THE ZIMMER-CARTER COMPANY AT CHAUTAUQUA

This year's Chautauqua program will be opened by a rather unique company of musicians and entertainers. Three harps are seldom seen on one platform at one time. The Zimmer Sisters, who will appear at Chautauqua the first afternoon and evening will carry three harps with them. These three charming young ladies also play the violin and piano, and sing. They will render a versatile program which will centre about their harp selections. Each member of this company is an individual artist and carries out her particular part of the program with a finish delightful to the music lover. Their ensemble work as a trio on the violin, piano, and in song, and their group work on the harps shows the result of constant practice and close association. Chautauquans who enjoy a musical program of a rather special nature will appreciate the work of the Zimmer Sisters. With the Zimmer Sisters will be Miss Wilma Dearborn Carter, who will vary their musical program with readings and song stories. Miss Carter's repertoire is an extensive one, covering as it does the whole range of the interpreter's art. She has won for herself a warm place in the hearts of children everywhere she has appeared by her rendition of children's pieces. Her charming personality and histrionic ability have elicited favorable comment at all her appearances before Women's Clubs, and on the Chautauqua and Lyceum platforms.
