TUNNEY NOT TO RETIRE, SAYS BOXING IS IN PERIL

Says The Padded Mitt Game Is Going To The Dogs.—Filled With Dirty, Sordid Politics And Most Of Fighters Are Involved Mostly As Instruments.

SPECULATOR, N. Y., July 23.—Thugs and political gangs have taken control of boxing. We know almost a general public conviction, that the influence behind the whole Gene Tunney, in training here for sport of New York is political. The defense of his heavyweight "I know who is to blame and I am championship title against Tom Heenev, says in his quiet, forceful and convincing way that he is not preparing for his last fight. He not only denies that he is to retire after he collects another half million dollars for his July 28 engagement, but he tells you in the next breath of his purpose to keep a string of regular employed sparring partners in the future. He admits that it is impossible to keep his fighting equipment in the proper condition with only one contest a year and he reaches the conclusion that as economic conditions will permit of more than one York. One of them said Paul Ber-major contest a year he will have to box regularly with sparring partners. "Why should I retire?" he shot at the writer when the subject was brought up. "Well, you don't like the racket. You have plenty of money and you don't have to do anything you don't like." "The question of not liking the business doesn't enter into it," he said. "No man in the business likes the men who say they like it are crazy. And if they do like it they look far to see examples." In a clever and subtle way that could be repeated only by a direct reporter could note, Tunney, intimated his belief that to get away from the business he might not have to retire and that the business might retire away from him. "How long do you think boxing will last?" he asked. "It seems to be going along on its own momentum and getting away with everything but murder." "Murder, that's just what it may come to and then we'll see," Tunney cut in. "Some of these days a referee or a judge will be killed and then we will see where the business is. The game, as they call it, is now filled with dirty, sordid politics and most of the fighters are involved mostly as instruments.

CROP REPORT all crops continue to make excellent progress. A few districts in Northern Saskatchewan, which while not suffering, could do with the hot dry weather of the some rain but generally reports past week which prevailed through-out would indicate that there is ample moisture, and that only warm weather is needed until the crop is harvested. All districts in Alberta report excellent crop prospects, there being no weeds in summer fallow crops is reported in the districts around Verigin to Humboldt, but not to any serious extent.

A few local districts through Manitoba and Saskatchewan reports places the damage is heavy to the individual farmer yet the acreage is not great and will not materially affect the crop on the whole. While weather conditions at the present time are favorable for the development of rust and dry weather for the next couple of weeks trouble from this source will be pretty well over. Present indications are that harvest will commence at least two weeks earlier than last year. Haying is now in full swing and is reported as being an excellent crop in all districts. Summer fallow is practically completed and there has also been a large acreage of new land brought under cultivation owing to the favorable conditions for breaking.

WRIGHT AND GUEST SMASH RECORD

(Special to the Guardian) AMSTERDAM, Holland, July 23.—Alderman Joe Wright would not speak to the King if he met him today. Why? Because Joe Wright Jr., and his rowing partner, Jack Guest, today broke the world's double scull record for 2,000 metres made in 1920 by Kelly and Costello at the Antwerp Olympiad. The Canadians clipped five seconds from the record, rowing 6.51 at Sloten and finishing fresh. The winning time for this distance at the 1924 Olympiad was hung up by Kelly and Costello in 7 minutes and 13 seconds.

Dempsey Picks Heenev To Win

FAIRHAVEN, N. J., July 23.—"Heenev, in my opinion, has better than even chance of defeating Gene Tunney. It will take a superman to knock him out." That was Jack Dempsey speaking this afternoon. The former champion attracted a crowd of upwards of 2,000 to the Rumson Farm Kennels. He watched the challenger flounder through four rounds of boxing, while left and rights bounced off his chin like hail hitting a tin roof. Heenev, in the judgment of experts, looked off color in his two rounds with James J. Braddock, but seemed to find range against James J. Lawless, who boxed the last two rounds. Dempsey continued: "He looks to be in great shape. He is strong and rugged, and presently has lots of stamina. He can take a punch and also punch hard. If you can do that, you've got a chance."
