MORE TEA FOR YOUR TEAPOT

What could be a more appropriate bearer of good news than the good old family teapot. The Ration Board says the tea supply for Canada has so much improved that we can now enjoy a half-pound every six weeks instead of every eight. The millions of Canadians who prefer 'SALADA' have just cause for rejoicing.

Cowboy Star in Exciting Drama

Johnny Mac Brown, one of the screen's most popular western stars, comes to the Empire Theatre today in "The Stranger from Pecos," the Monogram western drama in which he is starred, with Raymond Hatton in a featured role. Christine McIntyre plays the leading feminine part, and the cast also includes Kirby Grant, Steve Clark, Sam Flint, Roy Barcroft, Robert Frazer, Edmund Cobb, Charles King, Bud Osborne and Artie Ortega. Lambert Hillyer directed for Producer Scott R. Dunlap and the original screenplay was written by Jess Bowers.

"Wildcat," Oil Film, Brings in Gusher of Action, Thrills

Whirlwind action, thrilling episodes, skillful comedy and heart-warming romance, in a story of the exciting battle for the world's much-needed oil, make Paramount's "Wildcat" outstanding movie entertainment.

The new film, which stars Richard Arlen and pretty Arline Judge and features William Frawley, Larry "Buster" Crabbe, Arthur Hunnicutt and Elisha Cook, Jr. opens today at the Capitol Theatre.

Richard Arlen, the hero of the new piece, is a wildcatter who finds oil, buys the property it's on, and, with his young underfoot partner, Elisha Cook, Jr., starts drilling to beat out a rival outfit in bringing in the first gusher, for which a big cash money prize is offered. Sabotage by rivals causes Cook's death. Posing as Arlen's dead partner's sister, Arline Judge turns up in the scheme by a professional gambler, William Frawley, who contributes many heavy comedy touches in his role. Arline, falling in love with Arlen, can't go through with her original plan to victimize Arlen. Instead, she works her way out of bringing in the gusher and then saves his life by helping him put out the flames when a couple of rival wildcat sets on fire by the disgruntled rivals. The oil-freighting scene is one of the most exciting this reviewer has ever seen.

For red-hot thrills and all-around rattling good movie entertainment, we most heartily recommend "Wildcat."

Mess Room Chatter

Canteen Press Staff Writer

WITH THE R. C. A. F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Sept. 7. (CP)—Down in Coastal Command the making of a great green name for themselves and one of the up-and-coming squadrans is a Hampden outfit commanded by Wing Commander R. A. F. (Ridley Ave.) Belleville, Ont. His parents live at Hamiota, Man.

On the day that one of his planes fought a battle with six enemy fighters, Rutlan himself brought an enemy submarine to a standstill by dropping depth charges when the server spotted the underwater boat on the surface. The Canadian crew were around to see the destruction of the submarine by a Liberator of Coastal Command.

An action in which R. A. F. Whitehead and his crew destroyed enemy E-boats off the British coast was spotted at Group Headquarters by Queen Mary. The Queen was shown around the operations room by the office commanding Air Vice-marshal R. Steele, D.F.C., and later, as she was taking tea in the canteen, she was told of the "Whirlwind's" success.

One story coming back from Sicily is about "Spitfire" Spitfire, this particular one, is a lady, and much-travelled. She is a little half-grown brown and white pup, mascot of the Spitfire squadron, commanded by Sqdn. Ldr. George Hill, D.F.C. and bar, of Picton, N. S., who used to fly from a base in Wales. The boys picked her up in Algeria during the squadron's days in North Africa and the ground crew's look her with them to Sicily by boat.

Only R. C. A. F. aircrew member with an R. A. F. Catalina squadron in the Mediterranean is Sgt. G. Wright who was forced to fill prescriptions at the corner drug store in Liverpool, N. S. He is a navigator and has helped Russian generals across the top of the world. He navigated the aircraft which took Sir Stafford Cripps from London to Russia and the plane which carried the Russian general Golekoff. Wright was on the first aerial reconnaissance of Spitzbergen.

Three Westerners qualified for membership in the Caterpillar Club when they were forced to jump from their flak-stricken bomber as it circled their fog-bound airbase. Hoping to get down safely the pilot flew in circles until his petrol was gone but with the field fog-bound the plane was too badly damaged after its trip to Colchester to attempt landing.

The Canadian paratroopers were Sgts. Ray Burgess of Nelson, B. C., De Mufford of Picton, N. S., B.C., and Jm Bell of Edmonton.

"There wasn't much of a sensation," said Burgess, skipper and last to leave the aircraft, pulled the ripcord as soon as I felt the air whizzing past.

The boys fly with the Canadian Bomber Group.

P.C. Gordon Barnholden of Moose Jaw, bomb-aimer in a Canadian squadron led by Wing Cmdr. Don Smith of Preston, Ont., came back from Essen with the story of an Allied bomber that never reached the target but made its destructive power felt anyway. It was set on fire by flak but as it crashed in flames it hit an enemy freight train and caused two terrific explosions.

P.C. Norm Macnussen of St. Vital, Man., and Sgt. Chuck Wilford of Blairmore, Alta., flying with Barnholden, also saw the crash.

Trish moss found in the water off the North Atlantic coast is used in puddings, medicines, cosmetics and lotions.

Wool Prices

Discussing wool prices at a recent meeting of the Ottawa Valley Sheep Breeder's Association, Dr. G. S. H. Barton, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, reminded the breeders that some of their production costs are now lower than they were in 1926-27, that an advance of even a cent a pound in the price of lamb represents much greater increase in the price of wool, and group of live stock producers who have some assurance of continuity of price for their product after the war.

PRACTICAL HELP TO LOCAL FARMERS

"Will there be a field day on the Illustration Station this year?" asked a farmer in the Eastern Townships of Quebec of the Supervisor of Illustration Stations at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Lennoxville, Quebec. When told there would be, the farmer said "Last year from information given me at the Illustration Station I visited I put it into practice which saved me $14 and my son $26. The previous year, in following another recommendation, I have been successful in increasing my field of turnips to 38 tons. You know we would like to have more such days when farmers could find the means to make from $15 to $20 clear."

There were 222 projects or phases of farm work under study on the 161 Illustration Stations and District Experimental Stations throughout the Dominion in 1942, and during the year 148 field days were held when nearby farmers visited the Stations, with a total attendance of about 16,398 persons, or an average of 131 per meeting. Neighbouring farmers can visit the Stations at any time to observe how the projects suitable to their own districts are progressing. The work is developed and directed from the Division of Illustration Stations at the Central Farm, Ottawa, and from the various Dominion Experimental Farms.
