The Next Move.

A despatch to THE GUARDIAN this morning says the temperance party of Ontario in view of their Plebiscite will now demand prohibition of the retail liquor traffic from the Provincial legislature, and prohibition of the manufacture and sale by wholesale of liquor from the Dominion Government. So far as prohibiting the retail traffic is concerned the Scott Act furnishes the necessary machinery for that and after Charlottetown re-adopts it this Province will have a chance to do something. Temperance people here we think should unite in a vigorous demand to have this law thoroughly enforced by the Local legislature, and then join their voice with Ontario and Manitoba to secure from the Dominion Government prohibition of the importation, manufacture and sale by wholesale of intoxicating liquors.

They Are Actually Through.

That undignified aggregation known to fame as the Royal Commission on Prohibition has actually decided to wind up and retire from the public gaze. The Plebiscites probably helped to accelerate this move. When the people took such a short time to make known their wishes the Commission began to realize that they were what is vulgarly termed "left." Mr. Monaghan, the secretary says that Sir Joseph Hickson and he are now busily engaged at the compilation and preparation of the report to parliament. It will, in Mr. Monaghan's opinion, be submitted to the house early in the approaching session. It will probably puzzle the government to know what to do with it. The injustice of having to pay for it will of course fall on the people.

The Hawaiian Episode.

Speaking of the Hawaiian affair the January Review of Reviews (American edition) says:—

So far as the United States are now concerned, Hawaii has a firm government under President Dole and his associates. That government negotiated a treaty of annexation with our government under President Harrison. The treaty was pending in the Senate when Mr. Cleveland came into office. He withdrew it from the Senate before it had been acted upon, and he informed the Hawaiian government that annexation was rejected by the United States. This should have ended the Hawaiian question, so far as Mr. Cleveland was concerned. His subsequent disposition to concern himself with the internal affairs of Hawaii appear irrelevant. His rejection of the overtures for annexation leaves the Hawaiian government perfectly free, unless we use or threaten force to restrain that freedom, to enter into special relations with the British or any other government. The spirit shown by the Hawaiian authorities is wholly commendable. They have announced their purpose to resist hostile attempts to dispossess them. Mr. Thurston, who has so ably represented the Hawaiian government at Washington, returned to Honolulu in the middle of December to aid and advise President Dole. In all candor let us say that the withdrawal of the annexation treaty was a serious enough mistake, and that the proposed subsequent overthrow of President Dole and restoration of Liliuokalani in violation of every principle of international law, would, if consummated, have been a dark blot upon our history. Nobody for a moment doubts the absolute rectitude of Mr. Cleveland's intentions in all this mismanaged business. But he has clearly suffered from the misfortune of bad council. Mr. Willis, of course, found it practically impossible, when he reached Honolulu, to carry out the policy of overthrow and restoration that had been prepared for him.

CHURCH NEWS.

PRESBYTERIAN.

New York, December 31.—The plan of the Presbyterian Church to build for itself a grand American home mission building in this city has been referred to. The most important step has been taken in the purchase of the Robert L. Stuart estate of the property at the northwest corner of Fifth avenue and Twentieth street. On this splendid site a fine eleven story building to cost upward of $1,000,000, will be built. The ground cost $670,000. The building will probably be called the Presbyterian mission house. In it the foreign and home mission boards, the church erection board and the church publication societies will be housed.

Mrs. Robert L. Stuart, who died about two years ago, left over $1,000,000 to the two mission boards. While she did not stipulate how the money should be used, it was generally known that her wish was that with it a suitable home for Presbyterian mission work should be built. The site was particularly chosen for the reason that it was thought the building to be erected upon it, standing just where Mrs. Stuart lived, would be a grand memorial to her. The property has a 92 foot frontage on Fifth avenue and of 190 feet on Twentieth street.

There is a church in the Maritime Synod which proposes to raise $50 per Sabbath for the schemes of the church and to do it regularly. We hope the effort will succeed. It would stimulate others.

EPISCOPAL.

Pope Pius IX. was a witty man. When Dr. Pusey at last made it clear that he would never join the Roman Church, the Pope observed that the Oxonian leader was like the church bells, which always rang the people in but never came inside themselves. This was quite a bit of humour, for the campanile, or bell tower, in Italy always stands quite outside the church.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has declined to sanction special sermons and collections on behalf of the unemployed on the ground that it has been proved that special efforts in any one particular direction bring about results contrary to those anticipated.

The Protestant Observer says: The authorities of the English Church Union must be very much annoyed at the withdrawal from their ranks of the Archbishop of Ontario, Canada. That the archbishop has withdrawn from the E. C. U. must give satisfaction to all Canadian Protestants, but that satisfaction would be greatly increased if he were to issue a declaration stating that he has withdrawn his heart also. Has Dr. Lewis repudiated sacerdotal principles?

The bishop of Worcester has (says the Manchester Guardian) joined the newly-formed National Protestant Church Union, and it is hoped that he may be persuaded to take some public part in its campaign, either in his own diocese or in London. The recent church congress has shown that whatever Bishop Perowne's failings may be, he has certainly the courage of his convictions. His vindication of his position on the question of episcopacy as relating to the bene esse and not the esse of the church is looked upon as a most remarkable speech, delivered, as it was, in the face of a hostile majority.

METHODIST.

West Cape, P. E. I.—Since conference $78 have been expended in renovating the interior of the Church at the Bethel appointment. The church now presents a very cheerful and attractive appearance.

The Territory of Oklahoma has, at this time, 6 Episcopal, 165 Methodist, 25 Baptist, 24 Congregational, 25 Catholic, and 24 Presbyterian churches. 3 Epworth Leagues, and 50 Christian Endeavor Societies.

President Helen A. Shafer, of Wellesley College, is the second woman in America to receive the honorary degree of LL.D., Maria Mitchell being the first.

The Methodists have labored twenty years in Japan, and have nearly 2,000 communicants, 1,700 average attendance at public services, and 1,450 children in Sunday Schools. A memorial has already come from the Japan Conference asking for complete autonomy. It is stated that the whole tendency of the churches in Japan is toward absolute self-government. The question is a very delicate one with all churches when that stage in their mission fields is reached.

BAPTIST.

THE BRADSHAW WILL CASE Mrs Bradshaw, the widow of a wealthy New Brunswick Baptist, has a suit in equity aiming at setting aside her late husband's disposition of his estate. Mr B gave large sums to Baptist Foreign Missions. The contention is that undue influence was used to induce him to make these gifts. It appears by the evidence in defence that Mr B provided liberally for all who had claims upon him and then disposed of the rest of his estate as he saw best. The Messenger & Visitor says: "The defendants only hope that all the facts may be ascertained by the court, and a just verdict given." No Church of Christ, no Foreign Mission Board, no charitable institution wishes to hold money unjustly, but when money is given to such institutions in trust they cannot renounce the responsibility of accepting it and using it as directed.

ALEXANDRIA, P. E. I.—Boylston church, N.S., has been enriched at the expense of Belfast, Uig and Alexandria which is now pastorless on account of Bro. Miles' removal to the former church. Our brother has always considered the work here too much for him; and prostrated by five or six weeks of severe illness this fall, hastened him to conclude to sever his connection with us. We had grave fears that the worry and labor of moving would be too much for our brother's health, and that he would be again unfitted for service. But God has been very gracious to him, giving him strength sufficient for his need. Sister Miles is very much missed, and every service seems to bring her back to our remembrance, as she had a voice of rare excellence and beauty which could always be detected in the singing of the congregation. Before leaving, our sister was presented with a purse containing $15—a gift from the sisters at Alexandria by whom she will be held in loving and continuous remembrance. Bro. Corey, of Charlottetown, gave us a feast on the 10th inst., and Bro. Kierstead, of Wolfville, is now holding some special services with us. Robert Jenkins, clerk. P. E. Island, Dec 21st.

A number of friends of Dason Scott, Kingsboro, P. E. I., met at his residence on New Year's evening and formed themselves into a genuine surprise party by presenting the worthy dæmon with an address accompanied by a purse containing over thirty dollars in cash. Deacon Scott in appropriate words, replied to the address, thanking the donors for their kindness in presenting him with such a generous and unexpected New Year's gift.

The Raw Cutting Wind. Bring to the surface every latent pain. A change of even a few degrees marks the difference between comfort and pain to many persons. Happily disease holds less sway. Science is continually bringing new remedies which successfully combat disease. Pilon's Nervine—nerve pain remedy—has proved the most successful pain remedy known. Its application is wide for it is equally efficient in all forms of pain whether internal or external 25c a bottle at all druggists.
