THE HUDSON CASE ON YESTERDAY

The preliminary hearing in the case of Victor Hudson, Stanhope, charged with manslaughter, was continued yesterday morning at eleven o'clock in the City Police Court Room before Stipendiary Magistrate Macdonald.

The case was continued for the Crown by Mr. Martin, who called Dr. Johnson.

Dr. H. D. Johnson (sworn)—I was directed to perform a post-mortem on the body of Johanna Hudson. I did so on October 17th, assisted by Dr. I. J. Yeo, Charlottetown, at the Stanhope Cemetery. The body was exhumed. Examined the body for marks of violence. Found none. Found discolorations and consider they were all post-mortem. There is no doubt of this. Internal organs, lungs, heart and abdominal cavity were examined. Very little decomposition was found. The lungs were darker than usual and crepitant, that is almost in the condition they were during life. The kidneys were quite normal. The arteries of the body were examined and the larger ones were in very good condition. The membrane surrounding the heart was normal, and on opening into the cavity of the membrane there were no adhesions. The heart was pale and flabby and seemed empty. On opening it up this was found to be so, all the chambers being free of blood. Examined the heart itself. The lining was pale, but otherwise appeared all right. As to size, it was not all thickened and was of a natural size for a woman, weighing between eight and nine ounces. There was no trace of hypertrophy of the heart, if any at all it must have been very slight. The valves on the right side of the heart were normal, and those between the right auricle and the right ventricle were good. On the left side the valves between the auricle and the ventricle, one is larger than the other. The smaller one appeared red and roughened on the side, but was about the normal color. In the centre of it there was a reddish spot. These are the mitral valves. Examined the valves between the left chamber and the aorta valve and found them smooth, two of the prominences in the centre of the valve were larger than the third. The end of the valve was smooth. The cups appeared in good position and opposed each other properly. When we poured water into the artery it flowed back into the heart. The arterial walls were in good condition. Examined coronary arteries and found them not hardened. There was no evidence of dilation. The heart was contracted, flabby and totally empty. In my opinion the heart was empty at death. From my examination I would say as my opinion from the general outline and all appearances that death was caused by some action of the nervous system. I would say death took place as a result of some action on the heart through some nerve influence. Strong excitement or a direct blow would cause death by shock, as this seemed to be. The solar plexus is a great nervous centre. Death might result from a blow here without any abrasion. As a result of a blow on this region of the stomach certain nerve fibres are paralyzed. These nerve fibres are those which strongly keep the blood vessels of that region contracted and when paralyzed these vessels at once dilate and as a result the person bleeds into these vessels. Fainting takes place which, continued, causes death. In such a case it is expected to find the heart empty. A sudden scare, violent exercise, the be responsible for death. The heart beats very fast in these cases and there might be a sudden collapse. I would not suppose from my examination an ordinary quarrel would cause death. I found no traces of any other disease of the heart or vital organs. For her age I found the blood vessels and organs of the deceased in good order.

Cross-examined by Mr. Stewart—I formed no opinion personally. I was told that she had died from a shock. It was getting dark and a lantern was lighted before autopsy began. I don't know Bert Misner. When I called at Mrs. Hudson's I did not tell her that her's was the first place I called at. There was a request made for time to allow a doctor to represent the accused. I didn't know that this autopsy ought to be performed by daylight, according to the authorities. They were perhaps twenty minutes exhuming the body and about an hour performing the autopsy in the cemetery. There was no fluid in the chest when opened. A flabby heart is not necessarily a sign of dilation. From what I saw I would not think that the heart was flabby during life. I put the water test and found that the water flowed back. If the blood came back during life as the water came back in the test it would indicate regurgitation I am not prepared to swear that the

SHELDON TO RETURN

Special to The Guardian.

MONTREAL, Oct. 24.—Crown Prosecutor Lafortune has announced that the Attorney General had issued instructions for running down C. D. Sheldon the missing blind pool operator.

Detectives will track him to the ends of the earth if needs be.

The provincial police have the idea where Sheldon is and say he will be brought back to Montreal before long.

MONTREAL, Oct. 24.—Now that the cloud of dust caused by the dramatically sudden disappearance of C. D. Sheldon is clearing away, facts are coming to the surface which point to the direction of a carefully planned "get-away." That months ago the blind pool operator saw ahead sufficiently far to know that his financial career in Montreal could not be indefinitely prolonged, and sent out of the country to Mexico for salting away purposes $50,000 in cold hard cash, was the statement tonight on apparently excellent authority.

BRITISH IMPORTS

Special to The Guardian.

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—Mr. Macnamara reports from Manchester that in three years the imports of American imports of American flour have fallen off one hundred and twenty per cent.

LAST NIGHT'S WRESTLING

The wrestling match last evening in The People's Theatre last evening proved quite a drawing card. The big hall was well filled and quite a number of the fair sex was present. The match was between Dan McDonald of Sydney and J. J. Sayre, Moncton. Both these men are well known here as wrestlers and their work of last night added much to their popularity. McDonald had the advantage of Sayre in weight and never through the bout did he seem to be in any danger of being thrown. After meeting on the mat the two entered into negotiations each striving to get an advantageous hold. This continued with much variety for twenty-one minutes before "Dan" got his man where he wanted him and put him down. On their second appearance the wrestlers gave a somewhat faster exhibition than the first and in twenty minutes McDonald got another throw. L. B. McMillan was timer and B. J. L. Garnhum was referee. The match was a decidedly interesting one and was followed with keen interest by the entire audience who applauded the two on every occasion. This clean exhibition of the sport of the mat was highly appreciated by all and the proprietors of the People's Theatre deserve much credit for the manner in which it was conducted. It is hoped that another match may be arranged soon.

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

MONTREAL, Oct. 24.—Aeronauts from Germany and Switzerland in baloons that started from St. Louis on Monday evening in Gordon-Bennett race have arrived in Montreal.

August Blanckertz tells a thrilling story of being lost 32 hours in forests north of the Transcontinental Railway.

Hunger, cold and fatigue brought them to verge of insanity before the reached a Railway Construction Camp, having taken nearly two day o walk a distance that the baloo covered in 15 minutes.

So desperate did their position become that aeronauts were on the erge of suicide.

ABBIES VS VICS-3-0

Yesterday's game between the Abbies and Victorias resulted in a win for the former by a score of 3—0.

The day was not one of the best for football there being a heavy wind blowing up the field. The ground was in fair condition except for a few wet spots on the north side.

The Abbies played some substitutes on their team and one man short throughout. The Vics also had some changes, having a number of new men on.

Sark kicked off for the Vics against a strong wind. The return kick went over the line forcing the Vics to rouge. In scrim work the Abbies had the best of the game all through, getting the ball back of their halves and giving them opportunities for runs and kicks which they got in frequently, mgking the Vics to rouge a number of times.

The second half was featured by much close rushing plays. The Abbies halves continuously getting the ball and forcing the Vics to do some sharp tackling to keep them in check. Toward the end of the half Hooper got the ball on a pass and made the only score.

With five minutes to play the Vics by nice dribbling and quick following rushed the ball over the Abbies line compelling them to rouge. Rev. Jos. Gallant was referee.

EMPRESS' ASSASSIN SUICIDES.

GENEVA, Oct. 20—Luigi Luccheni, the anarchist who assassinated the Empress Elizabeth of Austria in 1896, hanged himself in his cell here today.

Luccheni stabbed the empress in the back while she was quietly walking along while on a visit to Switzerland. The empress was a quiet woman, who took little or no interest in the politics of Austria-Hungary. She was beloved of the people and her assassination was deeply deplored, and general detestation was expressed of the murder.

There is no capital punishment in Switzerland, murderers being sentenced to solitary confinement.

NOVA SCOTIA COAL BARONS FROWN ON RECIPROCITY.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 21—At the request of the government of Nova Scotia the coal operators of this province met them today to state their position regarding reciprocity and other matters connected with the industry.

A meeting of the coal men was first held, at which 98 per cent of the output in this province was represented, at which they unanimously adopted a resolution that reciprocity with the United States in coal would be highly injurious to the mining interests of Nova Soctia. The delegates then waited on the government and made a full statement of their reasons for opposing reciprocity.

$10.00 in Gold will be paid to the first person sending in the name of the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes in this contest. No condition attached to the offer. Just send in the name of your favorite and we will call upon her without suggesting your name.

The contest territory being divided into three districts affords representation generally, giving each a fair chance for one of the Tours or Prizes. Don't miss a single copy of The Guardian; there are some surprises beyond the fondest expectations of the aspirants for the crowns to appear. It is a friendly race in which the fair contestants will engage and the laurels that will be won will be fitting tributes for the efforts of the ladies engaged in the "Greatest Contest ever held in this Province."

The Guardian has received numerous inquiries asking about the details of the Tours and Contest, and many of the leading business men of Charlottetown have highly commended the paper on its plan and itinerary.

It seems hardly necessary to impress upon the minds of the many the fact that this offer is for all that are eligible to enter the contest and that the opportunity of a lifetime is now at hand. This is being realized not only by those who have already entered the contest and those who contemplate doing so, but by everyone who reads the great offer, and many ladies who have been hesitating and have consulted their friends before arriving at a decision have all been advied to go in the contest in the way that means "win."

The field is open to all alike under similar conditions and no candidate will have any advantage over another one, except that the candidate who enters early and marshals her forces to support her will have the start of the one who enters after the balloting begins. Now, therefore, is the time to enter to have the advantage over other contestants who hesitate to enter until the active voting has begun.

There will be two methods of voting—by "clipped" and "special" coupons. The "clipped" will appear in The Guardian, and will count for ten votes each when deposited in the Ballot Box located in the main hall of The Guardian Office. The "specials" will be issued on paid-in-advance subscriptions, and may be voted in favor of any contestant who has been entered as a candidate, according to the rules governing the contest, which rules have been established with the sole object of safeguarding the interests of each candidate alike, and of making the contest as fair for one as for another, to make absolutely certain that no person shall have any advantage whatever over another, excepting the advantage that comes from their own ability to capture votes. The rules established at the beginning of the contest will in no way be changed, and no exception to any rule will be made for any person. They must be lived up to strictly in order that the contest shall be perfectly fair.

Whether or not you or your friends desire to become candidates, complete information concerning the contest will be given upon your request.

The Contest Department of The Guardian will remain open each evening this week from seven to eight o'clock, in order to give the contestants an opportunity of calling in and discussing the rules and conditions of the contest.

Don't fail to see the beautiful District Prizes on display at the following places: A. E. Toombs, Queen St.; Miller Bros., and Montague Furnishing Co., Montague.

CRIPPEN'S LAST DAY

Special to The Guardian.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Dr. Hawley Crippen, convicted for the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, will be hanged Nov. 8.

The date originally announced was Nov. 15, but the Sheriff made the date one week earlier.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 23—"My son is innocent, even though he stands convicted, and I believe his wife Belle Elmore is living somewhere in the United States." With tears streaming down his face, Myron A. Crippen, father of the physician sentenced yesterday in London to be hanged, made this statement when the news was broken to him here. It was apparent that the aged man has small hope of the course of the law being changed. In his hour of sorrow, however, he referred with pride to the early life of his son. He said that as a child, "Harvey," had an unusual mind—that is his desire for music. When his parents would not permit him to indulge in his artistic taste, he made his own violin, and that at an early age he entered the office of a physician at San Jose, Cal., and received the rudiment of a medical education which was completed at Ann Arbor, Mich. Mr. Crippen is practically penniless.

Men were at work today dragging for the body.

YALE FOOTBALL PLAYER LAID UP FOR SEASON.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., October 21—That Howe, looked upon as one of the best quarter backs Yale has had, will not be able to play this season was practically decided upon today. Howe is suffering from a sprained back and there seems to be small chance of his returning to the game.

C. P. R. CLAIMS RECORD.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—A Liverpool despatch says the Empress of Ireland broke all records in actual steaming time from Rimouski to the Mersey, the time being five days 12 hours and 10 minutes, Lord Bathurst was a passenger. GOLD FIND MADE BY ENTERPRISING HENS. AT NEW ANNAN.

NEW ANNAN, Col., Co., Oct. 20.—A discovery of gold has been made on the property of George W. Swan, West New Annan, whose hens have been the discoverers. The curiosity proverbial to small boys, led to the finding of a small nugget of pure polished gold in the gizzard of a fowl recently killed and a closer search disclosed a good sized one, in all several dollars worth. An examination of the other "biddies" killed at the same time resulted in nothing of color, but this being the second time a find of this kind has been made enough has been found to prove the presence of gold in the near neighborhood. Naturally there is considerable excitement and prospecting parties are anxiously following up the clue.

STORY ABOUT THE TRANS-CONTINENTAL

Special to The Guardian.

TORONTO, Oct. 24—A mail and Empire despatch quotes one of the most prominent Liberals in New Brunswick is making the startling announcement that the main line of the National Transcontinental is to run for a considerable distance through United States territory.

No one, this gentlemen said, believes the road will go miles out of its way for the purpose of rounding the state of Maine, and the Government will build a cut-off through Maine, thus shortening the distance between Levis and Moncton by seventy-five miles, over which all passengers and nearly all the freight will be taken.

This, it is contended, will oot contravene the act of Parliament, because there will remain an all-Canadian route, even though this is not used except in case of war.

1ST METHODIST CENTENARY

The congregation of the First Metnodist Church last evening celebrated the 100th anniversary of the purchase of the first land for church purposes. This plot was in the rear of the Old London House on the corner of Queen and Richmond streets.

James Paton presided in his usual capable style and after a few introductory remarks and a selection by the School of Music orchestra, he called on Henry Smith, Recording Steward of the Church, who read an excellent paper giving an account of odist Church from its earliest beginning to the present day. His paper was one of exceptional interest.

He was followed by Rev. Dr. Heartz, who, by a masterly address, held the rapt attention of his audience throughout as he told of different epochs in the history of the Church. The Doctor has evidently ingratiated himself into the hearts of many in Charlottetown. Those who were present last evening were pleased to hear him express the wish to make this city his home.

Pleasing solos were rendered by Miss Kathleen Moore and Miss Hazel Bremner and the beautiful selections of the orchestra were highly appreciated. A duet worthy of special notes as one of merit was that of G. F. and Mrs. Hutcheson, who sang very sweetly.

A vote of thanks was moved by W. C. Turner and seconded by S. F. Hodgson, who, in a complimentary speech, referred to the success of the Centenary celebration and the pleasure it had afforded all who attended.

After this refreshments were served by the ladies and some time later the singing of the National Anthem brought the memorable gathering to a close.

WHY NOT GIRL SCOUTS?

The Boy Scout movement, suggested originally, we believe, by Ernest Thompson Seton, and taken up in England by General Baden Powell, is growing in this country very rapidly, and will probably soon be another picturesque feature of our more or less picturesque civilization.

The boy scouts are a large army, graded according to age and general ability.

A boy is placed according to what he can do and the measure of his honor. He must be able to make a camp, hunt and fish, walk long distances, be familiar with wood-craft, rescue people in emergencies, and prove his self-reliance in many ways. Unless politics or graft gets into this new machine it ought to prove effective.

But why confine the movement to the boys?

Why not have girl scouts also? They could be taught, for example:

To wash dishes.
To learn the use of a broom.
To wear simple clothes.
To avoid slang.
To help mother.
To learn something about how to take care of a young baby.
To speak respectfully to their parents.
