FAREWELL SERVICES—Yesterday in the Salvation Army Citadel Ensign and Mrs. Cranwell who have been transferred to another Army post held farewell services and bid a formal goodbye to many friends they have made here during the past three years. The program at the Army Citadel was confined to army officers. Ensign Cranwell gave an interesting review of past activities of the army and spoke optimistically of the future. During the three years spent in Charlottetown Ensign rapidly grew, especially with regard to young peoples work. This is a very gratifying sign, as it is on the young soldiers that the upbuilding of the Army largely depends. These two officers have given hard and devoted services to the cause and will be much missed, not only by their comrades in the army, but by the community at large. They leave Wednesday, their destination not yet being announced.

HORSE NOTE—Messrs. Mutch and Whitehead purchased twenty horses in Kensington Centre recently and fourteen of these were sired by the famous Baronet. They all exhibited the most striking characteristics of this perfect specimen of equine excellence. This ability to produce is the best feature that could be emphasized in the sire, Baronet which is admired wherever seen or heard of.

BEE DEMONSTRATION At Craud, Aug 18th., a demonstration in the keeping and handling of bees were given by the beekeeper of the Experimental Station Charlottetown. Mr. H. N. Bowes kindly gave the use of his bees and lawn for the occasion and many useful ideas were brought out. Frames were taken out of the hive, queen cells and queens shown, extracting done and questions answered. Mr. Geo. Seymour gave an interesting talk on his experience in purchasing bees by the pound which under his skillful management proved to be, not only a cheaper way in which to increase your stock, but profitable as well. At the close of the demonstration a meeting was held the object being a closer union of the beekeepers. Under the guidance of Rev. J. B. Daggett of Tryon, this was accomplished, the name chosen being "The Beekeepers Association of P. E. I." The following officers were elected:—Hon. Pres. J. A. Clark, Exer. Farm, Pres. Geo. Seymour, Centreville, Vice Pres. Henry Arbing, Ch' Town Sec. Treas. Harold Newson, Ch' Town Executive Committee. The few days it was earnestly hoped that he would recover but on Sunday morning he passed away to the land known to us only by faith. The funeral service which was fittingly conducted by the pastor Rev. J. M. Murchison and assisted by Rev. Malcoln Campbell First Methodist Church, Montreal was held in Malpeque Presbyterian church on Monday afternoon, Aug. 14th and the large and representative congregation in attendance was an expression of deep and true sympathy to the relatives and especially to the young widow, formerly Miss Minnie Mountain and to the seven small children who have been so sadly bereaved. We believe these few days it will be the particular care of Him who said "suffer little children to come unto me." The

J. B. Daggett tea cream and cake was served by the ladies present, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

ILLEGAL FISHING.—S. T. Gallant, Inspector of Fisheries, arrived home Wednesday, having spent the last twelve days in Fishery Officer Palmer's District.
