

Orphanage Given Movie Projector By Kiwanis Club

The Charlottetown Kiwanis Club carried out the second of their major beneficial projects this week when they presented the children of St. Vincent's Orphanage with a new moving picture projector machine last night.

Mr. Charles Praught made the presentation on behalf of the club. In doing so he outlined the two objectives of the Kiwanis Club which led to the idea of providing some permanent and tangible tokens to the orphanage children.

Following the presentation Chairman Lawson Jenkins called upon His Excellency, Bishop James Doyle. His Excellency paid tribute to the club for their liberal and generous contribution to the educational and recreational benefits of the children.

The immediate past president, Mr. Leo P. MacDonald, a former president, Mr. Fred Nash, and the present vice-president, Dr. William Soper all stated that the aid of two orphanages would remain as part of the object of the club's work.

REVIEWS FIRE LOSSES—Charlottetown's fire loss last year amounted to $72,492, which is considerably higher than the loss suffered in 1948, Fire Chief H. H. Jewell, announced at the annual meeting of the Charlottetown Fire Department Wednesday evening. Three fires at the Tweed Building, Simpson's and the Canadian Oil Company, accounted for over half of the loss sustained. A total of 167 calls were responded to and of this number 55 were general alarms and 112 still alarms. A large number of fires in the town were caused by defective stove pipes. Another major cause of fires was attributed to careless smokers. There was an 87 per cent attendance at the fires which is a good record considering the type of fire alarm system employed here. The executive of the Fire Department consisted of Chief Jewell, Assistant Chief James Walker, Captain Gordon Stewart, Captain William Connolly, Secretary Leslie Gillespie and Lieutenant L. Ranaghan. The finance committee comprises Len Connolly, Percy Cameron and William Campbell while George Abbott and George Rogers are the auditors.

DEATH OF REV. DR. STUART PARKER—The Very Rev. Dr. Stuart C. Parker, a leading figure in the Presbyterian Church in Canada and one of the country's ablest preachers, died in Montreal Monday, aged 62. Since 1923, after he came from his native Scotland, he was minister of St. Andrew's Church at King and Simcoe streets in downtown Toronto. He was a former Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly. Twice he toured Canada on speaking tours, the first time in 1939 during his term as Moderator at the second time during the Second World War when he spoke on behalf of the R. C. A. F. with which he spent a year on special duty. He had been in poor health in recent weeks. Last month he submitted his resignation at St. Andrew's but it was not accepted and he was asked instead to take leave of absence. He planned a second resignation but death came first. Born and raised in Glasgow, he was assistant minister at Glasgow Cathedral when he received the call to St. Andrew's. He was the author of several religious books.

Consider Action In Alleged Drowning Case

MONTREAL, Jan. 19 (CP)—Senior police officers and attorneys met today to consider what charge might be laid against Mrs. Joseph Lacas while she slowly closed in over the section of the St. Lawrence River where she said she drowned her two grandchildren.

Because they could not find any bodies under the ice, forcing abandonment of search operations today, police said they could not charge the 50-year-old grandmother with the murder she claimed to have committed.

There was no statement after the conference, however, although it was thought likely the white-haired woman might be charged either with attempted suicide or a technical count of kidnapping. Jail attendants said she tried to strangle herself early today in the cell where she has been detained without charge since she told police early Wednesday she had shoved the two tots in the river rather than see them sent to a foster home.

She identified the children, John, 3, and Pierre-Paul, 18 months, as the illegitimate children of her 22-year-old daughter Madeleine. Meanwhile, in the shack in the East End where the mother and daughter lived together with the children, the daughter said in an interview: "I won't believe that she killed my children before she herself tells me that she did."

Divers who searched the river where Mrs. Lacas said she drowned the tots, reported late today the search was being abandoned. Fast-moving ice was choking the river and cold weather brought the prospect that search could not be resumed until spring.

Illegal Sale Of Canadian Potatoes Claimed By Maine

AUGUSTA, Me. Jan. 18 (AP)—A Maine agriculture department official charged today that Canadian potatoes are being bagged in the United States under Maine labels and sold illegally in eastern markets.

The operations, said George Chioia, State Marketing Division chief, are affecting seriously the future of Maine's top farm industry.

He said United States food and drug administration investigators have seized several lots of improperly-labelled potatoes, mostly in Massachusetts.

The offenders, he said, are being cited for hearing before the federal officials and several prosecutions are being prepared.

The Canadian potatoes were imported legally under international agreements, but most of them involved in these cases were below the quality indicated on the Maine labels.

said to the house by which they were named. They took the complainant to the door to check his story and after asking Miss MacGregor if she knew him the defendant explained the situation to her and then they left. Witness stated on cross examination that Mr. Hoe had not been carrying any parcel that evening. She told how she had known the complainant since her childhood and had never heard of such a mistrust him before.

Frank Templeman, director of handicrafts in Newfoundland, appointed chairman of a committee to study what equipment and materials should be bought, and where, for the benefit of Canadian handicraft programs.

U. S. Looking For Hot Weather Cow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (CP)—United States agricultural scientists are trying to breed a "hot weather" cow.

If successful, they say the experiment may change the dairy picture of the southern United States.

The cow is the first two-way cross in a breeding program to develop a dairy-cattle strain which will be resistant to the hot weather of the Southern States and still produce milk in amounts comparable to northern cattle.

The experiment entered a new phase recently when a calf was born of a cross between a Jersey heifer and a Red Sindhi bull at a Government experimental station in nearby Maryland. The Red Sindhi is a cow of the Brahman type of the tropical India.

Tests shortly will be made to determine what kind of milk-producer the calf ultimately will become.

The experiments with the Red Sindhi have made Government dairy experts optimistic.

They started in 1946, when a United States admiral stationed in the Pacific helped to push the experiments ahead. He had four head of Sindhi—two young bulls and two heifers—brought out of India to the United States. After several months in quarantine they were released to the scientists.

Zion Church Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of Zion Presbyterian Church was held on Thursday evening, January 19th with a goodly number of the congregation present. The Minister, Rev. G. C. Webster opened the meeting with a brief devotional service. Mr. Webster was appointed to act as chairman, and Mrs. F. A. A. Much as secretary.

The minutes of the last annual meeting, as published in the 1948 annual report, were on motion adopted. The general report of the session was read by the clerk of session, Mr. Donald MacKinnon. The various organizations presented their reports in mimeographed form which showed progress in all branches of the Church, and their finances in excellent condition. Special mention was made of the splendid work done by the Women's Auxiliary and of the fact that they have ordered a Memorial Window which they hope to have installed during the next few months.

The estimates were presented for 1950 and increases granted to Church officials.

The following Trustees were elected for the coming year: E. A. Cudmore, Norman MacPherson, Joseph Rodd, Preston McLaine, Blair MacDonald, Gordon Leitch, George W. McLeod, Reginald MacNutt, Ralph Balderston, Ernest Reid and J. H. Hill.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Minister, Organist, Sexton and the organizations of the Church for the splendid work accomplished during the past year. This motion was made by Mr. E. A. Cudmore on behalf of the congregation.

Rev. G. C. Webster thanked the members and friends of Zion for their co-operation and helpfulness during the past year, after which he closed the meeting with the benediction.

ing of all potato dealers and truckers by the Provincial Government and the appointment of a co-operative marketing and organizational official.

The potato committee reported that certain studies relative to potato culture are to be undertaken by the Experimental Station at its Upton Farm in the near future and suggested certain studies which might be included.

The committee heartily endorsed the practise of destroying vines by means of chemical vine killers, but advised that growers allow an interval of approximately two weeks between death of tops and harvesting. The committee stated that this practise, if properly conducted, could reduce late blight losses to a minimum.

The horticulture committee recommended that cold storage facilities for the freezing and handling of horticultural products be investigated and steps taken to make this a reality.

Inspection Urged

The committee also recommended that new legislation should be provided for compulsory inspection of all fruits and vegetables shipped from the Province.

It was pointed out by Mr. Chester Shaw that compulsory inspection was enforced on potatoes and turnips leaving the Province but that such was not the case with carrots, parsnips and other vegetables.

The committee also recommended that more attention be given to the development of a shalot eyed potato similar in variety to the Irish shalot but with greater resistance to blight and other common potato diseases. The need for an entomologist was also pointed out.

The setting up of a Marketing Board similar to that operating in Saskatchewan which would be empowered to handle all poultry and livestock products was recommended by the poultry committee for 1950 at the meeting yesterday.

Another recommendation asked that all Provincial products be marketed under one brand name and that products offered for sale be up to or above standard.

The recommendations also asked for an endeavor to promote increased consumption of poultry and poultry products, licensing of all dealers and handlers of poultry, and immediate steps to provide adequate cold storage facilities for poultry and poultry products.

FISH Will Hit Canada And, he added, the U. S. policy to sell its surpluses at rock-bottom prices would harm prices in Canada, even though those commodities would not be allowed into Canada. He said Canada might lodge an official protest against the U. S. policy, but he had been protesting for years, with no apparent results. The move was described as a "serious blow to marketing stability all over the world" by M. J. Coldwell, national C.C.F. leader. In a statement he urged the Government to make "an immediate and vigorous protest" to the U. S. about its decision "to dump without warning huge quantities of agricultural products on the world markets at fire-sale prices." The Canadian Federation of Agriculture said cancellation or reduction of export food contracts had disrupted Canadian agriculture. The industry now was facing a crisis. Spokesman for some 400,000 organized farmers, the C.F.A. said it expected to tackle the crisis vigorously when the Federation meets at its annual convention in Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 31. Farmers across the country have swamped Mr. Gardiner's office with appeals for price support for their products. The Government already has approved subsidies for bacon and cheese, totalling about $4,500,000 this year.
