The Kirk In Assembly

(By Burning Bush in the Toronto Globe)

Peterboro, June 12 Benjamin Kidd states in his "Science of Power," that the world of tomorrow will be almost wholly moulded by our women. Woman at her highest and best, with her lofty spirit of idealism. The Women's Missionary Society has amazed the General Assembly by its onward march in the midst of difficulties. The secret of its continuous success seems to be in combining missionary education and systematic giving.

Miss Bessie MacMurchy, President of the Western Division, announced that their total contributions had been around $165,000. Most of the work is done by volunteer workers, who believe that missionary work is the greatest work in the world. The society is sending forth Miss Gertrude Mary Sherrick, B.A., of Weyburn, Sask., to teach in India. "We are breaking no new ground at present because of the deficit on our Church. Your work, said Miss MacMurchy, "is also ours, and we stand or fall together. We are following Jesus," she said, "following a long way off; still we are seeking to do our best."

Mrs. H. R. Horne of Regina, in describing the relief work that had been carried on in the dried-out areas of Southern Saskatchewan declared that the stricken settlers would never forget the gifts of the Church in the East. The kindly help in the day of trouble saved bodies and awakened souls. Despite all that the West had passed through, Mrs. Horne said, she would yield second place to none in her optimism and faith for the future. The Rev. S. J. McArthur of Moncton presented the W.M.S. (Eastern Division) report.

Three other missionaries who addressed the court were: Dr. Margaret O'Hara of India, Rev. D. E. McDonald of India, and Rev. David Marshall, formerly of British Guiana. Dr. Margaret O'Hara, who is a veteran physician of our mission in Central India, still retains her enthusiasm. A short time ago, when Queen's University honored her with an LL.D., it was remarked that she had three great loves—her college, her Empire and her Church—Queen's, the British Empire and the Presbyterian Church. The striking thing about all the missionary addresses was the ardent patriotism of the missionaries for the Motherland and all the distant portions of Empire.

Dr. Andrew S. Grant, the hero of the Trail of '98, presented the report of the Mission Board; the recommendations and discussion on the report will come up later. Among the recommendations endorsed by the board was that the minimum salary be retained at its present figure—$1,800 and a manse. Dr. J. S. Shortt, reporting for the special committee to consider the relation of the Senate and Board of Knox College, brought forward several suggestions. The personnel of the board would be reduced from thirty-six to twenty-five. Ten members of the Senate will also be members of the board. The faculty would require to meet at least once a month and must adopt a uniform system of marking. Members of the Senate shall have equal voice with the board in nominating new professors or a Principal. An effort has been made by the committee to do away with all friction as to relative jurisdiction. The special committee has been continued and the report of their labors will now go to Presbyteries for consideration before next Assembly.

Recruits for Ministry Another special committee to report was that of Recruits for the Ministry. Rev. John McNab, in presenting the report, stated that the outlook was very bright as many excellent young men were preparing to enter our colleges. The committee exhorted all ministers to encourage young men to undertake the ministry as a lifework. The first of a series of pamphlets on the Christian ministry will be prepared by Prof. W. W. Bryden of Knox, and will, in all probability, be issued this autumn. The committee was reappointed by the Assembly.

The Communion service in St. Paul's Church will remain a fragrant memory for all who were present. The sacred spirit of that hour enriched by the beauty of the Moderator's prayer, was an incentive to harmony and peaceful fellowship. The action sermon by Dr. George Ross was most fitting, and various elders selected from sections of Canada assisted in the service. At the opening of the morning session two business men in the Assembly Mr. Donald Nicholson and Mr. E. W. McNeill, moved that the General Assembly send greetings to the Economic Conference opening in London today. The prayer that God's richest blessing may rest upon that gathering was sent forward through the Governor-General.

The Board of Administration occupied the attention of the Commissioners for several hours. Mr. E. W. McNeill gave a clear and concise statement of the financial position of the Church. It was a most reassuring message. Mr. McNeill said that the financial position of the Presbyterian Church is better today than it was a year ago. Assets have improved, and although the year's current operations showed a deficit, the receipts from all sources had reduced the deficit throughout 1932. The securities of the Church in the pension and other funds had all been handled, examined and valued a few weeks ago. And the market rating, as listed by an outside firm of reliable auditors, showed that the present value of our investments of $644,000 had only depreciated to $639,000. A wonderful example of Scottish thrift and sagacity in these days of dwindling securities.

Mr. James Dutton of Peterboro, on behalf of the board, was received with the same cordiality as he showed that economy of administration had featured their operations for the year. The present Church offices had been re-engaged at a most substantial saving, the rental had been lowered to such an extent that the value was equal to any other situation that was considered. The officials of the church and the office staff had voluntarily agreed to return 10 per cent of their salaries to the Church funds.

Toronto, in its centennial year, is to be the meeting place of the Assembly. Knox Church Session extended the invitation. Dr. John Inker stated that he wished to request the highest court of Presbyterianism to forgo their in Toronto during the centenary year of 1934. Every phase and aspect of the history of that great city will be presented in pageant form; and why not have a great religious gathering as the central thing of our civic and national life? Rev. George M. Dunn urged that the Assembly of 1934 be present at this festival. The motion to accept Toronto's gracious invitation, which was accompanied by a letter from Mayor W. J. Stewart, was adopted unanimously.

Henry Ford On Official Visit LONDON, Ont., June 15.—Coming here on a flying visit, Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, visited the local Ford showrooms to view a 1904 model Ford car, and wound up by demonstrating the selling points of his new Ford V-8 to customers in the showrooms. Accompanied only by his secretary, Mr. Ford reached London at dusk and stopped over night at the Hotel London. Rising early, he visited the plant of Middlesex Motors, Limited, and was off again to his job at his Dearborn, Mich., laboratories before hundreds of business men were at their desks. At the hotel after breakfast, Mr. Ford met J. D. Isaacs, president of the local Ford dealership, who told him of the 1904 Model Ford, one of the earliest Fords manufactured in Canada, which was on display at the local showrooms. Interested in the old model, Mr. Ford hurried off to see it. He has two other cars of the same model at his Dearborn museum. After examining the old car, Mr. Ford toured the entire plant. In the Service garage he chatted with the mechanics and gave them a few pointers to help them in their work on the new model. He talked with the sales staff, gave them a word of encouragement and told them what he considered the strong selling points of the car. Turning away, Mr. Ford found two customers examining the new V-8 car. He showed the car to them personally and demonstrated its features, paying particular attention to the V-8 engine, with its aluminum head, and emphasizing its power, flexibility and economy. Then after a half hour at the plant he stepped into his own Ford and whirled away. While in London Mr. Ford expressed great interest in Western Ontario farming. He said he was planning to stop at a cheese factory on the way home to see how the famous Canadian cheese is made and to sample the product first hand.

LIARS

"Folks," said the locally trained missionary, "the subject of my sermon this evening is 'Liars.' How many in the congregation has done read the 69th chapter of Matthew? Nearly every hand in the audience was raised. "Dat's right," he said. "You just the folks I want to preach to. Dere is no 69th chapter of Matthew."

THEATRES TAKE HOLIDAY

LONDON, June 15.—(C. P.)—Twenty-one suburban and provincial theatres have been closed for a month or six weeks by the Moss Empires and General Theatres Corporation, and the Victoria Palace, where the programmes are controlled by the same company, have been shut for a similar period.

This is bad for variety artists and travelling actors, but not so serious for them as turning most of the theatres into cinemas, as was contemplated at one time by some of the directors, would have been. After refitting and redecoration it is proposed to re-open all these theatres no later than July or August.

Motor boating has once again become popular in our harbour, a number of sea lovers have forsaken their cars, and have taken to motor boat sailing which is a more healthy and joyous entertainment, no dust, punctures or blowouts to worry about, except only for a nice swim if anything seriously should happen. To those whom have never had the pleasure or opportunity of a sail, can little imagine the beauty and romance there is to be found in it, for instance take a moonlight excursion, either in a motor boat or on that good ship the S. S. Harland, of which I understand there is to be one on the latter shortly, a great number have already taken these trips, and all have returned feeling a hundred per cent better than they did before leaving, and why shouldn't they, for they have breathed in that sea air which cannot be equalled for health giving qualities and for which thousands in much larger cities would forsake and sacrifice almost anything to enjoy. Watch for the advertisement through this paper for the first moonlight excursion for which plans are now under way.

Muriel—Perfect happiness for a girl means getting the man she wants. Madge—Do you think so? I should have said it means getting the man some other girl wants.

Eye Comfort

for eye workers is a matter of vital importance.

From early morn to late at night we "crowd" our eyes relentlessly, from one job to another.

How long will they stand it? Are you now enjoying that efficiency and comfort which ought to be yours?

Consult us if you are not: You have much to gain, and nothing to lose.

In any case the knowledge gained from an examination, makes it well worth while.

G. F. HUTCHESON OPTOMETRIST

Irish Villagers Will Honor Goat Known as "Plucky"

KILLORGLIN, Ireland, June 15.—(C. P.)—The rolling, heather-clad hills surrounding Killorglin are being combed for the largest of myriad goats which ramble freely and quantitatively in this corner of Ireland. For this little town, probably the only place in the world which pays tribute to the scavenging animal, is preparing for its annual enthronement of Mr. Goat, alias "puck."

Tradition has it that Cromwell's Ironsides once marched across these lofty summits intending to attack Killorglin town. But their glittering shields reflecting the sunlight sent a pack of wandering goats stampeding through the streets and warned the townfolk of approaching danger. The defence prepared, surprised the attackers and frustrated their plans.

Since then puck, as the goat is called here, has been venerated by an annual fair in his honor. Early in August the largest goat procurable is enthroned on the public square upon a platform gay with evergreens and bunting. Emerald ribbons flutter from his horns and surrounded by the food most to his taste, he reigns for three days.

For miles around all roads lead to Killorglin, Killarney, near by, sends its quota of tourists from many lands. Money is freely spent; every house becomes a hotel.

Each night Puck's throne is illuminated with colored lights and the people join in merry dancing. Late on the evening of the third day puck is taken from his platform by a group of stalwart young fellows, headed by the town bell man, and is carried from door to door while tributes is demanded from each inhabitant. The goat is then auctioned off by the bell man. All expenses involved by "his majesty's" reign are paid for out of the fund thus collected and the remainder given to the town bell man.
