Happenings of the Week

A delightful tea was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Ed. D. Nicholson at her charming home, Fitzroy St. in honor of her mother, Mrs. Horace McEwen, Vancouver, who is at present visiting in the Island and Nova Scotia. The guests were received by Mrs. Nicholson, her sister, Mrs. Price, Montreal, and Mrs. McEwen, and Mrs. Price also poured tea.

One of the social events at Summerside this week was the bridge party given by the ladies of the Golf Club on Friday afternoon, a large number of ladies and gentlemen were present and a most enjoyable time was spent by all.

The hostesses at the Golf Links at Summerside this afternoon will be, Mrs. H. T. Colvin, Mrs. A. W. Leard, Miss Helen Manson and Miss Mattie MacFarlane.

The reception given on Thursday evening by the Young People of the Christian Church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wells, Summerside, in honor of Rev. Mr. Smith, who is leaving shortly for his home in Ontario, was a most enjoyable function. Receiving with Rev. Mr. Smith in the drawing room were, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wells and Mr. W. W. Smith. Mr. Ennis Habley was in attendance at the door, while Miss Grace Wells ushered the guests into the dining room. Miss Marion McArthur, Miss Harriet Bradshaw and Miss Gladys McDonald waited on the guests in the dining room. The address was read by Miss Nina Schurman and a handsome presentation was presented to Rev. Mr. Smith by Mr. W. W. Smith. Quite a large number of friends from town and country called to wish Rev. Mr. Smith farewell. A charming feature was the boat sail which followed the reception in honor of Mr. Smith and Mr. Wilson, pastor of the Baptist church here.

Ven. Archdeacon and Mrs. White with their two youngest children, Master Tom and Miss Betty, leave on Monday for a motor trip through Nova Scotia. Mr. Harold White, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce staff at Amherst, who is taking his vacation, will accompany them on their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Harris, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Morris and Miss Millicent Strong of Summerside left on Friday morning on a motor trip to Montreal and Toronto. While in Toronto they will take in the Canadian National Exhibition.

The new long skirts, however, much controversy they have aroused, are mere wisps of material when compared with some that engulfed the modern girl's great-grand-mother.

In the early 1860s flounced hoop skirts had reached such proportions that 1,100 yards of material were required or a single fashionable evening gown. The flounces themselves, circular ruffles placed one above another, reached their limit in a gown worn by the Empress Eugenie which had 103 of them from waistline to floor. Even earlier, in the crinoline era, skirts, bolstered underneath by five or six petticoats, had reached a point where the most fashionable measured ten yards around the hem, and a social crisis arose whenever two women attempted to occupy the same sofa.

These were the days of wax candles and these creations burned like tinder. At no other time in history have so many deaths from burning been recorded.

You can now go through your treasure chest and take out and shine up that jewelry of your great-grandmother's which you have been thinking you would have reset some fine day, for it is all right now—right in the know and not a thing needs to be done to it for the Victorian frocks have revived quaint old jewelry.

A new blouse to wear with a sports suit or dark cotton or silk town suit is another small investment in chic that justifies itself. A fresh pressing for the dark cotton suit and a smart new blouse will work wonders in both feelings and appearance. Flat crepe is a happy choice for a between-season blouse of slightly formal nature. For sports wear a blouse of one of the numerous striped shirting fabrics or sheer jersey or light-weight wool in a novelty or lacy weave will do as well in early fall as in the middle of summer. And not so remote from the blouse is the separate jacket. A new one at this season, in a bright color, can resuscitate a sleeveless tennis dress with great success. One might also indulge in a new hatband to match the aforesaid jacket, and thus equipped, look summer in the eye with new zest.

The new white satins preserve a classic simplicity of silhouette and an absence of applied trimming, except in the case of lace and satin combinations where more youthful flounces and and bertha collars are advocated, and a sophisticated black satin model suggests Spanish influence in tiny ruffles of net, bound in cre, that start below the fitted hip line, while white organdie with black piping is essentially of summer styling and there is a white chiffon with organdie overskirt.

Seed pearls—real seed pearls—appear in gracious jewelry. One large pendant shown by an important jeweler, has a lacy pattern of the tiny jewels about a solid centre, the whole on a string of the seed pearls. In combination with jade, seed pearls bring a variation from the popular diamond and jade jewelry. On one brooch a disk of carved jade is surrounded by a braided rope of the pearls.

Kaffa brown kid or suede, that rich shade, appears in the shoes ready to accompany the colors, which Paris reverberates. There is the plain opera pump for formal wear, but the strap slipper, which is often so much more comfortable, has also come back strongly to favor.

MT. ALBION AND VICINITY LOOK ON THE BRIGHT SIDE

Look on the bright side, do not always complain—What if skies do seem dark 'mid the tempest and rain? Just think of the sunshine and skies deep and blue. That are back of the clouds, and will come peeping through; Far brighter the sunshine that is mixed with the rain—So look on the bright side and do not complain.

Your life may seem empty and lonely and sad. But think of the things that should make you feel glad; Disappointments may come and troubles arise, Yet oft they are blessings held back in disguise; Far sweeter the joys that come after the pain—So look on the bright side and never complain.

Cast off your own load that seems heavy to bear. By cheering some soul, and his troubles to share; Give the glad hand of friendship with your sunniest smile, And see how your burden will lighten the while. There are pleasures in store if we seek them aright—Look on the bright side, and the world will seem bright.

If we were all to even try to "look on the bright side" for the sake of others with whom we are brought in contact, how much happier this world would be—don't you think so? Despondency is "catching" as well as cheerfulness.

The ice cream social held by the ladies of the Mt. Albion Women's Institute on Monday evening proved a decided success. The committee in charge are to be congratulated on the splendid and efficient way in which the proceedings were carried out. Many complimentary remarks were passed on the attractive tables and the delicious home-made ice-cream.

A most enjoyable time was spent on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Brown. The occasion being a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barkhouse, (nee Miss Buleah Myers) who has been spending several weeks visiting friends and relatives on the Island and returned on Thursday to their home in Framingham, Mass. The evening was pleasantly spent in dancing and social chat. A delightful lunch was served by the ladies.

Mr. Amos Myers, Sydney, C. B., is spending a vacation at his home in Hazelbrook, the guest of his mother, Mrs. Mary Myers, and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Con. MacKinnon and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison, Mt. Pleasant, motored to Pictou on Friday evening August 15th, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Ballem. Saturday they motored to Belfast.

The regular meeting of the Mt. Albion Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Benj. Jenkins, on August 5th. Meeting opened with Club Women's Creed Fifteen members and four visitors were in attendance and roll call was observed with My Favorite Proverb, followed by the reading and adoption of minutes of previous meeting. The school committee reported some necessary repairs to school, which were voted to be attended to. The sick committee reported having visited sick and taken fruit for which a beautiful letter of appreciation was read at this meeting. It was decided to have an ice cream social and suitable committees were appointed and all necessary arrangements made for same. Report of provincial convention was given by secretary who was a delegate, for which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered. The president warmly welcomed Miss Frances Wood as a new member, and spoke of the advantage to our club in having such a clever teacher and talented musician join us. The secretary read a paper on Ways to Kill an Institute. Mrs. J. W. Ballem invited next meeting, when roll call will be responded to with a Verse of Poetry. The National Anthem brought a most successful meeting to a close, after which a delightful lunch was served.

HARD TIMES HIT NURSING PROFESSION

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 13.—(By The Canadian Press)—With nursing fees raised to $6 a day—in the face of opposition from a large number of the most highly qualified members of the profession—and with widespread unemployment in the ranks of the graduate nurses, there seem only two solutions, says "Bride Broder" in the Mail and Empire. "Either we must suffer from some general, and very severe, epidemic, in which nurses will be employed by public health authorities and paid with public funds; or the nurses must cut their coat according to their cloth."

"Unfortunately, too, many of our trained nurses shy at country and village life—not the least of the reasons being, we are sure, the fact that they have no resources within themselves and the quiet of country life terrifies them. They cry for institutional work in the cities, say they abhor maternity cases and paint dismal pictures of the inconveniences that face the nurse in village and country work. We must confess that we have small patience with any out-of-work who picks and chooses—and also refuses—any opening. As for the dislike of maternity nursing, with its opportunities for bringing a mother safely through and of starting a new life out well and happily, we can only feel that the trained nurse who hates it, as she says, and prefers something malignant, ought never to have been given her cap. We are also sure that if our nurses, as a whole, were better educated all round, if they could read more and had widened interests and were not so dependent on the hub of hospital life for their mental and spiritual sustenance, we should see more of them seeking a field of endeavor in smaller places and seizing the opportunities for helpfulness and larger living that are to be found there."

KELLY-KELLY NUPTIALS

One of the most interesting and auspicious events of the social season took place in St. Patrick's Church, Fort Augustus, July 17 with the solemnization of the marriage vows of Miss Sarah Kathleen Kelly to Mr. Henry J. Kelly in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives. The morning of the nuptials was sunny, bright and clear which augurs well and is always a desideratum of good omen by contracting parties. The bridal party was met in the sanctuary of the church by Father Croken, Pastor and Father J. Edgely Kelly, Wichita, Kansas, brother of the bride. The bride was given away by her brother Eugene Kelly of Detroit, Mich. The marriage ceremony was performed and the nuptial mass celebrated by Father Kelly assisted by the pastor Father Croken.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James J. Kelly, while the groom is a prosperous and progressive farmer of Lake Verde. The bride was becomingly attired in a white satin dress trimmed with silk overlace and pearl beads matching the silk lace veil, which was also trimmed with pearls. White shoes and hose completed the ensemble. The bridesmaid, Miss Sadie Kelly, sister of the groom was attired in a gown of yellow crepe de chene, trimmed with orchid with hat to match. Both the bride and bridesmaid carried bouquets of sweet fern interspersed with maiden hair fern. The groom was ably supported by Lucious O. Kelly, brother of the bride. Sister Joseph Eugene of Ascension School, Minneapolis, a sister of the bride was present at the nuptial ceremonies. The groom's gift to the bride was a La Tusca pearl necklace, to the bridesmaid an amethyst rosary and to the groom's man a shaving kit. The bride was the recipient of numerous gifts of quality and utility, including $100 in cash from her many friends and relatives in Boston where she resided two years previous to her marriage and in Fort Augustus and Lake Verde.

Following the wedding ceremony a sumptuous breakfast was served at the home of the bride's brother, Frances W. Kelly to upwards of sixty invited guests. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will make their future home in Lake Verde, Vernon River parish and carry with them the best wishes for health, happiness and prosperity of a host of admiring friends.
