GOOD ROADS.—Charlottetown thoroughfares were thronged yesterday afternoon and last night by those who wished to enjoy a pleasant sleigh drive. This is practically the first time this winter that citizens have had an opportunity to enjoy a sleigh drive other than on partly bare ground.

The pipe will have to be sent to Halifax for repairs, and it will probably be Saturday before she got to Cole's Point, a short distance from Pictou, when the accident happened.

SKATING RACE.—In former years Charlottetown people have had the privilege of witnessing skating competitions with those of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. There are some speedy skaters in this province who can hold their own with any foreigners now as in the past. Local promoters of sporting events should get busy and give the citizens an opportunity of seeing the boys in a speed contest.

WM. SHARAM'S DEATH.—In the death of William Sharam which occurred on the sixth of February at the village of Murray Harbor has sustained the loss of one of its most estimable citizens. Mr. Sharam, who was in his sixty-ninth year, was born at Vernon River but in early manhood removed to Murray Harbor and was for the greater part of his life engaged in business there. A man of sterling integrity and amiable character he gained and held the respect and confidence of the entire community. The large attendance at the funeral gave eloquent testimony to the services he rendered to his community. Rev. Mr. Jewett, the impressive funeral service of the Order of which the deceased was a member, was also read in the church and at the grave. He leaves a widow and two daughters—Mrs. Allan J. MacMillan and Miss Rita Sharam who have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends in their sorrow.

THAT NAIL.—An Irishman was serving in a regiment in India. Not liking the climate Pat tried to evolve a trick by which he could get home. Accordingly he went to the doctor and told him his eyesight was bad. The doctor looked at him for a while and then said: "How can you prove to me that your eyesight is bad?" Pat looked about the room and at last said: "Well, doctor do you see that nail on the wall?" "Yes," replied the doctor. "Well then," replied Pat, "I can't."

Fatality of Whooping Cough.—Many parents think lightly of whooping cough, and treat it as a necessary evil, not giving the child who has it any special attention. The seriousness of whooping cough was emphasized by the medical Health Officer in Toronto a few months ago, when he reported the deaths during the month from whooping cough, and only ten from scarlet fever, typhoid fever and measles combined. So many people write to us about the relief and cure of whooping cough by the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Eucalypti and Turpentine that we can recommend it with the greatest confidence. It loosens the cough, aids expectoration and by its soothing influence prevents the terrible paroxysms of coughing which are so distressing to the patient, and which were away the strength of the child. By using this treatment the disease is held in check and cured in a few weeks, instead of months. Look for the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., of the bottle you buy. There are many imitations.

ARENA.—Fast, clean hockey is the motto of the game tonight. Vice vs. Comaught and Abbies vs. St. Dunstan's.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.—The Knights of Pythias of Charlottetown celebrated their natal day last evening by a convention. After the degree of esquire had been conferred on two applicants, a luncheon was served to those present and a very enjoyable evening was enjoyed.

ADDITIONAL.—The late Alexander McPhail of Argyle shore, an extended notice of whose death appeared a few days ago in The Guardian, left three daughters, the name of Catherine C. (Mrs. Malcolm McPhail, DeSable) having been inadvertently overlooked by the contributor.

DOG POISONED.—A valuable dog belonging to Dr. A. A. Leckie Charlottetown, came to its death yesterday by poisoning. This is the second valuable dog for the Doctor to lose within a short space of time. Something should be done by those who have the culprit or culprits who take delight in killing harmless animals brought to justice.

ROX TRIAL AT SUMMERSIDE.—(Continued from page one) Sindsale in a sleigh witness told Burdette of Burke's proposition and Burdette said they would do it if he could get the foxes. Of the 3000 Burke was to get for finding Burdette's foxes he never offered the witness any specified amount. On February seventh witness had a conversation with Thomas Murray to the purpose that he had better get ahead of Charlie Burke if he knew anything about the foxes. As a result of this conversation they found the foxes that night about two miles from Jacob Murray's house. There was no smell of foxes around Jacob Murray's house. On the night of the seventh Tom Murray said that he would try and find the foxes where Chas Burke had told him he had them. But if he should they would say he took them. The witness promised Tom Murray that he would have nothing to do with prosecuting him, that Geo. Barbour promised that neither he nor his company would prosecute him. On that day he did not have the search warrant with him or did not act under it. He did not arrest Tom Murray that night because he had no warrant for his arrest. He understood there was one coming on the train but did not think he had the authority to arrest him without it. He would have arrested Murray but would have nothing to do with the CHICO, Feb. 17 (Special)—To sell a whole town at auction is the duty that has been imposed on C. J. Fox, receiver for the Herbert Shearer colonies in Glenn county, just across the river from Chico, and he is now at work preparing to carry out his duty, which will comprise the disposition of all the buildings in the little town of Shearer.

There are forty buildings, big and little, that will go under the hammer. The town is deserted by reason of the suspension of construction work on the canals and reclamation scheme and there is no further use for the place as a settlement.

TOKIO, Feb. 17 (Special)—Count Gombel Yamamoto today became Premier of Japan, succeeding Count Taro Katsura, whose resignation was brought about by the Diet's vote of lack of confidence in his Government. The Premiership was conferred on Count Yamamoto after a conference of the Emperor and the Elder Statesmen, and he agreed to attempt to form a Cabinet if he could be guaranteed a free hand and the support of the Elder Statesmen.

AWARDED $10,000 FOR LOSS OF HAND

MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—Ten thousand dollars for the loss of a hand is the amount of an award made by a jury in a case wherein a workman entered suit for the sum against his employer. The plaintiff was engaged as a machinist engineer and was doing some work about a machine when the walking boss threw a nut on the power. His hand was caught in the gearing and was cut off at the wrist. As he was earning more than $1,000 a year at the time, he entered action under common law, instead of under the Workmen's Compensation Act, holding the employer wholly responsible for what had occurred. As he was a young man, and the father of a family, and as he represented that he was permanently incapacitated as far as his chosen field of work was concerned, he claimed the above amount. The jury after a lengthy hearing of the case, coincided with his views all along the line and reached a verdict as stated. Attorneys for the employer defendant, however, forthwith entered a protest against the award, and the matter will have of necessity to be threshed out before a higher tribunal, the defendant maintaining that the award is wholly unwarranted by the evidence.

Nervous Energy in the human body is similar to electricity in a storage battery. It's the force that makes things go.

This force—in the body—comes from the digestion and assimilation of Right Food; the kind Nature requires for building and maintaining healthy brain and nerve cells.

Grape-Nuts FOOD

contains the elements Nature has stored in wheat and barley, including the phosphate (grown in the grains)—absolutely necessary, in combination with starches, sugars and albumens of the cereals, for normal cell-building.

o'clock. This, however, was not done. Witness was assisting the constables in their search and had been sworn a constable. This ended the testimony on the case. McCallum moved that the case be dismissed. Saunders said that the evidence was not sufficient to warrant sending the prisoner up for trial and that the case any further so it was dismissed. Then the court adjourned until 10.30 this morning.

LONDON, Feb. 18 (Special)—In all the pages of heroism which brighten the history of Britain, none is finer than the tale of the death of Lawrence Edward Grace Oates, one of the words in which one paper refers to that gallant officer's effort to save his companions on the ill-fated Scott expedition, by not remaining with them to hamper their progress. March 17, on which date Oates was dying in his tent, was his thirty-second birthday. Oates belonged to a Yorkshire family, which a few years ago moved to Gestingthorpe Hall, a historical mansion on the borders of Essex and Suffolk counties. Captain Oates joined the Inniskilling Dragoons in 1900. He was sent to South Africa the following year. When in charge of a patrol he was attacked by the Boers in a river bed. His patrol made a gallant fight, and, as each man finished his ammunition, Lieutenant Oates, as he was then, ordered him to crawl away. At the end of four hours' fighting, he was left alone. Twice during the engagement the Boer commander sent a white flag demanding the surrender of the little force, but Oates each time sent back the reply that he was "here to fight, not to surrender." Eventually, the Boers fired Oates was wounded in the thigh, the bone being broken. His bravery caused him to be mentioned in despatches, and he is known in the army as "No-surrender Oates."

He was invalided home, but rejoined his regiment in 1902, and served in South Africa till the end of the war. He afterwards accompanied his regiment to Egypt and India.
