stetson.

TO CLEAN CHINTZ Clean chintzes that are not guaranteed tubbable can be kept clean and fresh by sponging lightly with warm milk suds. Spread the curtains out, wrong side up, on a flat surface, sponge and wipe off with a clean damp cloth. Then reverse, and sponge and wipe off with right side, working rather quickly and drying immediately with a clean dry cloth. Do not try to cover too much area at one time.

Silverware will stay shiny and un tarnished if it is used daily, washed thoroughly and stored carefully. Use hot soapy water for washing. Use cold water for rinsing. Wipe the silver carefully with a lint-free soft cloth. Don't pile silverware; that is likely to scratch it. To remove tarnish from silver, use a polish that is very soft and is free from grit.

THE COOK'S CORNER

SAVORY BEETS

You will need about 6 medium-sized beets for this. Cut all but about 2 inches from the stems - wash the beets and cook until the beets are tender. Drain and slip the skins. Now dice the beets, reheat in the following sauce.

Sauce 2 tablespoons butter 1 tablespoon onion, minced 1-2 tablespoons flour 1 cup boiling water 1 tablespoon vinegar 1 tablespoon sugar 1-4 teaspoon salt Pepper Method: Melt the butter and add the minced onion. Cook the onion until it is straw-colored. Add the flour and stir well. Now add the boiling water gradually, and cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture is thickened. Add the vinegar, sugar, salt, and a dash of pepper. The squish may be cut into serving size pieces, seasoned, and buttered, and baked around the roast (allow it about 2 hours baking this way.)

For Saturday, September 7, 1940 MARCH 21 TO APRIL 20 (Aries) - You be wise to keep away from any and all unpleasant discussions, and especially if you are tempted to put somebody "in his place." Stand up for right principles but don't argue oricker needlessly. Be attentive to your loved ones.

APRIL 21 TO MAY 20 (Taurus) - Are there religious duties, home obligations or church affairs that weigh a just demand upon your time today? Give them your whole-hearted cooperation. A friendly day.

MAY 21 TO JUNE 21 (Gemini) - May be interesting or no, according to what your needs and occupations require. But you should aim to make-it worth while in some particular way. Keep your feet on the ground, tomorrow's tasks will be harder.

JUNE 22 TO JULY 23 (Cancer) - Note advice to Geminians. Your indications and solutions are similar today. If this day's work is not well done, tomorrow will present complications while you are trying to accomplish.

JULY 24 TO AUGUST 23 (Leo) - Fine rays; especially good opportunities, for financial gain and general business advancement and prestige. Put your best foot forward-and keep it there!

AUGUST 23 TO SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) - Deal with superiors, persons in high positions, educational, lecturing, his talents and talents and wholesalers. This is an opportune period for general improvement and preparation for future action.

SEPTEMBER 24 TO OCTOBER 23 (Libra) - Your stars are inactive today. But inactivity on your part would be very unwise. There are numerous things to be attended to before tomorrow rolls around. Don't be caught napping!
