MAY BAR MUSIC FROM HARVARD MEALS.

BOSTON, Nov. 4—No more music with the meals of the Harvard students in Memorial Hall. The students are likely to dine in silence hereafter. Band music is too much for their nerves.

While the band in the gallery of Mem was playing the Harvard airs at supper time, and the students had been worked up to a proper pitch of enthusiasm, one playful freshy emptied the contents of a sugar bowl down the neck of his table mate. His friend retaliated, and then, before anyone could tell how it happened, 500 students, yelling like fiends, were throwing sugar, salt, milk, water, and small crockery, in fact everything moveable that they could get their hands on, in all directions.

Hoisting their aprons around their necks, both for protection and speed the darky waiters shot through the pantry door into the haven of the kitchen. The students were left to themselves, and to make it worse the band played Our Director, the battle-cry of the Harvard football team.

The rumpus, known colloquially as a sugar riot quieted down after a while and the frightened negroes started to rake up the crockery. The management called a hasty council, and it is now rumored that music with meals is a thing of the past. On the eve of the football game, at any rate, the management say there will be no music. It is too expensive.

WILSON DIRECTS ATTACK ON SENATE.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 4—Governor Woodrow Wilson in his speeches here directed an attack on the United States Senate as a citadel of private interest, declaring the people had not had possession of that body for a generation.

Mr. Depew was a member of that private coteries which serves special interests, he said but Mr. O'Gorman is not.

The governor said confusion and incessant contest would result for the next four years with a postponement of legislation unless both houses of Congress as well as the presidency were Democratic through and through.

The Democratic nominee also explained his views on the regulation of competition to greater length and with more detail than he had done before in the campaign. Holding that the two chief issues of the campaign were the tariff and the trusts, he reiterated, that, without disturbing the healthy fiber of American business, he proposed to have special favors cut off of the tariff. He announced that he intended to fight for the rest of his life to destroy private monopoly.

TAKES CHILDREN UP IN AEROPLANE.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Nov. 2.—Aviators had a busy time at the Hampstead Plain to-day, the conditions for flying being such that a large crowd of spectators came out in automobiles. At one time five machines were in the air, four of them monoplanes and one biplane.

George W. Beatty carried several passengers in flights. Those who attracted most attention were Alexander and Catherine Brunnow, thirteen and ten years old respectively who were up in the Wright biplane five hundred feet and were greatly delighted.

W. Leonard Bonney in a monoplane carried several passengers. William Baysdorfer in a biplane was fifteen hundred feet up and made a good landing.

W. Harper, Jr., who takes "grass cutting" passengers for $1 each, did a thriving business, making several twenty-five foot jumps in his big monoplane.

RAG PICKER'S BODY FOUND IN RIDEAU.

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—Anthony Mousseau, a 13-year-old boy, on his way to school made the discovery of a body in the Rideau river. The lad was crossing the foot of the Cathcart street, touching on the Rideau river, when he was badly scared at seeing a man's feet sticking up among some bushes.

The boy immediately made off and 'phoned the news of his discovery to the police station.

The body was head downwards in the water, one boot was off, and his hat and pipe were found in one hand. The body was taken out and viewed by the coroner, and the constable recognized it as that of Tom Belanger, a well-known rag picker. The body was taken to the morgue in the ambulance.

Belanger was noticed in a drunken condition near the Rideau, and it is thought that he fell in. Coroner Baptic made an examination of the body, but could find no marks or signs intimating violence, and thinks an inquest will be unnecessary.

A small gin bottle well filled with whiskey was found in his pocket. The dead man is well known to the police he having been up numerous times on charges of theft, vagrancy and housebreaking, his record dating back to 1895, when he was up on a charge of housebreaking. Belanger was about 60 years of age and had no home.

CUBA'S FATE DEPENDS ON PRESENT GEN. ELECTION.

HAVANA, November 1—The day of the general election on which the fate of the Cuban republic is believed to depend opened auspiciously. Despite the almost unanimous predictions that the event would be marked by nation-wide disorders, the hope is now rising hourly that whatever the result of the election may be the registering of the popular voice will be effected in exemplary order.
