CONSULATE AT RIGA, RUSSIA.

The accompanying picture gives an excellent idea of one of Uncle Sam's headquarters in the Czar's domain. PEOPLE ARE ASTOUNDED.

At a Wonderful Cure of Dropsy in Newfoundland by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

SCILLY COVE, NEWFOUNDLAND, April 11—(Special)—Trinity Bay District is astounded at the wonderful cure of the little son of William French of this place. He had Dropsy so bad that he was swelled from head to foot. The doctor said tapping was the only course left, but his kidneys were too far gone for that to be of any use.

Mr. French and his wife watched by the bed for thirty nights expecting death at any hour. As a last resort they started to give the little fellow Dodd's Kidney Pills. The result was a joyful surprise, for the boy soon showed improvement and after taking five boxes is now as strong and hearty as ever he was.

People here were convinced that no case of Dropsy is too far gone for Dodd's Kidney Pills to cure.

DEMONSTRATION AGAINST WAR.

There are rumors of great discontent in Russia and working men have made several demonstrations against the war.

The loss of Makaroff has caused consternation here. The Admiralty had chosen another Admiral to co-operate with him owing to his recklessness.

The Grand Duchess Vladimir received a telegram this morning from her son, Grand Duke Cyril, stating that his wounds were not severe.

Mr. A. J. McDonald would like to know why the many of the fine trees were to be destroyed. It would appear as if the road would go through the Government House garden.

Mr. McLean wanted to know how much land would be taken in and Mr. Hughes replied about 12 acres.

The House resolved itself into committee with Mr. Godkin in the chair.

Mr. McKinnon quoted the statute that notice of the vesting of any public lands to any corporation must be given four weeks in the Royal Gazette and also in one newspaper.

Hon. Mr. Peters said this notice was not at all necessary in the present case. The property could be given by an Order in Council alone.

Hon. Mr. Gordon thought many of the prospective governors, some of whom were within his sight, should protest against the Government land being cut up.

After further discussion progress was reported and leave asked to sit again. In the meantime the proposed road will be staked out for the benefit of the members of the legislature.

An act to incorporate the Island Tug Co was read a second time and referred to a committee of the whole with Dr Douglas in the chair.

The bill provides that J A Farquharson, William Henry Atken, Thomas Kiekham, Frederick W Hyndman and Benjamin Rogers, and every such person or persons as shall from time to time become proprietors of shares in the Corporation hereby established their successors and assigns shall be and they are thereby constituted and declared to be a body corporate by the name of "The Island Tug Company."

The bill was reported agreed to and set down for third reading tomorrow.

Bills to incorporate J D Laphorn & Co Ltd, and to amend the act providing for the incorporation of chess and butter manufacturing associations were read a third time and passed.

Hon. Mr. Rogers submitted the following resolution. Resolved: That it is expedient to introduce a bill to prevent the sale or offering for sale of live hogs or dead carcases of hogs that have been allowed to feed upon fish or fish offal and that such bill may provide for fines and penalties to be imposed upon persons found guilty of such sale, &c.

Hon. Mr. Rogers spoke of the practice referred to which was prevalent in some places. Complaints have been received of the disagreeable flavor given to Island ham and bacon in consequence of this. The amendment to the domestic animals act last year partly provided against this but not wholly so.

ADMIRAL MOLAS KILLED.

Admiral Molas was among those killed on the Petropavlovsk. At the moment of the explosion an Aide shouted to Grand Duke Cyril to jump into the sea. The Aide was killed. Grand Duke Vladimir's physician left tonight for Port Arthur to attend Grand Duke Cyril.

ADMIRAL MOLAS KILLED.

The disaster has stunned the city, and the loss of Admiral Makaroff is felt to be a more severe blow than the loss of the ship. The consternation far exceeds that produced by the initial misfortunes of the war. The Russians are an emotional people and officials as well as public undigestedly wept when they heard the news of which they only speak now in trembling voices.

It is characteristic of Russia that while the catastrophe was known early in the day in Imperial and official quarters, the news only percolated slowly through the aristocratic and middle classes during the day and did not reach the populace at all until evening when the newspapers were authorized to issue special editions.

PEOPLE HORROR-STRIKEN.

The news caused great emotion in the streets. People struggled to obtain copies of the papers, the illiterate grouping themselves around anybody who would read aloud. The impression generally produced was that of gloom rather than excitement. The police ordered all restaurants closed at nine o'clock as a token of mourning and the people as that hour went sorrowfully to their homes.

Funeral services for those who lost their lives on the Petropavlovsk will be held in the morning in the Chapel of the Admiralty. The Czar will attend. Fetes in honor of the survivors of the Varlag and Korietz, which were sunk at Chemulpo, have been cancelled.

SHIPS TURNED TURTLE.

According to the latest information it was while preparing to draw up a line of battle in the outer roadstead that the Petropavlovsk struck a mine on her starboard side amidship, and immediately began to heel. Before the crew could flood the port compartments of the vessel in order to keep her on an even keel she turned turtle and sank in a few minutes carrying down almost the entire crew.

Capt. N. Jakovlaff, the Grand Duke Cyril and two other officers were saved because they were standing on the upper bridge.

The frightful loss of life among the officers and men were due to the fact that they all were at their stations ready for action. The Petropavlovsk turned turtle
