For those afflicted with

ASTHMA

THERE IS A REMEDY!

It is not an experiment; not a complicated treatment, or a snuff or gargle, herb-smoke or serum, but a small capsule filled with

RAZ-MAH

You swallow it like any other medicine in capsule form. It is guaranteed to restore normal breathing, stop mucus gathering in nasal and bronchial passages, assure long nights of quiet sleep. Costs $1.00. Get free trial from our agents, or write Templetons Limited, Toronto, Ont.
Sold by Reddin Bros.

—COAL LADEN.—The schooner J. H. Ernest, Capt. Grady, arrived here Saturday with a cargo of coal from Picou—H.

—BAD ROADS.—The country roads are in a very bad condition these mild days. Of the large number of shippers here on Saturday, most of them arrived by train as travelling conditions by team or motor cars for any distance, is very unfavorable owing to mud.—H.

—PRODUCE LADEN.—The schooner Marlin, Capt. Olson, has completed loading produce and cleared on Monday for Halifax. The cargo consists of about 3000 bushels of potatoes, with a deck load of 400 bushels turnips and several tons pressed hay.—H.

—HOGG MURPHY WEDDING.

An interesting event took place at the Manse, Kensington, on Wednesday Nov. 9th, when J. Herbert Hogg of Kelvin, and Mrs. Laura Waller Murphy of Regina, Sask., were united in the holy bonds of Matrimony. They were unattended. Rev. T. W. Goodwill tied the nuptial knot. Immediately after the ceremony was performed they motored to Mr. Hogg's home, where a magnificent reception was tendered them by their many friends among whom they are deservedly popular. Congratulations.

—FOR SALE—Extra quality for fish, sundried, skins off, sundried, skins on. Green made in salt. Will prepay freight to any station to parties that will club and order 200 lbs. or more. Write or telephone James England, Travelers' Rest, P. E. I.

—LOADED WITH PRODUCE.—Mr. Lessie Straight, Murray's Corner, N. B. owner and Capt. of the gasoline boat Experiment, entered here on Saturday, he brought over 300 bushels milling wheat for grinding, also a quantity of junk. On his return trip home he took a full load consisting of a quantity of supplies and the product of his wheat which was ground by Robinson's rolling process.—H.

—DEATH OF PETER HARRINGTON, KENSINGTON.—The many friends and acquaintances of Mr. Harrington were shocked to hear of his sudden death on Friday last from paralysis, at the age of fifty-eight years. He leaves a wife and large family. His funeral will not take place till after his daughters, Mrs. Berry and Miss Maud arrive from the Canadian West, which is expected to be on Monday evening. K.

—ESCAPEE OF ONE KENSINGTON FOX.—One morning last week while Mr. Sydney Webster was engaged in the simple occupation of milking a cow in a stable on the Malpeque Road, the (necessarily) simple train of his thoughts received a very sudden jolt which instantly set it (the train of thought) in an entirely different direction. A small black animal of the Genus Vulpes walked leisurely through the door of the stable and began to explore the interior. Mr. Webster, who has lately returned from Colorado, and is not familiar with the sight of the silver black beauties, received a warning shout from his brother Harry, who had seen the fox enter the stable door. The door was quickly closed and the valuable prize quickly corralled. He belonged to Mr. Galbeck, and had escaped from the Ed Urch ranch, now owned by Chelmsford McLeod. He left a trail of murder and pillage during his rambles through the neighbor's chicken coups on his short reprieve from captivity. Tom Gorman was set back to the extent of two nice ducks and Jimmie Braham a newly purchased five dollar rooster. K.

—Mr. Andrew Casely, of Nelson, B.C., visited his home in Kensington on the occasion of the death of his father, Henry J. Casely. Mr. Casely is a conductor on the Crow's Nest Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway. He left on return to Nelson on Monday morning. K.

Harry Thaw Made Martin Famous

PARIS, Nov. 21.—Louis Martin for many years famous as a New York restaurateur, dropped dead on the station platform at Englien. When Harry K. Thaw selected Madison Square Garden as the scene for the shooting of Stanford White he died at Martin's first. The day after murder every newspaper told how Thaw had dined at one of Martin's tables with his wife and a party of friends, and glared at White, sitting with his son across the room. The Martin brothers made the most of the publicity and the name of the restaurant became fixed in millions of minds.

Louis Martin branched out for himself just before the Delmonico site was given up because the owners of the buildings decided to tear it down. He opened a place at Broadway and Fortieth street, but after running it for about a year put the shutters up. For the last half dozen years he had lived in France. His last business venture was a restaurant which he had opened at Englien since the war.

RECENT FIRES

PRAYER FOR WORLD PEACE

The following call to serious study and earnest prayer was prepared at the request of the Annual Meeting of the General Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the Methodist Church:

To the Ministers and Adherents of the Methodist Church:

The world stands again at the parting of the ways. The invitation of the President of the United States to the great powers to join in Conference on the problems of World Peace brings home to all of us the critical condition of international relations. The Great War has left the world still bleeding through every pore. Manhood is still being trained on a wholesale scale for war. Material resources are still being diverted from the arts of peace to the work of mutual destruction. Armies and navies still impose ponderous burdens of taxation on peoples already staggering under the cost of the war. Energies of mind and heart, urgently needed to solve the problems of world reorganization, are still being diverted into channels developing suspicious between nations. The situation is intolerable, and will compel serious determination either by explosion in war or by resolution into constructive discussion.

At this time the Church of Christ finds itself under special obligation to liberate the pent-up spiritual energies energies of the human heart reinforcing them by intense communion with God. The minds of statesmen, who have been obsessed with the routine international relations, will be refreshed and fortified by a mighty spiritual movement among peoples. Our task, as the organic representatives of Jesus Christ, is to ensure that this need is not lacking.

The world now demands the institution and speedy reduction of armaments as the guarantee of the leading powers, the means of the peaceful solution of the intricate and persistent problems now threatening peace.

We therefore invite our members and people during the continuance of the Conference to cooperate to the promotion of World Peace, every agency and opportunity of prayer and discussion.

S. D. Chown, Gen. Superintendent, T. Albert Moore, Gen. Secretary, Toronto, November 11, 1921.
