

EATING WITH BRITISH ROYALTIES
BY A LADY OF THE COURT.
(EDITED BY ELIZABETH CRAIG)

(Copyright by Montreal Star news Bureau)
These recipes are taken from the old household "Scrap Book" started by Queen Victoria in 1831. To this book various members of the Royal Family have contributed directions for the preparation of their favorite dishes. Contrary to general belief, the meals of the British Royal Family are not elaborate. The recipes can be utilized by any Canadian housewife.

SOUFFLE MAGNAIRE
OR SOUFFLE THERESA
1 pint of syrup of 32 degrees strength,
½ pint filtered strawberry juice,
3 gills double whipped cream,
15 yolks of eggs,
½ pint marshmallows,
1 pinch salt.

Mix syrup into yolks of eggs, then strain it into a copper egg bowl, previously warmed with hot water and wiped out, add the liquor strawberry juice and salt, and briskly whisk the mixture, with the bottom of the bowl standing 6 inches deep in hot water, till it takes the form of creamy butter, and begins to feel tepid to the touch. Continue beating for about 15 minutes, out of the water, and the soufflé case being ready placed in the ice cave, gently and lightly incorporate the whipped cream, and pour mixture into case, which should be deep enough to allow of its rising an inch. Before serving decorate surface with ratafias, and glace fruits, and angelica.

PANCAKES

(As cooked at the Palace.)
Put into a bowl 1 lb. of sifted flour, 6 ozs. powdered sugar, less a heaped table-spoonful, and a pinch of table salt. Beat with 10 eggs and 1 quart good creamy milk, added slowly by degrees. Flavor with 1 heaped table-spoonful of orange or vanilla sugar. Beat till batter is smooth, then melt a piece of butter in a five-cuplet pan and fry a large spoonful at a time over a very clear hot fire. When golden on one side flip on other, then remove from pan with a flat knife and sprinkle with caster sugar, or spread with jam or syrup and roll up. They are usually served on a dish containing all grease being removed.

You can fry the pancakes by using all the sugar and only 7 gills milk and flavoring the batter with a gill of brandy, drisch, or rum. Or you can use all the milk and all the sugar and flavor with grated almonds, grated lemon peel, or crushed almonds.

SPORTING COMMENT

BY "TEC."

The Absegweit Annual Meeting.

Notwithstanding the slim attendance the meeting was voted one of the best ever held in the history of the Club. The session although stormy at times was orderly, and just the right amount of pep was injected, which savoured of sincerity for the best interests of the Association. That necessary punch and go-get-'em demeanor seemed to hold full sway and every speaker presented his views in straight arm fashion, with the result that before the meeting was over all were in perfect accord and with one aim in view—"Mounting the Absegweit team on the pedestal of hockey supremacy in the Maritimes this winter."

Our President.

A word here may be said of the newly elected president of the Club, Mr. W. J. McDonald. His election to this high office found as much favor with the boys as Art Ross of the Bruins does with "Red" Stewart, and the members of the Absegweit Club may rest assured that Billie will carry on the work in the same capable, enthusiastic and efficient manner as his predecessor Mr. R. C. Chandler who was president for 1924-25. Mr. McDonald has been a member of the Absegweits for a goodly number of years during which time his services have been well rendered, and it is a fitting compliment that Billie was elected to the President's chair for 1925-26.

These evenings every conceivable nook and corner where fans congregate, hockey talk is the chief topic of interest, and the island's chances of annexing the title holds the centre of the stage. Differences of opinion, suggestions and heated arguments make the time fly so quickly that the midnight hour, in lots of cases, finds the "stove leagues" no further ahead, only that before adjourning for the night all are unanimous that the red and black wearers will have a hockey team that Charlottetown and the Island in general may well feel proud of.

Looking Them Over.

There's a wealth of timber this year in the rank and file of the long list of Absegweit hockeyists and tough going is predicted for the Manager and Coach when it comes to picking men for the odd places. If "Dame Rumor" is correct the locals will not want for good net men as it is reported that "Stonewall" Morgan contemplates getting back into harness this season; Dr. Charlie Dougan has also intimated that he will return to the game. The picking of a defence will be a more or less perplexing problem as Kelly, Aiyward, Anderson, Dewar and others will be working hard for a chance at guarding that portion of the ice. The front line seems to look good for regulars, but one can never tell, anyway the "Four Horsemen," Williams, McEachern, Gordon and Prowse are the unanimous choice on paper at the present time for the job of looking after the destinies in the speed area. That there is no laxity of subs is evidenced by the fact that Cox, Cronin, Craig, Scantlebury, E. Diamond, W. Ryan and others express a strong determination to catch a place on the line-up. Therefore when the first ice practice is called an array of material good to gaze upon is expected to answer the Coach's whistle. In the meantime it wouldn't be a bit out of order to suggest some form of P.T., which would get the men in condition for the more strenuous work on the steel blades.

Seen And Heard In Passing.

Henry in the Air—Ford expects to have a large flock of Henry aeroplanes whizzing through space soon. There is plenty of static as it is but when those home made Detroit birds start to fly, say good-bye to radio concerts.

"Red" Makes Hay.

That old parody, "Go West Young Man," so ably intoned by Horace Greeley, has failed to keep the famous "Red" Grange in the vicinity of dear old Illinois College. "Red" has heard the call of the east with its golden opportunities for cashing in on his football ability, and almost over night he has sailed away a cool half million. Grange hasn't been able out West to equal the offers that New York movie men have made him for the filming of the priceless pair of pins that adorn his anatomy, while sporting goods firms are rivaling each other for the use of his name and paying handsomely for it. Grange, a football player by choice and an iceman by profession, has left college football for the professional brand, and cleaned up handsomely in the few games he has competed in. In addition he intends to capitalize his ability on the gridiron to the fullest extent, and will sign up with any reliable promoter that will guarantee enough shekels to make it worth his while. He aims to make a million and retire. What other football player has had this chance in this or any other country? "Red" wisely figures that fame is fleeting and once he fails to shine on the pro gridiron that his star will soon be in the eclipse. And in the meantime he will make all the jack possible before Lady Luck turns her shadow in another direction. Good luck to him.

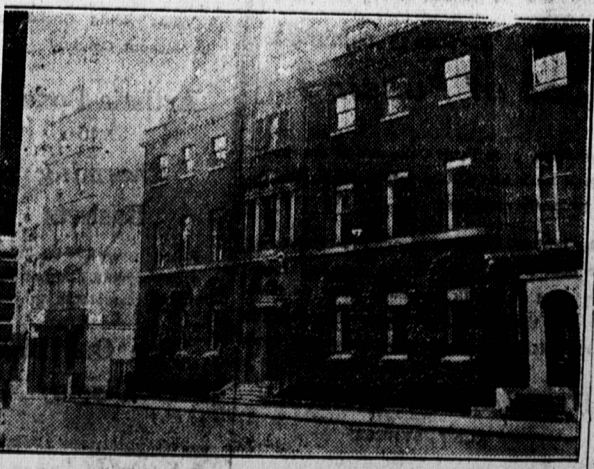

Christmas.

It's a good time for business. The stores are prepared or hurrying to get that way. Christmas trees and turkey will probably be as high as ever. It's a time of give and take. You may have to take ten or twelve neckties, fountain pens or a half dozen humidors of tobacco that you can't use, but do it gracefully. Hope you all have very pleasant holidays. Don't forget the poor.—And let's try and catch the real Christmas message. Use fifteen minutes or so sometime before the 25th, and think it over.

Prowse Returning.

The writer learns from good authority that Roy "Mix" Prowse is returning from Brandon, Manitoba, where he has been visiting the past month. Roy will be a big acquisition to the Absegweits, in fact he will fit in just where most needed, the defence.

GREAT TEACHER OF VERACITY.

At the dawn of modern history stands the figure of an old stone cutter; attractive and quaint, likeable and eccentric, but wholly unimpressive; the last man in the world a sculptor would take for any aspect of human glory.
No picturesque dust of the wilderness stains his shabby garment; no prophetic fire burns in his rather ludicrous eyes. On the contrary, he is a playful, a whimsical, a wagglish, an ironical person; in form, comic and clownish, so that he is likened by one of his friends to a cottage loaf; in nature, near-kin to Bunyan, Samuel Johnson, Sir Thomas Browne, or even Charles Lamb, than to John the Baptist, Mohammed, Luther, Robespierre, or any other firebrand of history.
Such was Socrates, the original genius of common sense, the great teacher of moral and intellectual veracity; one of the profoundest influences in our Anglo-Saxon civilization—A Gentleman With a Duster in "Seven Ages."

DAUGHTERS SUE FATHER.

Frederick Lieser, a Lafayette county, Mo., farmer, is defendant in suits for remuneration for personal services filed by his daughters.
Edna Lieser, 36, asks $10,000 as pay at $600 a year from the time she reached her eighteenth birthday.
Lena Lieser, 54, asks $21,100 on the same basis, less $500 paid to her in cash in 1921.
Frederick Lieser, who is 82 years old, originally owned a 440-acre farm near Corder, Mo. The daughters say they were induced to remain on the farm and work on the promise that they would be paid and would be remembered in the father's will.

PROFESSIONAL OPINION.

Kathie, who's fluffy and blonde and demure, was having a little trouble with her eyes. It chanced that the specialist to whom she went was young and handsome. Kathie went every day for a week. Then the young man began calling at her home.
One evening dad finally detached himself from the Wild West stories long enough to make an inquiry.
"Well, well, Kathie, what does the doctor say about your eyes?"
"Oh, he says they are beautiful."

THE NEW BABY
Doris was radiant over a recent and she watched very closely the effect to tell a passing neighbour.
"Oh you don't know what we've got upstairs?"
"What is it?" the neighbour asked.
"A new baby brother," said Doris.
"You don't say so!" the neighbour exclaimed. Is he going to stay?"
"I think so," said Doris. "He got things off."
