IN ANSWER to many inquiries the Prince Edward Island Pool Limited continues to address against pelting the better sides of foxes too early. They believe, that many ranchers for various reasons are obliged to pellet foxes early, in that case they suggest pelting the inferior types and continuing to hold the better grades until they become more nearly prime. Such ranchers as desire it, their pelting department is now in operation. The exclusive facilities of the Pelting Department are being maintained through their maintenance of a London office in charge of a marketing expert with twenty years experience in this position to market silver fox pelts daily throughout the year regardless of Auction Dates. PURCHASES MATCHED TEAM—The Rev. Father Monaghan of Seven Mile Bay purchased a beautiful matched team of heavy draft horses from Wellington McNeill, Southport, yesterday. It was said, "A fancy price" was believed to have been paid for the team which would be the special prize at the drawing of November 3 at Seven Mile Bay.

Excellent Performances—Crosby outdoes himself in "Waikiki Wedding". Not only does he sing several charming melodies in his own distinctive manner but he plays the part of the live wire press agent with great verve and elan. Burns and Miss Raye, of course, are excellent and Miss Raye takes a big step forward as an accomplished actress.

The team of Robin and Rainer, responsible for the excellent music, in "The Big Broadcast of 1937", "College Holiday", "Champagne Waltz" and other hit pictures, comes through with another batch of sure-fire hits. Notable among these are "Blue Hawaii", "Sweet as the Word for You", "In a Little While", "The Hula", and "Okolaha". The picture was masterfully directed by Frank Tuttle.

THE re-drafted British plan for evacuating foreign volunteers from Spain was in the hands of the governments represented on the non-intervention subcommittee for study. The plan envisages besides the withdrawal of foreign soldiers from the Spanish armies the granting of belligerent rights to the warring parties and restoration of land and sea control of non-intervention.

Delegates on the subcommittee, which will meet again Friday, submitted the plan to their home capitals without recommending it.

CAPITOL SUMMERSIDE

Bing Crosby In "Waikiki Wedding"

A SOUTH SEA ROMANCE AT CAPITOL, S'IDE

High comedy, music and romance in glamorous Waikiki, enacted by a splendid cast including some of the best known names of the radio and screen, and splendidly conceived and directed, make "Waikiki Wedding" which opened at the Capitol Theatre last night, as brilliant and thoroughly enjoyable an evening's entertainment as could be hoped for. The cast is headed by Bing Crosby and includes Bob Burns, Martha Raye, Shirley Ross, George Barbier and Left Erikson in the main roles, with back ground and atmosphere provided by two hundred and fifty dancers, drummers and musicians. Among the latter are Miri Rei, the dancing girl who proved the sensation of the Ziegfeld Follies a few years ago, and Kuuiee and Nalani De Clerq, Honolulu dancing girls.

"Waikiki Wedding" is the story of a smart publicity man, played by Crosby, who outsmarts himself. As the representative of a pineapple cannery, he organizes a contest for which is to receive a vacation in glamorous Waikiki. Miss Ross wins the contest, comes to Waikiki, becomes bored with the place and decides to return home, ruining the publicity campaign.

Youths Seriously Injured In Unusual Accidents

Two serious accident cases were brought to the Prince County hospital about midnight Tuesday from western Prince County. Both were rather unusual. The first was Henry Bernard, a lad of 17 years, who had his arm badly fractured between the elbow and wrist when a heavy truck sidwiped his car. The boy had put out his hand to signal the truck that he was about to make a turn when the accident happened.

The other accident was brought about when two young men on bicycle had a head on collision along the western road. Edward MacDonald, age 26, is quite seriously hurt and it is thought he has a fractured skull, as he fell to the ground quite heavily. The other young man, 19 years, Arthur MacWilliams is not quite so badly hurt, but was brought to the hospital for observation. The latest report with regard to Desmond Blaquiere's condition is that he is a little better. It is feared he has concussion. He was struck by a car on water St. Summerside, Tuesday afternoon.

Forty-fourth Anniversary Of C.M.B.A. Noted

Members of the 215 branch C. M. B. A. celebrated their forty-fourth anniversary last night with a banquet in their hall, which was attended by over one hundred members and guests. The president, Mr. Alban Gillis, very capably presided.

Mr. Patrick Hammill of Free-town the only chartered member remaining since the branch was organized in 1893, with Mrs. Hammill was a guest of honor; also Mr. Thomas Doyle of St. Anthony branch who was a chartered member of the Alberton branch formed in 1893. Rt. Rev. Mgr. MacLellan replied to the toast to the Pope with a short prayer. The toast to the King was responded to by the National Anthem. Rev. Dr. M. J. Smith of Kirkora and Provincial Grand Deputy was the guest speaker and gave a most interesting resume of the C. M. B. A. from its inception in 1876 in America, with 59 chartered members, and in 1878 in Windsor, Ont., with 110 members with the Windsor branch still leading. In 1893 the association in Canada received its charter and at that time three branches were formed on P. E. I. one at Charlottetown, Summerside and Alberton. Rev. Dr. Smith was pleased to see the Summerside branch so active. The Association has many advantages to offer its members and it was hoped the membership will increase from year to year.

Mr. Adrian P. Arsenault, K. C. replied to the toast for the ladies. Other speakers were Rev. Mgr. MacLellan, Rev. Dr. Monaghan, Rev. F. Murray, Dr. J. A. MacPhee, Patrick Hammill, and Thomas Doyle. The enjoyable function closed with "Old Lang Syne" and the National Anthem.

DUKE WILL NOT

In this connection," he added, "I would like to make it perfectly clear that in any journey I have undertaken or may plan in the future, I do so as a completely independent observer without political considerations of any sort kind and entirely on my own initiative. "You all know the circumstances that led up to the events of last December, and the forces which influenced my final decision. I am a very happily married man now, but my wife and I are neither content nor willing to lead a purely inactive life of leisure. "We hope and feel that in due course the experience we gain from our travels will enable us, if given fair treatment, to make some contributions as private individuals to solving some of the vital problems that beset the world today."

Dying Request Is Unfulfilled

(C.P. Cable, By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, Oct. 27—The ashes of Horatio Bottomley, one-time financier and member of Parliament who died a ruined man in 1933 after serving a jail sentence for fraud, came to light today on the shelf of a Marylebone undertaker. E. Tarbuck, undertaker, said he discovered the dusty urn, still awaiting the carrying out of Bottomley's dying wish that the ashes be scattered over the estate he once owned at Upper Dicker, Sussex. Mr. Tarbuck said he was trying to locate Miss Peggy Primrose Bottomley's last friend who paid his funeral expenses and promised to carry out the request for scattering of the ashes. He said he had not heard from her for two years and indicated the ashes might be thrown away if not claimed soon.

Japanese Occupy Island At Amoy

SHANGHAI, Oct. 28—(Thursday)—(C. P. Havana)—Japanese blue-jackets today occupied the island commanding the entrance to Amoy harbor in southern Fukien Province, central (Chinese) new agency reported. Seizure of the island followed heavy bombardment of the port by Japanese warships and planes, the dispatch said.

PROPERTY

Premier said five months from now when the House meets if it's necessary we may hear you. Meanwhile we will go on making settlements under the existing machinery. What is being done? Yes, Mr. Bentley said, a client of his, an Englishman, whose labors of the past three years in an industry of great potential value to this province, was completely wiped out, finally settled. He did so after waiting a year for settlement because he had to return to England. He was by no means satisfied, yet no doubt they will refer to him as an instance of the successful operation of Mr. Campbell's legislative machinery. "And the government tried to get Mr. Ramcar to pledge me to see 'recy' Mr. Bentley said. "When he told me that I said, 'Don't tell me more; I don't want to be pledged not to speak out if I believe the thing unfair.'"

Mr. Bentley referred to the letters coming from Ottawa telling the people to get their buildings off the Park property before the 31st day of October. Ottawa was being used to force these people to settle at the Government's terms, he said. "We are no longer free if we tolerate such a condition." Mr. Bentley concluded. Mr. Jeremiah Simpson of Cavendish, one of the dispossessed owners was the next speaker. The Government had offered to pay him for his property just half of what he asked. Mr. Higgs had told him in Charlottetown recently, "Oh Mr. Simpson you have to make some sacrifice."

"I didn't want the Park, why should I have to make a sacrifice," Mr. Simpson said. Mr. Higgs said also "if we paid every one what we ought to it would cost a million dollars." He also said that he believed it would cost $75,000. The extent of the North Side people were robbed was the difference between $75,000 and a million, although that figure might be a little high, Mr. Simpson said.

Mrs. J. A. Doyle, Rustico, declared she believed the rights of the citizens were being invaded. Was the principle of freedom being for in Europe in 1914-18 being maintained? she asked. In future she thought people of this Province should look to the men who they elect, to see they can be trusted to run the affairs of the country. Mr. D. L. Mathieson, Charlottetown said he believed if the people of the Province really understood the facts of the case, the injustice, and the threat to democratic government in this country they would see that a change was made. He was glad to see some of the members of the legislature were beginning to see matters in a different light and to say they did not understand the effects of the act when it was passed.

The speaker referred to the committee that waited on the Government in August following notice of the amount of compensation offered by the Government. What had transpired even then had been thoroughly unsatisfactory from the point of view of the landowners.

Settlement or Ruin is Choice

Between the Provincial and Federal Governments a great number of the land owners were being forced to take what was offered them, Mr. Mathieson said. They were not asking anything unreasonable in requesting access to the courts or to an independent tribunal to hear the facts where property owners were not satisfied. In all other provinces and in the Dominion itself such appeal could be made.

Almost Unbelievable! The method of arriving at valuation by the Government was at best open to party bias, Mr. Mathieson said. They sent out a commission and they didn't listen to them, their own agents. The only evidence that was available to them they ignored. The thing is almost unbelievable, the speaker declared.

Mr. Eden discussed the Shanghai incident in reply to Sir Hugh O'Neill, Conservative, who asked for details. The British naval commander in the Shanghai area reported the attack to the Japanese high command, the Foreign Secretary said. "The Japanese Government instituted inquiries forthwith," he added, "and on the following day addressed a note to His Majesty's Ambassador in Tokyo conveying an apology in the name of the Japanese Government and undertaking, on completion of an investigation, to deal suitably with persons responsible for this incident, and expressed a readiness to make compensation for the damage sustained by the British subjects involved. "His Majesty's Ambassador was instructed to acknowledge this note and to say that while His Majesty's Government accepted the apology and assurances, at the same time they must make it clear that in their opinion the retaliatory fire by the British post was entirely justified and must always be expected if other cases of this kind recur."

The Foreign Secretary gave the House the following account of the incident: "About 3:30 p. m. Sunday, a party of civilians, including both British and United States nationals, were riding outside the Shanghai International Settlement, but inside the section of the defence perimeter for which British troops are responsible, when they were machine-gunned by a Japanese plane. The party took cover in a British military post just within the perimeter, but the airplane made a direct attack. "The gunfire attack was repeated three times and Private McGowan of the Royal Ulster Rifles was shot, and I deeply regret to say he died shortly afterwards. Three horses were killed, only by great good fortune did the remainder of the party and other soldiers at the post escape without injury. "The airplane then carried out three other attacks on a British military post just within the perimeter, but no casualties resulted in this instance."

Mr. Eden replied in the affirmative when Sir Hugh asked whether the Japanese reply signified that the Japanese authorities would pay McGowan's family "such compensation as the British authorities thought reasonable."

Dominions Secretary Malcolm MacDonald and Sir Alexander Cadogan, former ambassador to China and now Foreign Undersecretary, acting as foreign secretary, said that the Government was not prepared to pay McGowan's family "such compensation as the British authorities thought reasonable."

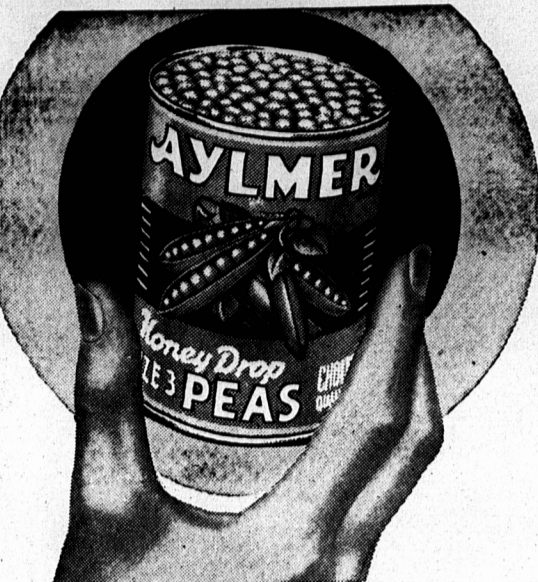

George Lansbury, veteran pacifist and former Labor parliamentary leader, urged Great Britain should be willing to place into a common pool under a new international commission "all those non-self governing parts of the Empire, and that not only of ourselves but of all mankind."

Victor Cazalet, Conservative, warned the Government not to "falsely interpret" President Roosevelt's Chicago speech against aggressors as meaning that the United States would use military or economic force to cope with the far eastern problem.

Dismissing the possibility of an Anglo-American commercial treaty Captain Cazalet acknowledged there were difficulties, "possibly with the Dominions—but he pointed out Canada had signed a trade treaty with the United States."

Arthur Greenwood, Labor deputy leader, said he believed "every citizen who reads the First Lord's statement in the House last night must feel revolted." He referred to Mr. Duff Cooper's statement that the Government's policy in regard to Spain was: "What goes on in Spain is not our concern, but that we will keep the high sea free for British commerce."

Mr. Greenwood said the speech "deserve the complete contempt of decent-minded people." He added: "The speech is a disgrace to the cause of commerce and shows a callous disregard for the loss of human life, which is a

TARIFF BOARD HEARS APPEALS

No Change In Coal Tariffs Urged At Sydney.

(By The Canadian Press) SYDNEY, N.S., Oct. 27—Appeals to the Tariff Board by Nova Scotia's Minister of Mines and a Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation executive requesting no change be made in tariffs that would reduce employment in this province's coal fields were heard today before the sitting in Sydney concluded. The Board heard Minister of Mines Michael Dwyer urge, in connection with an application of Windsor, Ont., Coal Dealers' Association seeking removal of the $1.00 a ton duty on imported coal, that the tariff remain as at present.

"Removal of the tariff will do a great deal to offset the work done by the Government in finding markets for Nova Scotia coal," the Minister of Mines maintained. H. J. Kelley, vice-president and general manager of Dosco, told the Board "25 per cent of the people of Nova Scotia are dependent directly or indirectly on the activity of this company." More than 20,000 workers in the coal industry would be paid $25,000,000 in wages in 1937, it was estimated by the company.

Amendment of the Domestic Fuel Act was urged in a brief presented by A. J. Dawson on behalf of Quebec Power Company. Complaint was that coke burned in furnaces under gas producers was not subsidized as was other coke sold for domestic use. He urged the Act be amended to allow the full subsidy for carbonizing plants using 100 per cent Canadian coal.

ROYAL BIRTH EXPECTED (A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) THE HAGUE, Oct. 27—A royal decree today announced the first child of Crown Princess Juliana, expected in January, would be known as the Prince or Princess of Orange Nassau. A subsequent child born to Juliana and her husband, Prince Bernhard of Lippe-Biesterfeld, would be entitled the Prince or Princess of Lippe-Biesterfeld.

FIND BODY OF GIRL (C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) CHATHAM, N. B., Oct. 27—The body of Edith Petrie, 26, Upper Nappan, was found today in the Miramichi River here. Employed as a domestic at Centre Nappan, she had been missing since Friday after leaving a note saying she was going away "for better or for worse." No inquest will be held.
