

PRICE OF FURS TO BE AFFECTED BY EUROPEAN WAR

While the war in Europe has already raised the prices of many articles which are imported from the Continent, women in America will feel the effects of the increased prices in many ways. This is the season when the wholesale furriers are busy with projects for the winter trade, and they are already experiencing the effects of the increased prices. Large quantities of native furs are sent over to Germany to be used, principally in the great market of Leipzig. The furs will have to be worn in natural colors or dyed by other methods. The Germans have been doing this so well, and so cheaply that they have practically controlled the trade. American chemists will now be given an opportunity to test their ingenuity, and whatever is done must be done at once.

Silver Black and Patched foxes supplied for companies and private ranches at reasonable prices. For sure and prolific breeders and high quality of fur it is doubtful if Ontario Foxes have any superiors and equals.

"If you want to get a good close shave without that stinging, burning after the shave, try Euthymol Shaving Cream. Of course a dull razor has a lot to do with the discomfort of shaving, but most of the trouble is caused by poor lather. Euthymol Shaving Cream makes a rich creamy lather. TO BRING OUT OF THE WORTH OF THE POULTRY YARD.

Come farmers and housewives We drop you a line And so that you'll read it We'll put it in rhyme, We bring to the notice Of you and all men The possible worth of The Old Barn Yard hen.

The worth of the New Barn Yard Hens we might say, The care and attendance They soon will repay, Clean feeding, clean breeding, Clean business all through, To prove it still further We leave it to you.

Of course there are many Who know this right well, But those who do not are The folks we would tell, There's a Movement on foot We invite you to share The prospects are good And the profits are fair.

The outlay is small With tried instructions To guide and to guard, Instructions for all that The poultry yards need Preparing for market And what best to feed.

A Son of Old England Brings this to view, He knew by experience What poultry could do Brought wise heads together To think out the plan A co-operative work Dealing fair with each man.

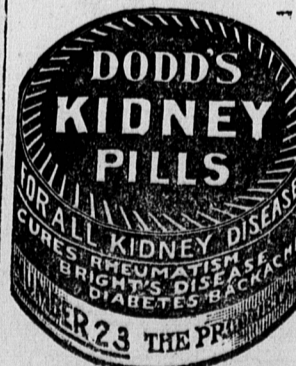

An Organization So ingeniously planned No chink where a cheat Might sit or might stand The Egg Circle Movement The business is named 'Tis spreading already And soon will be famed.

We have given but hints, Of this new improved way To clean up the egg trade And make it still pay Each member a stamp With two numbers on One for his circle The other his own.

The eggs then all stamped To their destiny run This protects from confusion In finding each one If one by mistake Ships an egg that's unsound When it reaches the candle There it will be found.

Deduction for that much Be kept back for this Return reports telling, Just what was amiss, Then the buyer pays cash Without fear of his fate Likewise the consumer Good eggs on his plate.

When this move is planted All over the land Made acquainted and granted A greater demand Opposition may crumble And sceptics may talk

The child now is creeping But soon it will walk.

Oppositions may canvas And do all they can To hinder the work Of a far better plan, But leave them alone Until they find out To their own disadvantage

What they're about, Then our merchants not robbed still May stand on their pegs when we give The money we get for the eggs. L. H. Kings County.

Manager—We'll play "Hamlet" tonight. Star—Good gracious. Then I ought to get a shave and I haven't a real cent. Manager—Never mind, then, we'll do "Othello."—Fleegende Blatter.

THE MYSTIC BIRD AT B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE, BOSTON

One of the most startling and marvelous novelties ever brought to this country from Europe is promised for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week in "The Mystic Bird," a wonderful German canary that sings songs to the accompaniment of the violin played by its owner and master, Master Paul. "The Mystic Bird" has created more discussion and talk than any other novelty ever brought to America. Nothing just like it has ever been seen upon an American stage. The question that the auditors carry away in their minds, after seeing and hearing this wonderful bird sing songs to the accompaniment of Master Paul, is "Is it real, by a bird or some new creature never before seen by man." "The Mystic

"Bird" will positively appear for one week only at B. F. Keith's Theatre. This remarkable feature will be surrounded by a wonderful bill of headliners. John C. Rice and Sally Cohen, farceurs supreme of the American stage, will appear in their latest comedy sketch, "A Bachelor's Wife," and Raymond and Caverly, the wizards of joy, who have not been seen in Boston in many years, will return with a brand new repertoire of funnyisms. Other strong features will be Col. Sam Holdsworth and Joseph Norcross, the world's oldest living minstrels, with a combined age total of 160 years young; Holdsworth has a clear tenor voice, while Norcross is an excellent bass; James Diamond and Sibil Brennan in "Nonsense," Doc O'Neil, the merry wag, with his original laugh prescription; the Three Jordan Girls, an exceptionally comely trio of wire artists; and other features yet to be announced.
