GARDENING

Chaeconica, or Scarlet lighting, or the brilliant reds of Salvia splendens are made vulgar in the presence of soft pinks of Verbena, balsams or Rose of Heaven petunia, while the latter in turn are robbed of their more delicate strength. Give delphinium blues or orange, bronze or yellow neighbors to the same reds with plenty of soft green foliage near at hand (a background of Virginia creeper) and these same reds glow with beauty. Blues or forget-me-nots or the annual or perennial anchusa with the delicately toned group accents their haunting loveliness.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 1— By cutting about ten hours a night off the "sleep" of asters, dahlias, sweet peas and pansies, Purdue University horticulturists announced today a commercially successful method of making these flowers bloom in winter as profusely as in mid-summer.

The dahlias are bigger than the summer blooms, and the pansies flower in eight to 10 times their usual profusion. The "sleep" of plants is their condition during the darkness of night, when lack of light stops most of their synthesis of sugars and other plant materials.

In the Purdue experiment station greenhouses the flowers were allowed to go to "sleep" as usual at sundown on winter days, but after about four hours' rest in complete darkness they were awakened by artificial lights. These lights burned until sunrise, giving the plants the equivalent of a 20 hour working day.

Old R.N.W.M.P. Barracks Razed

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., May 1— (C.P.)—Old and rickety, the last building in the group occupied by the Royal North West Mounted Police back in 1883 has been destroyed.

Fifty years ago it was the officers' mess and stood alone long after fire had destroyed the other police buildings which in their day were the protection of peaceful settlers against roving bands of Indians and border outlaws. The buildings were constructed by the Galt Coal Company of lumber brought into the settlement shortly after the Canadian Pacific Railway was built to this point.

Complement of the police posts at Fort Macleod and Fort Walsh, the officer's mess building just missed being perpetuated as a club house for golfers. It was a bit too distant and the plan was dropped. Now it has been removed and the last of the police buildings has taken its departure.

"Losses" Cause Of Flurries At Annual Meeting

CALGARY, May 1— (C.P.)—Who pocketed the $40,000 shown on the financial statement as allowance for depreciation?—So asked a Disgruntled shareholder at the Dalhousie Oil Company's annual meeting.

And nobody could explain to the questioner's satisfaction although Alexander Hannah, K.C., chairman of the meeting, tried very hard. He patiently pointed out the $40,000 was not actual cash but an estimated decrease in the value of assets.

"If you bought an article three years ago, you would not think it worth the same amount of money now," Mr. Hannah added. "You would allow some amount for depreciation."

"That's all very well, but what I want to know is what happened to the $40,000," persisted the shareholder. Mr. Hannah surrendered.

SOCIETY WOMAN BECOMES A MAID

CHICAGO, May 1— (C.P.)—A maid's life is no bed of roses. This is the conclusion of Mrs. Frank Jarrell, Topeka, Kan., club woman who worked for several months for different Kansas City families to find out how a maid is treated. Mrs. Jarrell told a Young Women's Christian Association committee on household employment recently of how she got her "first" place in Kansas City with a letter written on her own stationery addressed "to whom it may concern" and which introduced "Nina Johnson" domestic.

"My room," she said, "was a tiny one off the kitchen. The bed was hard and lumpy. My bath was in a corner of the cellar. In order to be sure of privacy I had to get up before any of the rest of the family arose. The only time I was tempted to reveal my identity was when one of my mistresses ordered me to scrub the cellar steps again, but I held my tongue."

"I never got to know any of the women I worked for excepting one. When I left she told me she was really sorry I was leaving—because I made such a nice omelet."

From one place Mrs. Jarrell said she got away from her job with a telegram, which read: "Come home at once; Ma has broken her hip. Uncle Henry." "But," Mrs. Jarrell concluded, "I did not have to be called from my last place. On my evening off I had gone with my husband, who happened to be in town on business to a club to dinner. My mistress and her husband were also there. The next morning she said she believed she could get along without me."

Early Opening New Port Asked

SASKATOON, Sask., May 1— (C.P.)—Contradicting the old idea Hudson's Bay was always frozen over, Rev. S. A. Martin, United Church missionary at Churchill, advocates earlier opening of the port and cites many historical instances of early-season visits of ships.

August 1 was a date frequently occurring in the log books of the early visitors, he said. Norton had the site of Fort Prince of Wales staked out by August 6. With the whole route now carefully charted and watched, navigation has become safe, Mr. Martin added.

Saskatchewan should lead the way to an earlier opening, he declared. Everything used at Churchill came from this province, vegetables, butter, meat and fodder. Mr. Martin has been stationed at the new seaport for the past four years.

Officials Spike Last Spike Yarn

REVELSTOKE, B. C., May 1— (C.P.)—The "last spike" that was driven at Craigellachie to mark the linking of the east and west construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway was probably just plain iron—the same as a million other spikes used in the construction.

E. C. Boyes, of Craigellachie heard stories about the "last spike" being gold and being removed after the ceremony. Boyes asked the C. P. R. about the spike and what happened to it.

As far as railway officials could learn, Boyes said, the spike was just an ordinary spike. It wasn't even removed immediately after the ceremony but probably disappeared as scrap iron years later when repairs were being made.

Inflation Boom In Markets

NEW YORK, May 1— (C.P.)—Stocks, wheat and cotton were taller in price today, after being whirled up in a frenzied buying movement which struck principal speculative markets of the United States Saturday.

News of the Senate's approval of the Farm Relief Bill with its inflationary rider, together with Washington assurances that it would quickly pass the House, prompted another "inflation boom" which swept prices of many securities and commodities to the best levels of the year or longer.

NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER'S DAUGHTER A BRIDE

NEW YORK, May 1— Sara Schuyler Butler, daughter of President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University, and Capt. Neville Lawrence, London stock broker were married yesterday.

The ceremony was performed in St. Paul's Chapel at Columbia by the Rev. Dr. Endicott Peabody, headmaster of Groton School. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, dispensed with attendants.

Painful Pimples Prevented Sleeping, Healed by Cuticura.

"My face was very tender and every time I shaved it would break out in a rash of pimples that were hard and red. Sometimes the pimples would scale over when I scratched, and again it caused me excruciating pain. When I shaved before going to bed they were very painful and prevented me from sleeping. I was troubled that way for a couple of years.

I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and was completely healed after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Cameron Longton, 330 Kent St., Ottawa, Ont.

Beautiful Widow Gives Sad Story

WASHINGTON, May 1— (C.P.)—Won to the United States and its capital by her statesman-husband who died on their honeymoon trip a month ago, beautiful Mrs. Thomas J. Walsh, Cuban aristocrat is beginning to rebuild her life in the White House here.

"I came with my heart full of hope and love to help the man for whom I left my Havana home," said Mrs. Walsh. "For two years he had been writing me, every day of his life. I knew all his feelings, all his ambitions. In Cuba, I was living the life of Washington."

"Now I wish to experience for myself these things I have learned through him." Watching her move about the room, it was easy to picture her as the official hostess she would have been in Washington had her husband—Senator from Montana—lived to become Attorney-General as he had been designated by President Roosevelt.

She sketched the romance that few of Senator Walsh's many friends had even suspected—a dinner meeting in New York—frequent dinners afterward, the Senator making week-end trips to tell a brilliant conversationalist from Cuba about American politics—her surprise when he came flying to Cuba—and then an engagement, prolonged because her son was very ill.

"He flew from Montana to meet Roosevelt in California. He wrote me little notes, just as things happened, and dropped them off the train. I knew him when Mrs. Roosevelt joined the party. He called me to come.

"What they were doing, what they were fighting for, when they were winning—I have been close to a brilliant man!"

Close to all this, Mrs. Walsh said, she wanted to stay. Her sick son is improving, and will come to Washington when warm weather arrives. A second son, Maris, tall and dark, is with her here now.
