Animals And Humans Both Thrive On Oats

Meat rationing is now in effect across Canada and, most people are finding out, it is not as bad as they expected. One of the reasons why it hasn't been such a blow is the fact that ample warning was given and food experts spent weeks developing meat extenders and new recipes that would provide all-out food value without increasing household budgets.

Most popular meat extender for both humans and their animal pets are rolled oats. For humans oats are used to make beef loafs, wartime meat cakes and a variety of other tasty dishes. And for pets, officials at the S. P. C. A. animal shelter in Montreal, have dishes up appetizing rolled oats meals that keep both dogs and pets equally happy. Oatmeal, according to W. N. Dunlop, manager of the Montreal S. P. C. A., provides a nourishing substitute food for dogs and cats. Oats are not cooked but simply mixed with hot water or a little milk. Thus served, it made a big hit with the shelter's 129 inmates.

Expert dietitians have been working on special recipes to keep up family health and strength despite meat rationing and in the Robin Hood kitchen in Montreal a number of fascinating new recipes have been developed. Two of them follow:

Simple Fruit Pudding

1 cup Robin Hood rolled oats; 1 tspn. cinnamon; 1-4 tspn. nutmeg and colves 1-2 tspn. salt; 1 cup raisins; 1 tblsph. honey or 2 tblsphs. brown sugar; 1 tspn. soda; 1 cup thick buttermilk.

Mix dry ingredients with raisins and honey or sugar; dissolve soda in butter-milk, add to first mixture and blend until smooth; pour into well greased pudding mould 2-3 full, cover tightly with waxed paper and steam 1 hour Serve with honey foamy sauce. Serves 4 5.

BAKED CORN AND TOMATOES

For Meatless Days

1 1-2 cups canned corn, drained, or cooked fresh corn; 1 1-2 cups strained tomatoes canned 3-4 tspn. salt; 1-8 tspn. pepper; 1 tspn. sugar; 1-2 cup Robin Hood rolled oats; 1 tblspn. dripping; 1-2 cup grated strong cheese.

Mix first seven ingredients in baking dish; sprinkle grated cheese on top and bake in a moderate oven (360 degrees F.) Baking time: 20 minutes. Serves 4-5.

Goose Airport Well Guarded

GOOSE AIRPORT, Labrador, June 7 — (CP) — Ronny Jaques, National Film Board photographer who accompanied the first group of Canadian newspapermen to visit Goose, had a loaded rifle pointed at his tummy when he wandered into the wrong place without advance notice It reminded one group of officers of the time the commanding officer of the base - - an R. C. A. F. man from Minnedosa, Man. - - drove past the sentry without stopping to identify himself .. .. The sentries here don't fool .. .. A bullet whizzed over the C. O.'s head.

Even Defence Minister Ralston and Munitions Minister Howe ran into difficulties when they inspected the army establishment with the Army C. O., an officer from Toronto .. .. The C. O. forgot to take the password and couldn't get past the sentry .. .. He made two telephone calls trying to get somebody to give him the password but each time was refused .. .. The lieutenant-colonel and the ministers finally decided they would wait until a runner went back to headquarters for it.

Like the R.C.A.F., the army medicos at Goose treat the Labrador natives in emergencies .. .. The night before Canadian newspapermen visited the army establishment a medical officer, Capt. Bruce McKenzie of Truro, N. S., and the adjutant, Capt. Bill Sawdon of Port Grenville, went across the bay to bring in a pneumonia case to the base hospital.

Stuart Graham, now superintendant of air regulations at Ottawa, was in the first land plane to arrive at the new Goose Airport, early in December, 1941 .. .. Before Goose became an R.C.A.F station. FO. George Tuckett of Toronto was in command of the air force detachment here .. .. Two babies have been born in the base hospital, children of native families in the district .. .. Dr. James Waddell of Edmonton, now overseas went across Goose Bay to deliver a third when he was first medical officer here.

Church services were held in tents for the army men last summer but cold weather required a building and none was on the army program .. .. Hon. Capt. Dixon H. Gordon of Montreal and Toronto, protestant chaplain, got permission to construct a chapel and some help to put it up .. .. Most of the builders were soldiers who used to work in the New Brunswick woods .. .. They cut their own logs, hauled them to the station mill to be made into lumber, and then nailed up the boards .. .. The first service was held last Christmas Day and Capt. Gordon said the building was "packed".

One of the army's patrols was making his rounds faster than seemed humanly possible on skis or snowshoes and an investigation was started .. .. There was Sgt. Harry Barchard of Elgin, N. B., on skis, with three huskies for motor power .. .. The interest in that form of travel waned after one lad's dogs split up, one on each side of a tree.

The army C. O. tells visitors his small black and tan dog, "Puddles", came into Labrador "in bond" .. .. That's his polite way of saying it was born at the base soon after its mother arrived from Canada.

Infantrymen contributed a day's pay to the Aid to Russia Fund .. .. Civilian construction men conducted a drive expected to net the fund between $6,000 and $7,000.

ESKIMOS GRATEFUL FOR R.C.A.F. HELP

GOOSE AIRPORT, Labrador, June 8 (CP)—The R.C.A.F. has been doing medical work among the natives around the airport and the job is appreciated. Nursing Sister N. Bersudsky of Saint John, N. B., went along when one Eskimo lad was flown home from hospital. She came back with a perfect white fox, gift of the boy's father. The base commander returned from another similar flight with a pair of decorated sealskin boots for his young daughter.

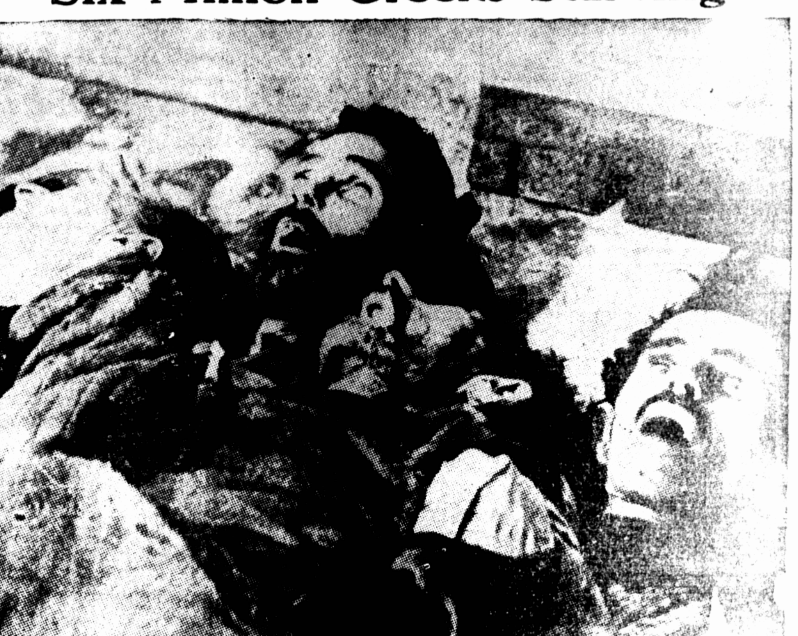
Six Million Greeks Starving



A picture of stark horror, but an actual picture of dead Greek men lying, unclaimed, in the streets of Greece. They died for lack of food. Canadians are being asked to help prevent this holocaust of death by giving to the Greek War Relief Fund, so that as much food as possible can be sent to the suffering Greeks.

Answer Yes To Debt Question

OTTAWA, June 7 —(CP)—"Yes" was the answer given by the Finance Department today to a question from Robert Fair (N.D. Battle River) as to whether the national debt can be repaid if present financial policy is continued.

The answer was given in a return tabled in the House of Commons and the complete reply to a series of questions from the Alberta member traced the growth of the gross national debt from $96,896,666 in 1868 to a budget estimate of $8,893,140,000 in 1943.

Annual interest charges grew from $4,106,921 to an estimated $185,000,000 in the same period. The percentage of interest and other debt charges to national revenue was 32 in 1868 and over the period ranged from a high of 44.11 in 1933 to a low (estimate) of nine per cent for 1943.

The return said that as the government now is operating at a deficit debt cannot be retired but the government's plans for debt retirement will be made known at the appropriate time. It also said the Dominion had always paid principal and interest at the full face value of its obligations and at the time they fell due.

Strikes Cost U. S. 11 Million Tons Of Coal

WASHINGTON, June 7 — (AP) — Interior Secretary Harold Ickes said tonight that idleness in the mines had cost the United States 11,000,000 tons of coal and asked John L. Lewis to seek an end to scattered strikes which remained in effect today as most of the 500,000 miners went back to the pits under a two-week truce in their wage dispute with operators.

Almost sumultaneously John P. Busarello, president of the miners' District 5, announced in Pittsburgh that all Western Pennsylvania soft coal miners are now in line with the back-to-work order. This resulted when the midland local voted late today to return to posts tomorrow.

Canadian Garden Service

By

Gordon Lindsay Smith

General Care

The most important job, after a garden is planted, is cultivation. There are others, too, and they should not be neglected but of all of them the experts agree, timely cultivation heads the list. The major object is not just to destroy weeds, though that is a valuable by-product, but to stir up the soil, to check evaporation let in air, and to generally produce a healthy environment for the growing plants.

After heavy rains which will pound the soil flat and encourage hard surface baking when the sun comes out, it is especially desirable to go over the garden with a cultivator. In the small Victory plot or flower bed, cultivation can be carried out with a hand tool. Where the establishment is larger, a rake, hand-drawn cultivator or a horse or motor powered scuffler or cultivator will do the work.

Most professionals make it a regular practice to cultivate once a week during June and early July, and especially after each heavy rain. One should be careful, however, not to work the soil when it is tsill wet and soggy. This will do more harm than good and it is liable to pack the ground into hard lumps which will bake in the hot sun. It is important to wait until the garden soil remains moist but not muddy.

Weed Killing

Weed killing is also important, the authorities point out. These things not only disfigure the trim garden but they rob the soil of fertilizer and moisture needed by the vegetables and flowers. A weekly cultivation and one or two thorough weedings early in the season will usually handle these things.

Thinning

This is another vital job, especially with those vegetables and flowers which it is impossible to sow thinly or which we must plant close together originally in case germination is poor or heavy insect damage feared. Carrots, beets, parsnips and such vegetables should be thinned to two to four inches apart in the rows. It is not necessary to space any more widely, as three or four inches will permit early development and then by pulling every other plant for the first few meals, there is room left for later and fuller developmnt.

With bigger plants, eight to ten inches apart, or three or four vines or plant to each hill is sufficient.

More About Pests

Beginners are inclined to worry too much about insect and other garden pests, experienced [illegible] believe. True, there is [illegible] special insect for every [illegible] grows in Canada. As a [illegible] ever, if we keep our garden [illegible] ing and healthy [illegible] cultivation, in many [illegible] plants will outgrow most [illegible] damage. But some dusting [illegible] ing is advisable to ward [illegible] attacks. Usually we can [illegible] ready-mixed materials. The [illegible] ant thing is to get the [illegible] just as soon as damage of [illegible] appear.

Watering

Watering at transplanting time and in case of severe drought will well replay the trouble involved. Generally speaking, however, [illegible] ing is not so necessary with the garden as so many people believe. Overuse will result in [illegible] and drowning of many plants. A little sprinkling daily is usually of no value whatever. One thorough soaking once a week in dry weather will be much better.

SERVICE GIRLS' CLUB IN LONDON

LONDON, June 8 (CP)—The Canadian Girls' Club went one step further to give its members every comfort and facility when Lady Tweedsmuir officially opened the canteen. There, for a yearly subscription of $1.12 the girls can get snacks at reasonable prices in reasonable time and without having to queue.

Few girls attended the opening ceremony because it was held at noon and most of them do [illegible] their lunch until one o'clock [illegible] commanding officer of the CWAC Maj. Sorby and Maj.-Gen. J. [illegible] Montague thanked Lady Tweedsmuir for coming to the opening.

"Girls have twin demons [illegible] Tweedsmuir said. "One [illegible] sickness and the other is [illegible] and this club is doing much to relieve both."

LESS STOCKINGS BUT BETTER ONES

LONDON, June 8 (CP)—The problem of silk stockings is one of the greatest worries of Hugh Dalton, president of Britain's Board of Trade.

Said he to the Commons in reply to a question: "No lady is [illegible] with them (silk stockings) as [illegible] are in wartime) as I [illegible] am doing my best with [illegible] vice, both male and female, to improve the quality. I think [illegible] be an even better solution of the problem than to alter [illegible] number of points needed [illegible] chase them."

BROODER HOUSE POLICY

Poultry raisers who have purchased brooder stoves and are eligible to apply for the bonus paid by the Provincial Department of Agriculture under the Brooder House Policy, must make application through the Department on a form supplied by the Department, not later than Saturday, June 19th. Every application must be accompanied by a receipt covering the cost of the brooder stove. Any applications received after this date will not be recognized. On account of shortage of gas and other conditions, only one trip will be made into any community for inspection purposes.
