MT. STEWART REMEMBERS WAR DEAD

Great War veterans and citizens of Mount Stewart and vicinity assembled on Sunday afternoon for the annual memorial service to do honor to those who gave their lives in the struggle of 1914-18. The service was held in the Legion Hall, Mount Stewart. The special speakers for the occasion were Rev. W. L. Outhouse, pastor of the Central Christian Church and Dr. Cyrus MacMillan of McGill University, both of whom served with the Canadian Corps overseas. Mr. J. K. Lacey, President of the Mount Stewart Branch of the Canadian Legion, presided. Present with him on stage with the speakers were Dr. A. B. Martin, Mount Stewart, Past Provincial President of the Canadian Legion.

Mr. Lacey gave the opening address, briefly reviewing some of the major engagements of the war, and touching references to the fine spirit and sacrifices of the enlisted men.

In opening his address, Rev. Mr. Outhouse referred to the fact that more than 60,000 fellow Canadians were killed during the war, and are now resting beneath crosses row on row in unknown graves, and hearts are saddened at the thought of the glorious dead. What is most worthy of memory is the purpose for which they died, the protection and security of national institutions, liberty and home life. In this connection the speaker also spoke of the Old Continentals who pitied their strength against the Teutonic hordes. Only three days after the declaration of war this army of 30,000 men landed in France. There are no regrets for the action of the Motherland in her determination to maintain the sanctity of her treaty with Belgium. Only fifteen days after England's declaration Canada authorized the collection of an expeditionary force which in less than two months landed at Plymouth 23,000 strong. Six months later this brave vanguard suffered heavy casualties from the gas attack of Ypres, and although totally unprepared for such a situation, they remained steadfast and saved the day. Reference was made to the gallant conduct of Canadians at Ypres, on the Somme, and in the vile and mucky wilderness, Passchendaele, and to the fact that of the more than 400,000 Canadians who went overseas 155,799 were wounded, to whom every consideration is due. Mr. Outhouse urged his hearers not to forget that the civilization for which they fought and sacrificed is again endangered, as is indicated by the secret diplomacy, international suspicions, and feverish nationalism. The invasion of China by Japan, the rearmament of Germany, and the suspicion of U. S. with regard to Japan must act to prevent people juggling themselves into a fancied security. In addition, a cerceous growing within are attacks on the very vitals of civilization, such abuses as social injustice, unemployment, growing spirit of revolt against constituted authority. Mr. Outhouse exhorted his hearers to remember that the fallen comrades had fought for liberty, not for license, for the constituted authority of the Empire. In closing he urged vigilance to be maintained by maintaining a state of extreme pacifism, the results of a shallow emotionalism, totally unfair to youth.

"To keep faith with those who made the supreme sacrifice in the last great conflict," he said "let us work as though everything depended upon work, and let us pray as though everything depended upon prayer, that this world may never again be deluged by the bloodshed and carnage of another world war. But let us be prepared to give ourselves freely in any crisis that may threaten our glorious Empire. As the noise of battle has died out, as the cries of wounded and dying are hushed, so may our animosity, our prejudice, our hatred, against our former foes become a thing of the past. Let us remember with the great poet Goethe has said:

"In Christ there is no east, no west. In Him no south, nor north. But one great fellowship of love throughout the whole wide earth."

Dr. Cyrus MacMillan directed his remarks particularly to the youth assembled, referring to the fact that there are thousands of young men in Canada who have grown up since the war, and have attained the age of citizenship. Though these young people know nothing of the war from personal experience, they are suffering the result of the war, and will for many years. What did the young men of 1914 know about the issues underlying the war, Dr. MacMillan asked, only the Kings and diplomats knew the issues that precipitated that conflict. It was not only for adventure that these young men gave their all for King and country. They gave their all in answer to a single line in a country schoolhouse "your King and your country needs you."

The speaker gave a description of the horrors through which these young men passed, and asked how it was that they endured it all. They endured it, he said, because of a miracle, the miracle of the courage of the common man. In referring to the ominous signs of the times, such as secret diplomacy, international suspicion, and increased armaments, the speaker asked, "Is all quiet on the Western Front, or on any front today? Have we said farewell to arms? This world would be a

Sunday Session
 The Sunday morning service of the Island Baptist Association was conducted by the Moderator, assisted by Rev. J. B. Wilson. A special service was rendered by J. E. Lewis, who sang the Holy City very effectively. Rev. J. C. Peacock of the Springfield Baptist was the preacher of the Association sermon and chose as his subject "The Greatest Discovery in the History of the World," and he based his sermon on the 15th chapter of Jeremiah, 15th verse.

In a very clear and eloquent and sincere manner he revealed to the capacity audience that the greatest discovery of the world is found in the word of God and that discovery is God. He brought very clear to the audience the need of the world and how that need can be answered by God if we but come to Him. Rev. T. O. DeWolfe brought an inspiring and eloquent service to a close.

The afternoon session was in the interest of Foreign Missions and the special speaker was Dr. Hinson West, medical missionary, who in a very clear and convincing manner gave a comprehensive survey of the work that is being done by the Baptist Medical Missionaries in India. Dr. West has made a very great contribution by his work to the advancement of the Kingdom of God in India. A guest, "Whispering Hope," was sung by Mrs. Jack MacLeod and J. B. Lewis.

The concluding service of the P. E. I. Baptist Association Convention exceeded in numbers all the preceding sessions. An overflow meeting conducted by Rev. J. B. Will Fight to the Last PARIS, July 1.—(CP-Havas)—An army of 1,000,000 men to die in their country's defense was the picture of Ethiopia's potential strength presented here today through a statement by Ras Mulatig, Ethiopian Minister of War, made to a correspondent of Le Matin.

"We now have 350,000 men under the colors," the War Minister was quoted, "and within from 15 to 30 days we can muster without difficulty 800,000 or 900,000 soldiers. The army will fight with its age-old daredevil courage, which has earned for our warriors comparison with lions, but it will profit by modern arms and tactical instruction.

"We will fight to the last man. We will all die if necessary."

Emperor Haile Selassie told the congress that "Italy expects to obtain a mandate over Ethiopia she is mistaken. Even if Ethiopia must be placed under a mandate some day, Italy will not be the power holding the mandate."

different world if these ten million young men had not died. This depression, chaos, and international confusion which the world has been experiencing is due to the fact that there is a legion of lost men in France. The qualities that guided these men are the qualities needed for leadership today. These qualities are co-operation, unselfishness, self-control, reverence for tradition. In this connection youth is now getting away from reverence for tradition, a condition to be deplored.

In his closing remarks Dr. MacMillan stated that the anniversary was a day of pain to the mothers, but it was also a day of pride for the gallant men who had made the supreme sacrifice. He appealed to the young people to carry on the tradition for which the glorious dead fought and died. The greatest companion man has ever known taught that the greatest law is divine love, and that law is divine love. This same great companion in order to keep his memory fresh, "This do in remembrance of me," and that if the glorious dead could speak today they would say with respect to the things for which they fought and died, "Carry on the traditions and ideals for which we died."

After the programme the audience left the Legion Hall for the cemetery where Mr. Lacey placed a wreath on the War Memorial after quoting the following appropriate lines:

"They shall grow not old As we that are left, grow old. As we that are left, grow old, Nor the years condemn, At the going down of the sun, and in the morning, We shall remember them."

men now at the Lumsden Camp to their homes is being completed. They are expected to leave the camp tomorrow for Vancouver and Fernie, B. C. The Lumsden Camp offer was the alternative to the strikers staying in Regina at their own expense.

Under Federal orders, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, continued to patrol highways to prevent departure of the strikers from the city and the ban on anyone lending assistance to the men was still in effect. Anyone aiding the strikers was liable to prosecution, police said.

Necessity of support from the public to achieve concessions in their demands for alteration of relief camps and a work and wages program was emphasized in the bulletin issued by the strikers today. Violence would not be resorted to, the bulletin said.

It pointed out the "struggle is ever changing." Expressing opposition to the "Lumsden internment camp," the bulletin declared "our stand today must be for the opening of negotiations with the provincial and Dominion authorities and the granting of immediate relief."

The fire men arrested when police blocked an attempt Thursday night to travel from Regina to Brandon, Man., by truck will be arraigned in police court tomorrow before Magistrate W. B. Scott. They are charged with being members of an unlawful association, the Communist party, under section 98 of the Criminal Code.

SITUATION IN WINNIPEG
 WINNIPEG, July 1.—Demonstrations by striking unemployed from federal government relief camps in Manitoba left Winnipeg on trigger-edge tonight. Disorders involving 500 strikers, barricaded in the city's single unemployed men's dining hall, ended with an armistice today that had not lessened determination of campers to see adjustment of camp conditions and a march on Ottawa.

A moral victory was counted by the strikers when civic authorities ceded to their demand for central billeting. Tents were erected at the exhibition grounds where meals for today were supplied by the provincial government. Withdrawal of a police blockade that barred progress of a trek to the dominion capital, however, was refused.

Night-long disorders which followed a mass meeting in market square and a two-hour parade through the main business streets of the city, Sunday night, reached a climax when the strikers' dining hall, located with an armistice today that had not lessened determination of campers to see adjustment of camp conditions and a march on Ottawa.

Shortly before three o'clock this morning a truce was effected. Strike leaders agreed to leave the building when acting Mayor John Blumberg arranged to provide tents for central billeting. Two meals for today, the strikers' dining hall, were to be served. Campers were elated over what they called a moral victory gained without interference of police.

What the idle army would do next was unknown. Royal Canadian Mounted Police did not actively oppose storming of the dining hall. Nevertheless, they maintained a tight watch. Steel-helmeted constabulary in dozens of cruiser cars patrolled the area throughout the night.

Arthur McNamara, Manitoba assistant deputy minister of public works, visited the men during the height of the demonstration. After a short conference with the leaders he left with the statement all demands of the men were refused. The men protested against police interference and demanded "a clear road to Ottawa" in addition to three meals a day in restaurants.

In explanation of a last-minute change in plans to board a freight train for Ottawa Sunday night, Mitchell Sago, one of the strike leaders, stated the men were warned of an impending police ambush. Police forces, he said, were mobilized at Transcona and Rennie, Ont., east of the city, with orders to remove all strikers and place them in concentration camps. The march on the city relief dining hall, he said, was the men's answer.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH
 The summer vacation has started but it should not be allowed to interfere too seriously with attendance at the public services in the sanctuary on the Lord's Day. "Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His court with praise."

Before his regular sermon at the morning service Rev. Mr. Miller gave a short talk to the boys and girls, making an appeal to them that whatever they do to do their best and he impressed the truth by an apt illustration. His regular text was from Matt. 16-23, "But he turned and said unto Peter, 'thou art the rock upon which I will build my church, and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven.'"

The text for the evening service was from Matt. 16-23, "I am innocent of the blood of this just man; that is your affair."

In the service of praise the singing of two guest singers was greatly appreciated. In the morning Mr. Percy Williams gave the solo "Remember and Hear Me," and in the evening Mrs. A. S. Weil was heard with pleasure in "God So Loved the World." In recognition of Dominion Day the congregation sang with enthusiasm at the morning service "Lord of the Lands, Make Canada Thine Own."

The July meeting of the W.M.S. will be held on the lawn of Mrs. Harold Newson, Mt. Edward Road, on Thursday at 3.30 p.m. Rev. Clair Wright, missionary from Japan, will give an address.

ST. PETERS CATHEDRAL
 At the 11 o'clock Sunday Eucharist in St. Peter's Cathedral Sunday, the Rev. Canon Malton preached a strong and stirring sermon from the text "Stand fast and hold the traditions ye have been taught."

At 7 o'clock the Right Rev. Dr. Haokenley administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to five boys and five girls and admitted one boy into the Church of England who had been baptized and confirmed in the Greek Church, after which His Lordship expressed pleasure at again being present in the Cathedral Church, and then delivered a splendid address to those who had just been confirmed, taking as his text the fourteenth verse of the fourth chapter of St. Luke. The Cathedral was well filled for this service.

Yesterday being Dominion Day, the Holy Eucharist was celebrated at 7.45 a.m., with special intention of asking God's blessing on the Dominion and its people.

HOLY REDEEMER CHURCH
 Rev. C. O'Hara, C.S.S.R., preached inspiring sermons at all the Masses Sunday morning. Father O'Hara's discourse was appropriate to the Feast of the Sacred Heart, which was celebrated on Friday last. He related how God had chosen a humble Sister of the Visitation Order to make this devotion known to Christianity, and how the devotion had spread. He urged every family of the parish to cherish a great devotion to the Sacred Heart and to inculcate in the lives of those near and dear to them a similar devotion. Masses were at the usual Sunday hours, Rev. H. I. Fleming.

Ramon Novarro and Evelyn Laye in "The Night Is Young" at Prince Edward

Nights of love, days of laughter, and the haunting spell of romantic Vienna are echoed in the remarkable new example of screen entertainment created by Oscar Hammerstein II and Sigmund Romberg, creators of "Desert Song" and "New Moon." This is "The Night Is Young," glamorous love story of Vienna, now playing at the Prince Edward Theatre, and bringing to the screen the lovely English star, Evelyn Laye as a teammate for Ramon Novarro.

A Perfect Blend
 "The Night Is Young" has at last solved the problem of blending music, drama, comedy and romance into a perfect and uninterrupted whole. Its players do not suddenly burst into song. Its music runs entirely through the picture, every note a vital component part, haunting melodies, all introduced by clever and novel devices, give it a charming continental flavor, and entrance one from first scene to final fadeout. It has a gripping story, spectacular settings, and imitable comedy.

Novarro plays a debonair young rake and, in his colorful uniforms is as romantic as in the days of "Prisoner of Zenda." He never sang better. Champagne-blonde Evelyn Laye brings a piquant new personality, plus beauty and a glorious voice, to the screen as the little ballet dancer.

Comedy honors are divided between Edward Everett Horton, Charles Butterworth, Una Merkel and Herman Bing, who keep a running fire of laughs throughout the picture. Especially intriguing is "When I Grow Too Old to Dream," as sung in the quaint wine garden by Novarro and Miss Laye. "My Old Mare" is sung humorously by Butterworth and Miss Merkel. Other engaging songs are "The Night Is Young," "Wiener Schmitzel," the whimsical "When I Am a Noble Duchess," "Lena, I Love You," and the sprightly "Riot in Havana."

Skillful Direction
 Dudley Murphy directed with deft skill, and important roles were adequately filled by Rosalind Russell as the Countess, Henry Stephenson as the Emperor, Donald Cook as the pianist, Charles Judels as the ballet master and Albert Conti as the impresario. Specially elaborate are the scenes representing the great Vienna opera, the Emperor's palace and the Prater of amusement park. The costumes are equally gorgeous.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES
 The summer vacation has started but it should not be allowed to interfere too seriously with attendance at the public services in the sanctuary on the Lord's Day. "Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His court with praise."

Before his regular sermon at the morning service Rev. Mr. Miller gave a short talk to the boys and girls, making an appeal to them that whatever they do to do their best and he impressed the truth by an apt illustration. His regular text was from Matt. 16-23, "But he turned and said unto Peter, 'thou art the rock upon which I will build my church, and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven.'"

The text for the evening service was from Matt. 16-23, "I am innocent of the blood of this just man; that is your affair."

In the service of praise the singing of two guest singers was greatly appreciated. In the morning Mr. Percy Williams gave the solo "Remember and Hear Me," and in the evening Mrs. A. S. Weil was heard with pleasure in "God So Loved the World." In recognition of Dominion Day the congregation sang with enthusiasm at the morning service "Lord of the Lands, Make Canada Thine Own."

The July meeting of the W.M.S. will be held on the lawn of Mrs. Harold Newson, Mt. Edward Road, on Thursday at 3.30 p.m. Rev. Clair Wright, missionary from Japan, will give an address.

ST. PETERS CATHEDRAL
 At the 11 o'clock Sunday Eucharist in St. Peter's Cathedral Sunday, the Rev. Canon Malton preached a strong and stirring sermon from the text "Stand fast and hold the traditions ye have been taught."

At 7 o'clock the Right Rev. Dr. Haokenley administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to five boys and five girls and admitted one boy into the Church of England who had been baptized and confirmed in the Greek Church, after which His Lordship expressed pleasure at again being present in the Cathedral Church, and then delivered a splendid address to those who had just been confirmed, taking as his text the fourteenth verse of the fourth chapter of St. Luke. The Cathedral was well filled for this service.

Yesterday being Dominion Day, the Holy Eucharist was celebrated at 7.45 a.m., with special intention of asking God's blessing on the Dominion and its people.

HOLY REDEEMER CHURCH
 Rev. C. O'Hara, C.S.S.R., preached inspiring sermons at all the Masses Sunday morning. Father O'Hara's discourse was appropriate to the Feast of the Sacred Heart, which was celebrated on Friday last. He related how God had chosen a humble Sister of the Visitation Order to make this devotion known to Christianity, and how the devotion had spread. He urged every family of the parish to cherish a great devotion to the Sacred Heart and to inculcate in the lives of those near and dear to them a similar devotion. Masses were at the usual Sunday hours, Rev. H. I. Fleming.
