

Big Ben

The Biggest Thing in the Clock Business

Big Ben is the biggest thing today in the alarm clock business. He is only three years old, but he's already getting more work from the Dominion than any clock alive. In three years time, 6,000 Canadian dealers have adopted him. Nearly half of the families in Canada leave it to him to call them up in the morning; nearly half the families in Canada use him all day long to tell the right time by. He is really two good clocks in one—a crackerjack of a time-keeper and a crackerjack of an alarm.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

AUGUST 16
THE PASSOVER.
Exodus 12: 21-31.
GOLDEN TEXT.

"The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."—Matt. 20: 28.

POINTED SUGGESTIONS.

By Rev. D. W. Snider.

This lesson brings us to the study of the most eventful night in Old Testament history. What transpired was of so great importance, its issues were of such momentous character, that the nation to which it gave birth dated its calendar of deeds and destiny from this hour.

Doubtless little significance was attached to it by the tribes and nations round about. They would hear that Egypt had had trouble with its vassal people, that they had marched out from under the domination of Pharaoh, leaving him angry, outwitted and weakened, as though a tribal upheaval would be a transient fact, through the ages upon ages telling, did not enter into their philosophy. Does it enter into ours?

This lesson loses value if the attempt is made to discover its teaching in the series of observations which were laid upon the children of Israel in view of their midnight march, rather than fastening the thought upon this pivotal fact, namely, upon that night the worship of the true God was established in the earth through the unhesitating obedience of a people whose dependence was absolutely in Him.

The significance of the memorial feast, which was commanded or of the ordinance which should be observed forever, rests, not upon what the people did (only as what they did was the measure of their obedience), but it rests upon what Almighty God did for them. If that fact had not so often been lost to remembrance, Israel would have been saved from her backslidings and Judaism would not now be a literalism in the celebration of a Passover. A greater Passover, slain for us, would have been apprehended.

Two very essential things are to be noted by those who would have the God of Israel undertake for them. (The first is the putting away of sin, even as all manner of leaven had to be put out of the houses of the Israelites with a care that was most searching and exact. And next, the submissive latitude of a faith that responds to command in the midst of the calamitous and inexplicable. Verse 28.)

Too much, and very untrue, argument has arisen over the fact, with its implications (real and imaginary) that it was the blood that was seen upon the houses of the Israelites which saved them. Salvation, therefore, by blood. Let no one despise that putting of the case, but let this rather be learned: that Jesus Christ, our Passover, is greater than any symbol, and it is for us to rejoice in the fullness of a gospel which has gone to us through a crucified Saviour who liveth.

What tremendous results have come from the migration of Israel out of Egypt under "a mighty hand and an outstretched arm." The great epochal events of the world as Christians know it swing upon that hinge, e.g., the giving of the law, or the laying down of the moral code for the work of the prophets; the coming of Jesus Christ and the spread of Christianity. The lives of the great men as well as the great deeds of history have been brought upon these.

Well then, if God was preparing a passover for the children of Israel while they cried out by reason of their bondage, and if He led them out of Egypt while their proud masters bent their heads of-stricken heads over the retributive desolation that came upon them, until there was a great cry in Egypt, what crooked thing to-day cannot the Lord of Hosts make straight?

But in that faith the time for action comes. Prayer has its steadying, self-controlling power. Prayer is a nerve-tonic, however. It is not an anaesthetic. The moment the soul has felt the assuring stimulus of the Divine Presence and communion, that instant the child of God is ready for the Divine command. When standing still has brought its guidance and strength, the duty of going forward to meet and overcome the apparently impossible can and will be undertaken.

Where the rod of God smites and where the light of God shines how many seas of difficulty divide, how many walls of frowning opposition crumble into dust, how many hotly pursuing enemies are checked and overwhelmed. The experience of Christians—men and women will confirm these facts a thousand times over.

It all means obscuring darkness and confusion of face to the unbeliever. Study the New Testament counterpart to it all: "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness unto him; and he cannot know them, because they are spiritually judged."

Attempts are made upon the part of many to persuade man that the movements of nations are so established under laws that are fixed that Almighty God is ruled out from their control. But as the decades and the centuries grow old this truth deepens in the hearts of the reverent: God controls the forces of nature. They are in His keeping and obedient unto Him. Back of nature, encompassing nature, overtopping nature, pervading nature, commanding nature, is God. The wind and the seas obey Him.

LESSON VII. AUGUST 17.
CROSSING THE RED SEA
Exodus 14: 19-31

"Before they call, I will answer."—Isaiah 65: 24.

POINTED SUGGESTIONS
By Rev. D. W. Snider

What a comfort it must have been to some of those Israelites when they found themselves "entangled in the land" and leashed that the hosts of Pharaoh were in pursuit of them, to be able to say, "We told you so!" What would murmuring pessimists do if that opportunity failed to come to them once in a while? It came to the malcontents among the Israelites and they made use of it, of course. It is a pity (doubtless a testing of the strong) that churches and noble enterprises are so often cumbered with such sniffling baggage.

It is easy for the soldier to find fault with his general, and the history of warfare is not without its record of the grievous and fatal blunders of the leaders of warriors; but take notice that the grumblers in the ranks of Israel before Pi-hahiroth were uttering their cowardly complaints while the Lord God, mighty in battle, was the Master of strategy. When men find fault with the season or with the forces of nature, or with the inequalities which appear in the lives of men and nations, with whom they are fighting, faultily. Against whom do they level their impotent rage?

There are many who give themselves to the language of recrimination under the influence of panis—the blind push of unreasonable fear. The lesson story reveals that the children of Israel got into a state of panic, though only a few days at most had passed since they had felt themselves

TESTIMONIALS

The following testimonials speak for themselves.

Summerside, P. E. I. July, 1913.
My piano had been unsatisfactory for several years until J. W. Wright, Bedeque, raised the entire key board making it almost a new instrument.
(Sgd) NATHANIEL McFARLANE, Summerside, P. E. I. July, 1913.
My Piano had been giving very poor satisfaction until I engaged J. W. Wright, Bedeque, whose work I heard so much about. Mr. Wright raised it a half tone and he has since been tuning it. I consider the Piano now worth $100.00 more in value.
(Sgd) C. P. LINKLETTER, Wilnot, P. E. I. July, 1913.

The plate in our Piano had separated from the back timbers and I was informed that it could not be restored. This summer I engaged Mr. J. W. Wright, Bedeque, who repaired it in a few days and I consider the Piano is now as good as the day I received it from the factory.

Notice to the Public:

Parties wishing to have their Piano Tuned, Regulated or Organ Tuned are invited to drop me a line and same will have my prompt and careful attention.

Annoying Dandruff

Will make Canada a Bald-headed Nation if not Checked.

M. Pasteur the great French Physician of Paris, once said: "I believe we shall one day rid the world of all diseases caused by germs."

Dandruff is caused by germs, a fact accepted by all physicians. Dandruff is the root of all hair evils. If it were not for the little destructive germs working with a persistency worthy of a better cause, there would be no baldness. Parisian Sage will kill the dandruff germs and remove dandruff in two weeks or money back.

It will stop itching scalp, falling hair and make the hair grow thick and abundant.

It puts life and lustre into the hair and prevents it from turning gray. It is the hair dressing par excellence, daintily perfumed and free from grease and stickiness. It is the favorite with women of taste and culture who know the social value of fascinating hair.

Comes in large 50-cent bottle at Geo. E. Hughes and leading druggists and toilet goods counters everywhere. "The Girl with the Auburn Hair" is on every package. Made in Canada by The T. R. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont.

FOR WOMEN'S AILMENTS Dr. Martel's Female Pills have been the Standard for 20 years and for 40 years prescribed and recommended by Physicians. Accept no other. At all druggists.
