That Body of Yours

By James W. Barber, M.D. REST AND QUIETNESS THE YOUNGSTER'S GREATEST NEED

A mother consulted a children's specialist because her 8 months' old child had her up in the night every 15 or 20 minutes, and the amount of sleep during the day was not more than an hour. The youngster was pale, thin, restless, and had no appetite.

icient amount or the wrong kind of food; children who are below weight are especially likely to develop nervous systems. In addition there may be local causes of restlessness or sleeplessness at night such as too many or not enough bedclothes, an unventilated or poorly ventilated room, and noises of various kinds.

Road Meeting At Bridgetown

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting was held in the hall at Bridgetown on the evening of March 31. Mr. C. B. Clay was appointed chairman and Mr. Bentley Creed, Secretary of the meeting.

both. We have no alternative means for travel, or for transportation of produce, and must depend entirely on our dirt roads; which in turn reflect the moods of nature in such a way that for a great part of the year a journey from home is an unpleasant adventure.

ions committee consisting of Bentley Creed, Joseph Campbell and Walter Burdett, who, after consultation presented the following resolutions: Moved by Joseph Campbell, seconded by L. S. Hunter.
