FALL OF BOLSHEVIK GOVERNMENT A VITAL NECESSITY FOR RUSSIA

PARIS, May 9.—Vladimir Bourzoff, the famous Russian revolutionary, on arriving at Stockholm after a perilous journey through Finland, said, according to dispatches from a correspondent at Stockholm, that the fall of the Maximalists was a most vital necessity for Russia as at present only a newly-organized Government was capable of saving Russia. It must be composed of democrats and cadets, either under the presidency of Milluander such a Government will peace with Ukraine be possible and the struggle against Germany will be resumed by both Bourzoff and Kerensky declaring it was his feebleness which delivered the country into the hands of the Maximalists, and praised Kerensky, against whom Kerensky declared war. Bourzoff is coming to Paris in three weeks, where he will resume publication of the newspaper he edited here before the revolution. His programme will be the overthrow of the Maximalists, and following this, the resumption of hostilities against Germany.

Uneasiness Felt In Germany

LONDON, May 9.—There is grave uneasiness in Germany over the news from the east, where apparently the Germans shortly will be confronted with overwhelming difficulties. That will shatter the whole fabric of the East-Prussian peace, says an Amsterdam despatch to the Daily Express. From Finland to the Ukraine there is ever-increasing opposition to German oppression.

Vienna reports, it is added, that most of the Ukrainian crops were rather starve than feed the Germans.

STOCKHOLM, May 9.—The Swedish legation at Berlin reports an amendment to the German prize regulations, effective immediately. It provides that neutral vessels shall be considered to have been put into operation in the interests of the enemy if, before the outbreak of the war, the vessels are made a tonnage contract with an enemy country or when the principal part of the merchant marine of a neutral state is making voyage for the enemy.

Doing His Bit

Mrs. Joseph P. Doyle, Glenarry, has received the following letter from her son in France:

Some where in France, April 7th, 1918. Dear Mother, I suppose you have been worried at not hearing from me for so long, but I am feeling fine, and when you do not hear from me for a few weeks do not worry, for it only means that we are moving and it is impossible to send mail.

We have been at the front for about two months, and I do not know how soon we go back for a rest, but hope soon. I suppose you know what the Germans are getting this spring. Well, it certainly looks as if they will soon quit, and I think we will be home this autumn. I answered Jim McDonald's last letter, and I hope he finds time to answer. I have not heard from Joe for several weeks.

It is lovely and warm here now, but it was very cold when we first moved into the trenches. We are living in a dugout. I suppose you can hardly realize what a dugout is like. One half the company is not the firing line at present and the other half, of which I am one, is about one mile from the first, concealed in a woods. We are in a valley, and the Germans hold a high range of hills, above us, giving them an advantage. It is wonderful the way they tunnel into the mountain. I slept in one that would house about six thousand men. It was very comfortable even having electric lights in it. The Germans certainly laid waste a lot of nice country and destroyed many nice churches over here.

I guess there is nothing too horrible for them to do. Tell Dan to write and answer soon. Love to all, from your loving son.

A. E. DOYLE, Sergt. American Expedition Force, France.

PRINCE SIXTUS PAYS VISIT TO KING ALFONSO

LONDON, May 6.—Prince Sixtus, of Bourbon-Parma, to whom the famous letter written by Emperor Charles, containing an offer of peace to France, was addressed, The Times says, visited King Alfonso of Spain on Monday, according to The Madrid Sol. He was accompanied by his brother, Prince Xavier, and the Spanish newspaper understands that he gave to King Alfonso explanations on the subject of his correspondence with his Habsburg relatives. (His sister Zita is Empress of Austria-Hungary.)

The Princess, it is added, and the act may be of significance, declares The Times, left the Spanish capital for the Belgian front.

Simultaneously a report reached Stockholm that Emperor Charles was making a fresh peace attempt and that he was appealing to Italy to consider it in her own interests.

Not Incredible

All that can be said about these rumors, The Times adds, is that the most inherently incredible, and the most unreasonably in a highly critical position, the newspaper continues, and it may well be that the youthful Emperor is trying to tempt Italy, possibly also Belgium, as he tried to tempt France.

The result of any such efforts would, of course, be the same. They would interest the Allies only as fresh indications that the Emperor is conscious of the dangers which menace him and is seeking for a way to escape. The Times continues.

GERMAN PUBLIC BUILDINGS NOW CROWDED WITH WOUNDED

GENEVA, May 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The German military authorities are sending direct to the front lines all youths from the reserve depot in Alsace-Lorraine, according to an Alsatian chemist, who has just arrived here from Mulhouse. He already has lost four sons. "The Germans are employing their last reserves," said the Alsatian, "especially the soldiers from Alsace-Lorraine. It is the German manner of settling the question of the two provinces. If a referendum is taken after the war only a few Alsatian electors will be left."

MANY ENEMY WOUNDED.

AMSTERDAM, May 6.—Two hundred and sixty-five trains full of wounded soldiers returning to Germany from the battlefronts in Picardy and Flanders, says the newspaper Les Nouvelles, of The Hague, were counted in the day time on April 9, April 11 and April 12, on the Namur-Liege railway. The transports were even using open coal cars to carry the wounded. Hospitals, convents, schools and factories in Belgium, the paper adds, are all packed with wounded.

winning it. An appeal to the patriotism of Englishmen, Sir Auckland concludes, has never been known to fail. "Were it now, practically certain that another great attack will be launched by the Germans in the very near future, the might be misled, by the number of small operations and successful raids, into thinking that the situation had settled down in the old stationary trench warfare phase again," said the statement. "The enemy is experiencing great difficulty with his transportation and communication service. In addition to our harassing fire heavy rain has fallen in Flanders and the German is now realizing in the old Ypres salient what Flanders and really is."

SCHOOLBOYS FOR HOLIDAY WORK

LONDON, England, May 6.—Sir Auckland Geddes, Minister of National Service, has appealed to schoolboys in Great Britain to volunteer for harvest work during the summer holidays. Last year, he says, about 4,000 schoolboys volunteered to do harvest work during the summer holidays. Their help was invaluable, and the scheme, though it had been hurriedly organized and the weather was abnormally bad, was entirely justified by its results. This year help will be even more urgently needed.

Since 1916, he says, a great acreage of grass land has been plowed up and sown, and large additional areas have been planted with potatoes. There will, therefore, be more harvest-work to be done, and the requirements of the army have left fewer hands to do it. Preliminary arrangements, he says, have been made for the employment of boys to meet this difficulty, and the fact that definite applications for more than 7,000 have been received shows clearly enough how great the demand for their work will be by the time that the harvest is ready.

In the matter of its food supply, Sir Auckland Geddes continues, the position of Great Britain is critical. It is, therefore, the clear duty of every one to devote all the time that he can possibly spare to the work which will make it secure. August and September are the months in which the demand for labor on the land will be the greatest, and every boy who is physically fit for the work is asked to give up at least three weeks of his summer holidays to help in getting in the harvest. Even when the holidays are over, Sir Auckland says, he hopes that it may be possible for some boys to get leave to go back to the work for a time, since it is likely that when the main potato crop is lifted extra hands will be needed to insure its safety.

At this moment the victory of the Allies in the war is the one object upon which the will of the whole nation is set, and Sir Auckland recognizes that every one who is not yet of military age is eager to do something definite and personal to help towards
