—SUCCESSFUL TEA—The salad tea and sale of fancy work, put on by the Ladies' Guild, of the United Baptist Church, Summerside, was held on Thursday afternoon and was very successful. This annual social event is looked forward to with pleasure by the citizens of Summerside. Christmas decorations were used in the hall. The tea tables were lighted with tall red tapers in silver candlesticks. Mrs. John Smallman poured the tea and members of the Guild dispensed hospitality to the many guests who came in at the tea hour.—S.

—SUMMERSIDE BRANCH, CANADIAN LEGION—At the regular monthly meeting of the Summerside branch of the Canadian Legion, a resolution was passed thanking the Town of Summerside, citizens generally, and the ladies who assisted in the sale of poppies on Remembrance Day and for their assistance in making Remembrance Day a suitable memorial for honouring the memory of that great army that has gone before. The committee who looked after the program for Remembrance Day reported a profit of $40 on the sale of poppies and that the banquet was self-sustaining. Two strong committees were formed to make a drive for membership. Mr. B. W. Robinson, president, very capably presided.—S.

—SLIGHT BLAZE—The Summerside firemen were called out Thursday afternoon for a slight blaze in the cellar of the Clifton Hotel. Smoke was seen near the furnace and some boards had to be torn up before they could locate the fire. The chemical engine was brought into action and the blaze was soon under control.—S.

—SLEIGHING IN WEST OF PROVINCE—Many visitors from the west of the Province, motored to Summerside on Thursday and Friday. They report that there is good sleighing in many sections of the west. Although Charlottetown and points east have also had a good fall of snow, Summerside had but a flurry that did not remain on the ground; but no doubt it will have its share in due time. Ice is forming round the shores and in consequence smelt fishing is almost at a stand still until the rivers are frozen over, when the fishermen can fish through the ice.—S.

Linking Of Upper And Lower Canada By Rail Recalled

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 3. (By the Canadian Press)—Seventy five years ago the first train to run between Montreal and Toronto purged its way of the Grand Trunk station at Point St. Charles, the engine belching forth black smoke from its balloon stack and pulling behind it, first, a load of wood, with which to feed the fires, then a baggage car, and finally six yellow wooden coaches. The occasion was one of great rejoicing among the business men of that time, for it created the first rail link between Upper and Lower Canada, and all along the route, wherever it stopped, there were felicitations extended by the municipalities to the railway officials that were aboard the train and prophecies given of what the future had in store. The train left Point St. Charles at half past seven in the morning and reached Toronto at about eleven o'clock at night—and it was considered a wonderful speed. Today a train running over the same route covers the distance between the two cities in six hours.

To mark the event in 1856 a grand ball was held in Montreal while on the arrival of the train in Toronto there was a banquet at which laudatory speeches were made of the progressive step taken. Along the route where stops were made at the bigger centres addresses were presented to Chief Engineer A. M. Ross, these declaring that a new era in the history of Canada had been commenced. And the papers of the day commented on the fact that it was possible on that day to read in Toronto papers printed the same day in Montreal. There had been trains running out of Montreal a year or more before this. They had been operating from Longueuil to Point Levis, Quebec, from Point St. Charles to Brockville and subsequently to Belleville, but this was the first through train opening the division between Belleville and Toronto.

There are few people here today who saw that first train puff its way between the two cities. There is one man, however, who saw it go by the station at Napanee. He is Ezra Pringle, a blacksmith, who is still conducting his business in the town of his birth. His description of the crowd of citizens, the men wearing tall beaver hats, and the women in wide sweeping crinolines and poke bonnets, who gathered on the platform to see the train go by, creates a link with the past that few can equal.
