PROHIBITION IN P. E. ISLAND.

Temperance men and prohibitionists in other parts of Canada are naturally looking to the Island Province as the one member of the Confederation that is making the experiment of wholly delegating the liquor traffic. They wish to know how the experiment is succeeding and they hear and read conflicting accounts which may render it somewhat difficult to form a decided opinion. Many of these reports come from persons strongly disposed from one reason or another to discredit the law. It so happens, for instance that the Scott Act, which is in force in the three counties of the Island, was passed by the Liberal party when in power at Ottawa, and the Prohibitory Law in force in Charlottetown was enacted by the Liberal Provincial Government here. It will be seen that this alone might furnish a reason why some strong Opposition partisans would seek to discredit both these measures.

A class of men who make frequent visits to the Island and the other Provinces as well as the commercial travellers, and these, as a rule are dissatisfied with the tax which the Island Government has imposed upon their calling. Many of these are, active and observant persons have in consequence their own reasons for discrediting the Government which imposed the tax upon commercial travellers and was also the author of the Prohibitory Law. It is but human nature for them in seeking to discredit our Provincial Government to also cast reflections upon the measures for which the Government is responsible. Moreover these individuals make their brief stay almost entirely in the towns and villages and about hotels where violations of the law and drunkenness are always most in evidence. Some at least, though by no means all, of the travellers are themselves drinking men, and because they are transients and non residents they have less difficulty than others in procuring liquors. These readily echo the words of the proprietor or bar tender, and afterwards tell abroad through other Provinces that Prohibition is a failure in P. E. Island. It is not improbable that even if endeavoring to form entirely impartial opinions they might be misled by reason of their predilections and surroundings, and from seeing an undue share of the drunkenness and violations of law which from time to time occur. We mention these matters in order that persons in other Provinces who desire to learn the actual facts of the case may not hastily form their impressions from reports circulated by persons who may have personal, political or sinister motives for discrediting the laws restricting the sale of liquor.

As to the actual facts we ask our readers who reside beyond the bounds of the Island to bear in mind that the arrests for drunkenness in Charlottetown during the month of June last—the last month for which we have a record—were but one third as many as they were in June, 1900 before the Prohibitory Law came into force. We admit that there are still many illegal sales and more drunkenness than is pleasant to see, but at the same time there are repeated convictions of the sellers who are from week to week being mulcted in heavy fines, and a number of them have reached the stage where the next conviction must place them behind the prison bars. Liquor is still sold secretly, but the open bar no longer exists in Charlottetown, and has not for months past. Think of what this means.

As for the prohibitionists and temperance people of the Island, whose judgment ought to be worth something, they believe that both the Scott Act and the Prohibition Law are good measures and that they are effecting great good from month to month and from year to year. They believe that these laws have greatly decreased drinking and drunkenness in our midst, and they are more firmly resolved than ever before to hold the ground they have won and maintain the legal defences that have been established against the liquor traffic. This the liquor men and prohibitionists know full well, and they fully realise that any effort to repeal the Scott Act by vote of the people in any one of the counties, or to repeal the Prohibitory Law by vote of the Legislature could only end in complete and humiliating failure. Prohibition is established in the hearts of the majority of our people: too firmly to ever be dislodged.

An Australian syndicate has made an offer of $1,250 a week and all expenses to General Dewet in consideration of his undertaking a lecturing tour in the Commonwealth and New Zealand. Dewet is not likely to give a dry lecture, however much he may Boer his audience.

Those who have read Kipling's R occasional—and who has not?—would naturally infer that the poet is at the bottom a religious man. A propos of this The Church Record tells the following story of the poet novelist in his list of vices:—
"A trained nurse was wa ching at the bedside of Mr. Kipling during those moments when the author was in the most critical stage of sickness, and she noticed that his lips began to move. She bent over him, thinking he wanted to say something to her, and she heard him utter these words, 'Now I lay me down to sleep,' that old familiar prayer of childhood days. The nurse, realizing that Kipling did not require her services, said in an apologetic whisper: 'I beg pardon, Mr. Kipling, I thought you wanted something.' 'I do,' faintly observed Kipling. 'I want my Heavenly Father. He only can care for me now.'"

Grounds of the Driving Park Association.

Wednesday, Aug. 20th, '02

The programme offers a day of rare enjoyment to all lovers of athletic games. The national games of Scotland will predominate as the leading feature of the day, and will be followed by a grand exhibition of strength and agility. There will be hammer throwing, running, jumping, vaulting and dancing, and the games will be witnessed by a large and elegant assemblage. Thither will come grey-haired sires and sprightly youths "noble games and diamonds bright." From the east and west, from the north and the south, the sons of the Heather will assemble. They will gather in plaid and bonnet, in kilt and fillet, with tartan flowing and spicery blowing. It will be the occasion of a grand reunion of the sons of old Scotia and their descendants. With generous cash and valuable prizes as rewards to the successful competitors, and with the "piprock's" wild melody sounding, who will deny that competition will be keen and that enthusiasm will run high on such a day. For competition prize list and all other information regarding the games, see programme.
