The Guardian compliments the Telephone Company of P. E. I. upon the enterprise shown in placing the telephone within the reach of every farmer. Never was there a more aggressive work done for the farmer and never was there more phones placed on farms than right now. It is not surprising at all, because to the present management belongs all credit for properly bringing the advantages of the phone before the farmers as it never was brought before. The Telephone has advantages on the farms—it is pronounced by those who have it as indispensable. In the United States the farmers are noted for the approval of the phones—they appreciate its benefits, would not think of going without it for double the charges—they couldn't. This tide is sweeping Canada at the present time, and the Telephone Company of P. E. I. are determined to give the farmers of Prince Edward Island all the benefits enjoyed by farmers in other provinces and the farmers are showing their appreciation by having the phones placed in their homes. Read the Telephone ad in this issue.

Her grief-stricken parents and baby sister are left to mourn, to whom universal sympathy is extended. The funeral took place on Sunday at 3 p. m. to the Episcopal Cemetery. The School Cadet movement grows apace; papers from the Old Country or from the outlying portions of the British Empire, all contain references to the manner in which it has taken hold of the people. It is felt that in the future it will be the most important factor in the safety of the Empire at large, for "just at the twig is bent, the tree is inclined," and anything that we, individually or collectively, can do to foster the growth and manliness in the youth will be just that much done to solidify the Imperial idea. The object of the coming Kermesse is to provide uniforms for the Cadets, and it will be a crying shame if our citizens let this splendid opportunity pass of showing their deep interest in the movement. It is a duty we owe to the country at large, and it should be a pleasure for all of us to assist the Kermesse by every effort in our power. The people of Charlottetown are noted for the promptness with which they lend a helping hand to all good objects, and we judge them wrongly, if when the days of the Kermesse come around, they do not make the welkin ring with the sure sound of their approval. The patriotic citizens, and we are all patriotic, will rally around the standard of the Kermesse and assist the work, we are quite sure.
