Coroner's Jury Delivers Verdict

Inquest Proceedings Concluded Yesterday Into Recent Fatality On Covehead Road.

The Coroner's inquest into the death of Michael Horgan was concluded yesterday afternoon in the Police Court, the jury, after about an hour's deliberation, bringing in the following verdict:

"The said Michael Horgan came to his death on the night of Sept. 1st, 1936, A. D., on the road leading to Stanhope by being side-swiped from the running board of a car driven by his brother Thomas Horgan, Jr., by a car driven by Judge C. Gavan Duffy in a careless manner whilst under the influence of liquor."

Following is a report of the evidence taken yesterday:

William Cook (recalled) described the position in which he stood when taking the photographs submitted in evidence on Wednesday.

Mr. Shaw stated he had been asked by Mr. Horgan, senior, to question Inspector Fripps as to where the liquor bottle was found.

James Fripps, Inspector, Royal Canadian Mounted Police for Prince Edward Island, testified that on Wednesday, Sept. 9, about 11:45 a. m., he received a telephone call from Judge Duffy requesting an appointment with him. "I called at his office and he stated there had been considerable talk and evidence with reference to liquor during this inquiry. He wished to state to me that he had a small bottle in his possession on the night of the accident, and he had thrown it in the bush on the side of the road after the accident, on the suggestion of Mr. Gesner. He requested me to accompany him to the scene and he would assist me in locating the bottle. I informed the Judge I would call Mr. Shaw, which I did. Mr. Shaw came over. We had a conversation and I made arrangements to meet the Judge. I met him at 2 o'clock, accompanied by Constable Strong. In the police car we proceeded to the scene of the accident and the Judge pointed out to me the position where he stood when he threw the bottle. We searched the bush and after a considerable search I myself found the bottle. It was about eight or nine feet off the road in a small bush. This is the bottle which I found." (produced). "It has been in my possession ever since, and that is the amount of liquor that was in it when I found it."

Mr. Shaw: "What kind of liquor would you say that is?"

Witness: "I would say it smells like rum."

"Yesterday there were certain questions asked regarding the movement of the bottle."

Extend Sympathy To Spanish Government

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—Support for Spain's Left Wing Government and hope for an early and victorious finish to its fight with Rightist rebels was unanimously voted today by the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Without debate and in the space of a minute the delegates, representing labor unions in all parts of Canada, put themselves on record as declaring the rebellion was against the best interests of the working classes and a violation of the true spirit of democracy.

The resolution of sympathy with the Spanish Government was brought in by John Bruce of Toronto who had to obtain unanimous consent of the convention as motions must be submitted 30 days before the convention. The consent was given and without ado the motion was unanimously passed.

Sixth Headless Body Is Found In Cleveland Stream

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10.—Kingsbury Run, a small stream, which wanders through the southeast section of Cleveland, yielded today the sixth headless body found in the city within the body—that of a man—had been cut, detected by a man with a skillful hand. The torso had been sliced in two pieces. The head was not found.

The first two victims were found in September, 1935, at the foot of Jackass Hill, near the stream. The heads were buried in sand nearby. One of the victims was identified as Edward Andrasz, 28. No motive for his killing ever was established. The other body, that of a man about 40, has not been identified. Last January the torso of a woman was found in two bushel baskets in an east side vacant lot, not far from the downtown area. The body was identified through fingerprints as that of Mrs. Florence Pollina, 41. Mrs. Pollina was once arrested in a vice raid.

Two boys playing hooky from school in June found the head of a man under a sumac tree in a gully off Kingsbury Run. The torso was found next day in a scrubby spot nearby. The body was never identified.

In July a girl walking through a wooded west side gully stumbled on the nude and headless body of the fifth victim, a man. The head was found 40 feet away wrapped in a coat. The man could not be identified.

SOVIET RUSSIA ASSAILED BY NAZIS LEADERS

Bolshevism and World Jewry Denounced By Hitler's Lieutenants.

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NUREMBERG, Germany, Sept. 10.—Thousands of Nazis chanted their adulation of Reichsfuehrer Hitler tonight, their plaudits mingling with a chorus of hate against Bolshevism and Jews uttered by Der Fuehrer's highest subalterns.

Dr. Paul Goebbels, Hitler's chief spokesman and Propaganda Minister, denounced Bolshevism and world Jewry before an audience that previously had heard 43,000 Nazi labor workers raise their spades on high and solemnly vow in unison to follow Hitler "wherever you lead."

"Almost exclusively, Jews sit in the Soviet government," he said.

Softening his tone and turning toward Hitler, Dr. Goebbels termed him a "true knight, without fear or fault."

Carrying out an "historic world mission," Dr. Goebbels said, Hitler "has taken the flag of mankind and civilization into his strong hands and, with his head raised high, is carrying it against the menace of oncoming hordes of world revolution."

"That ought to be the signal for the whole world."

Working To Release Markham Plane

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) BALDWIN COVE, N. S., Sept. 10.—Workmen were busy today building a runway from Mrs. Beryl Markham's bogged monoplane to the shore where it will be loaded on a scow.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who have been guarding "the messenger" since the adventurous English flier made a forced landing at the end of her transatlantic flight Saturday, dug the plane's nose out of the soft mud and found it little damaged.

Supervising the salvage operations, Ray Goodwin, pilot-instructor of the Sydney Flying Club, said tonight moving the monoplane from the swamp to the shore would not be a difficult job.

It would be transported on the scow to Lorraine and then moved to Sydney by truck for repairs, Goodwin said.

Instruments and other detachable articles have been brought to Sydney, and the police are not allowing souvenir hunters near the machine.

HEAVY ATTACK LAUNCHED BY REBEL FORCES

Fall Of Coastal City Expected Momentarily—French War Veterans Back

(A. B. by Guardian's Special Wire) SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Sept. 10.—(By warship to Saint Jean De Luz, France)—Spanish rebels to-night launched a heavy attack on the Government-held city of San Sebastian.

Hostilities had been halted for 24 hours by an unofficial armistice, and the surrender of the city had been expected momentarily.

The assault began on three fronts with severe artillery bombardment.

The rebels had refused to accept anything less than unconditional surrender of the city, reliable sources said.

Speed Evacuation

The Basque Nationalists, who wrested control of the city from the more militant anarchists, apparently were speeding evacuation in preparation for an early surrender.

The "unofficial truce which halted hostilities on the sector Wednesday night continued throughout the day as refugees fled to France bringing the total evacuation to about 40,000 of the city's residents.

As soon as the rebels showed march into the city, it was expected that their leaders immediately would consolidate forces for a concerted march on Madrid to the south.

BACK GOVERNMENT

PARIS, Sept. 10.—France's largest body of war veterans—numbering 4,000,000—tonight pledged itself to support the Government's neutrality policy in Spain.

Throwing their weight against the General Confederation of Labor with 5,000,000 adherents demanding reconsideration of the Government's stand, the National Confederation of War Veterans informed the foreign office of their full approval of non-intervention.

Strikes, meanwhile, spread throughout the country.

NEUTRALITY OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Despite Portugal's continued coolness toward British neutrality overtures it was believed tonight Spain's neighbor would participate in the next session on non-intervention in the Spanish civil war.

The main hope of the neutrality committee, reliable sources said, would be to minimize gun-running to Spain to such an extent that Communist and Fascist blocs in Europe would not become involved in repercussions of the civil struggle.

Rush To Redeem Scrip Money

Scientists Discern Between Inventions And Their Use

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) BLACKPOOL, England, Sept. 10.—Science, lending aid to man both in war and peace, "recognizes no moral obligations," the British Association for the advancement of science was told today.

Judging of the uses to which science may be put, Prof. William Cramp, president of the association, asserted, is up to man—and the engineer is no better and no worse than his brethren.

"The same explosive that releases coal underground can also kill men in battle."

"To the extent that the engineer is a scientist, the use to which his discoveries shall be put does not lie legal inquiry."

Complete Trans Ocean Flight

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y., Sept. 10.—A team of four Germans, exploring the southern air route of the North Atlantic, reached this air harbor today after a flight of 22 hours and 14 minutes from the Azores.

They landed their 10-ton flying boat, the Zephyr, at 7:24 p. m. ADT with 2,300 miles of non-stop flying behind them.

The trip was in preparation for a projected regular air service across the Atlantic.

Flight Captain Joachim Blankenburg said: "We are tired after our nearly 23 hours in the air, but we are happy, for we hope this may be the forerunner of a regular service. We hope to visit the United States several times next year, flying a commercial service."

The selection of this site is only tentative, pan-American officials pointed out, but it provides the base for experimental work, of which this flight, sponsored by the German flying line Luftansa, is a part.

The Zephyr will be followed on its trip to New York later tonight by its sister boat, the Aeolus, commanded by Captain Hans Werner Mon Engel, veteran South Atlantic flier.

The Aeolus will come by way of Bermuda, testing weather conditions and wireless reception along that route as the Zephyr has tested the alternate route.

The Zephyr was catapulted from the Luftansa base ship Schwabenland lying 100 miles off Horta, on the Isle of Fayal, at 9:10 p. m. ADT Wednesday night.
