ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT - Mr. and Mrs. Wallace MacWalker of North River, Prince Edward Island, announce the engagement of Mr. MacWalker's sister, Anne Jean MacFarlane to Mr. Robert Wilson Lindsay, son of Mr. William L. Lindsay, of Glasgow, Scotland. Marriage to take place in June.

LENENT SERMON - "General Judgment" was the text of a very impressive and eloquently preached sermon by Rev. Father McCarthy at St. Dunstan's Cathedral last evening. Rev. Father McMahon conducted Benediction, the Corpus Christi Choir singing most pleasingly.

PETTY THEIVING - It appears that petty thieves are still at work in the city. Recently a lady living on School Street had eight dollars taken from her coat pocket, the garment being in the front hall at the time; while on Friday her maid missed twelve dollars from the pocket of her coat which was then hanging in the rear hall.

CHARLOTTETONIANS ENJOY AVIATION - Some one hundred and twenty five passengers took advantage of the opportunity to take a ten minute aeroplane spin on Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday afternoon the small plane, which seats four, took up some thirty five people. She also made flights on Sunday morning and afternoon, starting about 10.30 a. m. and with an interval for lunch continuing till 4 p. m. At 3.20 p. m. on Sunday, she was joined by the large aeroplane which remained here about an hour, and made four passenger trips, taking up twenty four persons. Both on Saturday and Sunday, large numbers of people were out on the ice, some to see the fun, and others to get a ride if they could - not a very easy matter, either - for, the instant the plane landed, almost before she was stopped, those eager for a flight would rush up to the doors of the cabin, and, almost as soon as those who had their ride got out, all the seats were filled. The flights were ten minutes in length, and were over the city and nearby country.

CARLETON STUDY GROUP

The March meeting of the Carleton Teachers' Study Group was held in the principal's room of Carleton School. There were five teachers present. The President, James MacCallum, Borden; Gladys Murphy, Carleton; Mary Muttart, Borden; Jennie Muttart, Cape Traverse and the Secretary, Arnold Henderson, Carleton. The meeting opened with a discussion of the proposed increase in teachers' salaries on P. E. Island. It was agreed that inasmuch as the average teachers' salary on P. E. I. is far below that of the other provinces they are justified in asking for a sufficient increase to at least put them on an equal basis with the neighboring teachers. The assignment of history lessons was next enthusiastically discussed. Difficulties in arithmetic were brought up and solved. The next meeting will be held in April.

POLICY HAS HAD EFFECT ON TEMPERANCE

Report of N. B. Liquor Control Board Submitted to Legislature.

Huge Powers

FREDERICTON March 9. - "A careful analysis of the sales of the board will show that 35 per cent. of the sales were for beer and wine," says the first annual report of the New Brunswick Liquor Control, tabled yesterday in the Legislature by Hon. A. J. Leger, Provincial Secretary-Treasurer. "This fact should be called attention to the granting of such huge powers to a company, especially when the house is in session, and doubts before the budget debate is ended there will be keen and forceful criticism of the government's policy in this respect."

The terms of the approved arrangement which seem to guard fairly well the interests of the dominion, will not be criticised so much as the exercise of such vast authority by order-in-council. The second removes permanently from politics a very delicate question involving educational restrictions as a condition of these provinces getting their natural resources. In this connection, as to the settlement reached, much credit is due to the Honourables Dr. Edwards (Frontenac) and H. H. Stevens, (Vanouver). The third, which, at first presaged a long and hard fight was largely the result of compromise. Both railways were able to have their construction programmes approved, with one exception. The C. P. R. application for a charter from Aberdeen to Melfort in Northern Saskatchewan was not granted, being regarded as an undue invasion of C. N. R. territory. The fight which was narrowed to that one field, as the result of agreement between the two companies, was conducted in good spirit and the managements seem to be working in harmony in their development schemes. It is difficult to predict the length of the budget debate. The Hon. Hugh Guthrie in his speech struck a nail which may elicit a lot of discussion, and Dr. Manion demanded that if congress should put up its tariff walls still higher against Canada, as seems to be a possibility, a special session of parliament should be called to consider the situation.

With the budget out of the way, which should be in less than two weeks, there remains only the estimates of a contentious nature to consider and the hope may be realized of prorogation by the first of May. "One of the most difficult problems of the Board was illegal liquor. For several years previous to the passing of The Intoxicating Liquor Act, those engaged in smuggling and bootlegging liquor had practically a free hand. Whirlie under the Prohibition Act the Province made it practically impossible to maintain a force adequate to deal with the situation. Moreover, the vendors under the Prohibition Act had no restrictions placed upon them regarding days or hours of sale, with the result that conditions arose which were almost impossible to deal with and the Government of the Province faced the peculiar situation of paying over $80,000 a year to maintain a force of Prohibition Inspectors, whose chief occupation was to watch vendors appointed by the Government or proprietors of beer shops licensed by the Chief Inspector. This resulted in practically no control of the liquor business in the Province. Liquor was openly sold in nearly every village, town or city, and the cars of bootleggers were found everywhere disposing of their stock. The first and most difficult task of The Liquor Control Board was to get "control" of a business which had obtained so strong a hold on the Province. Further, it was equally difficult to convince many citizens that The Intoxicating Liquor Act would be enforced to the letter. A period of disrespect for law relating to liquor had existed so long that many thought infractions of the new vigorous enforcement has been necessary, but with good results. From every section of the Province we find a growing approval for the work of the Board. "Coincident with the establishing of the Provincial Police Force there was also set up a strong Preventive Force under the Dominion government. The task set before these two bodies was not easy. The smuggler and bootlegger had well-established lines of trade and numerous ways to dispose of their goods. Many friends gave "tips" regarding the movements of both police and preventive officers. But gradually this traffic has been broken down, and, while there is still some illegal liquor in the province, the activities of the provincial and Dominion forces have gone a long way toward checking it.

development of about 500,000 horsepower, it does not remove the question from the arena of debate. Dr. Manion, Fort William, has already called attention to the granting of such huge powers to a company, especially when the house is in session, and doubts before the budget debate is ended there will be keen and forceful criticism of the government's policy in this respect.

Would Pool Navies Of Britain, U. S.

MIGHTY COMBINED FORCE WOULD SECURE FREEDOM OF SEAS AND PREVENT MORE WARS, SAYS BAINBRIDGE COLBY, INTERNATIONAL LAWYER

PARIS, March, 9 - Pooling of the navies of Great Britain and the United States to secure freedom of the seas and prevent future wars was suggested by Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state in the cabinet of the late Woodrow Wilson and noted international lawyer, in addressing a luncheon at the American Club here. "Suppose," he said, "Great Britain and the United States combined in such a formula of co-operation. We would not permit, by virtue of our combined power, a recurrence of such a world catastrophe as that from which we have just issued," Mr. Colby said he was just throwing out the idea but he felt it did not deserve a brusque dismissal.

"There must," he continued, "be an understanding between the two great naval powers, sprung from the same origins, speaking the same language, fundamentally unified. We must achieve not only a formula of accord, but a formula of effective, mutual protection and unified service." The former head of the state department said the two nations might well take a tip from the example of Lloyds, famous marine insurance company, and set up their combined navies as a mutual assurance for the preservation of freedom of the seas and the avoidance of wars.

TRAIN FOR LEADERSHIP IN ORATORY!

Never Was the Spoken Word So Powerful as Today - Great Leaders are Orators.

In Saturday's issue of The Guardian we dealt with the value which oratorical training has in giving poise to those who undertake it. Somewhat akin to poise is another quality which it imparts in large measure - that of leadership. Today, more than ever before, the spoken word is powerful for good or evil. For better or worse, people are influenced in their thoughts and actions more by powerful speeches made by orators than by anything else under the sun. We are swayed by oratory in Parliament, from the pulpit and through the radio broadcast.

And great leaders of men are nearly always orators. Nothing perhaps so contributed to and unified England's might as did Lloyd George's powerful and compelling speeches. This is only one of many examples. Hundreds of them can be found in history. Begin this training now. Fill out the coupon and enroll in the Oratorical Contests today. Remember - Only three days, and the school contests must be over!

We have much pleasure in announcing that St. Dunstan's University will this year as last be represented in the contests. The list of schools entered to date is as follows:

KINGS COUNTY

Murray River School. Souris High School. New Perth School. Rollo Bay West School. Little Pond School. South Lake School. Cardigan School. Montague School.

QUEEN'S COUNTY

Mt. Stewart School. Hunter River School. Dunstaffnage School. Pleasant Valley School. Springfield School. Warren Grove School.

PRINCE COUNTY

Alberton High School. Freeand School. Kennington School. Summerside High School.

CHURCH SERVICES

BAPTIST CHURCH SERVICES

Rev. A. J. Vincent preached two powerful and eloquent sermons at the Baptist Church yesterday. His morning subject was: "The pathway to power," based on the dramatic story of the party of Elijah and Elisha, from 2 Kings. There is a pathway to power - some of the steps on the way thereto are, belief in the existence and sources of the power. The surrender of self, the life and Communion with God. Mr. Vincent's evening sermon was "A Heaven born passion for the lost," based on Romans 1.10. My heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is that they might be saved. Introducing his theme by a reference to the threat to the very existence of the Church of God that is implicit in the attitude of carelessness towards the duty of propagating the gospel he pointed out that throughout the ages the Church had grown in proportion to the devoted testimony of its people - their sincere and heaven born passion for the lost.

What has cooled the passion for the lost? - a loss of faith in the gospel of Jesus Christ, the loss of faith in the old gospel that men are lost. The passion may be regained by a real baptism in the love of God. The splendidly balanced choir led in excellent music morning and evening. Particularly fine was the anthem "We would see Jesus" (Brackett) with Miss Barbara McNeill's sweet soprano and Mr. Quigley's clear tenor taking the solos.

The Chairless House of the Wilderness," was the Minister's topic yesterday. His sermon centered around three main points, namely: No perfection in Aaron's Person. His Office was not continuous. Christ was his work finished. Christ was perfect Priest and King. Last evening Mr. Fulton dealt with a ponderous subject. Annihilation or Conditions Immortality. This doctrine he reasoned was unworthy of Man and of God and was founded upon a narrow, liberal, and erroneous interpretation of certain passages of Scripture.

ZION CHURCH

In the morning the choir rendered the anthem "Ye that stand in the House of the Lord" by Spinney, was sung. In the evening the anthem was "Pray for the Peace of Jerusalem" by Simper, Mrs. Frank LaFerty taking the solo. Mr. Elmer Farnell was the guest soloist of the evening. He rendered The Beautiful Garden of Prayer by Tilmore, and at the close of the sermon, the beautiful evening hymn, "Now the Day is Over." Mr. Farnell was in splendid voice and sang both selections with deep feeling and fervor.

MR. RODERICK McDONALD

There are many people in this Province who will learn with regret of the death of Mr. Roderick McDonald, which occurred at his residence, 35 Beaumont Street, Dorchester, Mass., on Sunday, February 10th after a short illness of three weeks. The deceased gentleman was born at Newport, Lot 54 in this Province; and when a young man engaged in square rigging. After a short while, however he turned his attention to the fisheries of Gloucester, Mass., where, for a number of years, he was employed on some of the largest fishing vessels of that port. In 1884 he opened a fisherman's outfitting business in Gloucester, which he successfully conducted for more than forty years. He took a deep interest in the municipal affairs of that city, and was, for a time, one of its common councilors. He did not seek further honors at the hands of the people, but he was nevertheless an ardent politician and enjoyed the close friendship of a number of the leaders in both political parties. In the early nineties, at the instance of Congressman William H. Moody, he was appointed Shipping Commissioner of the port of Gloucester, which position he filled to the entire satisfaction of the people.
