THE gift that many wise men will give their families this Christmas will be this glorious "Four-Ninety" Console—the finest of all the new, 1929 Rogers-Batteryless Models.

We say "wise men", because any other comparable radio would cost considerably more and it wouldn't be a Rogers.

This is the fourth Christmas since Rogers blazed the trail for Batteryless Radio and set the standard in quality and performance for practically all of the electric sets that are on the market this Christmas. Today more Rogers-Batteryless Radios are sold than all other electric sets combined!

The new "Four-Ninety" is a marvel of radio engineering by Rogers; a masterpiece of fine cabinet making by Malcolm. As only a limited number of this deluxe model have been made, only a limited number will be available for sale in this community.

For those who demand the utmost in electric radio, there can be no substitute for a Rogers-Batteryless. You can pay more for your Christmas radio, of course, but if you're wise you'll say it with a Rogers and be sure.

—THOMPSON-HEANEY—A pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening, December 12th, at seven o'clock at the home of Mrs. Edith Heaney, of Clinton, when her daughter, Miss Florence J. Heaney, became the bride of Mr. Horace Opie Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Thompson, of Margate. The ceremony took place in the drawing room under an arch of white roses and evergreen boughs intertwined with white tinsel. The wedding march was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Chester Simpson, of Malpeque. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Edison Heaney, looked very charming in a gown of beige georgette with over trimming of lace and blonde shoes and stockings and carried a bouquet of red and white carnations and maiden hair fern. The bride and groom were unattended. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Ayers, the bridal party and guests repaired to the dining room, where a sumptuous supper was served. The popular young couple were the recipients of a large number of costly and handsome presents. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside in Long River, where the former is an energetic farmer. The Guardian joins a host of friends in wishing them every success and happiness for the future.

—OLD-FASHIONED HOUSE WARMING FOR POPULAR PASTOR—On Monday evening, a very interesting affair took place at the home of the Rev. W. M. Harding, when the members and friends of the Summerside Christian Church came in and surprised Mr. and Mrs. Harding, and gave them a regular old-fashioned house warming. After a time spent in music and games, speech-making was the order of the evening. A nice address, prepared by Mr. W. W. Smith, was read by Mr. A. P. Wells in which he expressed the hearty good will of the people and the high esteem in which Mr. Harding was held by the church and the community at large. It would soon be forty years since his first pastorate in Summerside, and as that time he had preached to the grandparents of many of the young people who were present at the time, and he believed that Mr. and Mrs. Harding were held in the same high esteem today as then; if anything, and it were possible more so than ever. Mr. Harding, in replying, said that he was very much impressed with the occasion and the spirit of good will that had brought them to his home. He then related some incident of former experiences in the days of the old-fashioned "Donations" and had them all convulsed with laughter at the curious happenings. Becoming serious, he thanked them all, and said that his only hope in living was to help others, and bring some good cheer and sunshine into their lives. After the singing of the National Anthem, the party dispersed leaving not only good wishes for the season, but also a well stocked pantry with good things for the Christmas season.—S

TO HONOR DAME TERRY

LONDON, Eng., Dec. 14.—(By the Canadian Press)—Since the death of Dame Ellen Terry, noted actress here has been evidence of a strong desire that the widespread love and admiration which she inspired in life both as a woman and artist should be given some permanent expression. It is proposed to either acquire the old Tudor timbered house at Centerton, Kent, where she spent most of the last 25 years of her life and where she died; or to keep two rooms, in one of which she died, in such the state they were in during her lifetime; and to turn another room into a library of books on the drama and theatre.
