

WOMAN SUFFERED TERRIBLY

Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A Remarkable Case

LEA DELORME
ST. ADOLPHE, MANITOBA

St. Adolphe, Manitoba.—"I was very weak and had great pains during my periods so that I could not sweep the floor. The pains were in the right side and extended to the left and then downwards. It seemed as if the body was heavy and upside down. It is for these troubles I took the Vegetable Compound. I saw about it in a paper and one woman prevailed on me to take it. It has helped me in every way, the pains are less, and I have more appetite. It is a pleasure to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to other women."
—LEA DELORME, St. Adolphe, Manitoba.

Found Great Relief

Toronto, Ont.—"I am at the Change of Life with hot flashes, dizziness, weakness and nervousness. I had head noises and was short of breath. I was this way about six months when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers. I have taken eight bottles so far and found great relief."—Mrs. R. J. SALMON, 112 Lawlor Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Mrs. Carr Also Helped

Muncie, Indiana.—"I had inflammation and the doctor said I was in a very bad condition. My hips and back felt like knives cutting me. I suffered terribly and could not get around to do my work. I had indigestion and very bad headaches and could not sleep as I was so nervous. I took local treatments and they did me no good. I had always heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and I thought it would be like all the others, but I found out after I took half a bottle as I have proved it wonderful. I am taking it yet and I can do all my work. I am feeling fine now, and it is your good medicines that have done it. I tell every woman of the good I get from taking the Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and from using the Sanative Wash. I don't intend to be without them."—Mrs. P. W. CARR, 726 West Jackson Street, Muncie, Indiana.

Such letters prove the great merit of the Vegetable Compound. These women know by experience the benefit they have received. Their letters show a sincere desire to help other women suffering from like ailments.

"Jealous Hearts"

By MILDRED BARBOUR

CAT AND MOUSE.

For Tony, there began a period of torture with the arrival of Elinor, bag and baggage, at Lynnwood one golden August morning. Elinor, beguiling, mocking, careless, provocative. Elinor, not giving a hoot if her presence were pleasing or convenient. Elinor, accepting it as her right that she should be a favored guest until such a time as it suited her to depart for New York. Elinor, rather amused at the situation developing in a household where the husband was secretly in love with her.

Elinor didn't mean to be cruel to Millicent. She loved her adopted sister, in her way. It simply didn't occur to her that she was doing anything really wrong in flirting a bit with the young man who had been her childhood chum and her girlhood suitor. Her motives were entirely innocent—to herself—and she was blessed, or cursed, with that delightful confidence that makes certain individuals blind to the faults against which others may cavil.

Flirtation and masculine admiration were the breath of life to Elinor. She took both where she found them and encouraged them to a certain point, until the situation became too serious to be interesting. Then she found some way of dodging it. Uncertainty was a challenge that invariably led her on. She was like a child pursuing a butterfly and weeping when the wings beyond reach; but, when the

Degrees Presented By Knox College

(Toronto Telegram)

Knox College honored six of its alumni and associate members last night at the annual convocation by presenting them with the degree of Doctor of Divinity. Scholarships were also awarded, diplomas granted to some of the students and the degree of Bachelor of Divinity conferred on Rev. G. Dickey, B.A., and Rev. D. C. Hill, M.A. The convocation, the eighty fourth in the history of the college, was held in the chapel and attended by about 400 people of the class. Five of the graduates were overseas men. Scholarships in divinity and art subjects were awarded to the following men: W. N. Ferguson, W. Harold Reid, B.A., E. C. Robertson, (Charlottetown, P. E. I.); S. M. Scott, B.A., S. G. Young, B.A. The men were presented by Rev. W. Hardy Andrews, B.A., The Rev. L. B. Gibson, B.D., Ph.D., then presented Rev. D. Dickey and Rev. D. C. Hill for the degrees of Bachelor of Divinity. The degrees of Doctor of Divinity were then conferred. In each case the candidate was presented by a Doctor of Divinity, who gave a brief outline of the candidate's history, achievements and qualifications for the honor being conferred. The degree, which is the highest the college can bestow, was given to the following ministers: Rev. D. A. Thomson, Rev. J. W. Macnamara, B.D.; Rev. R. J. Porter, B.A.; Rev. H. B. Ketchen, M.A.; Rev. D. T. L. McKerrill, B.A.; Rev. J. W. Stephen, B.A.; Rev. D. Perrie, D.D.; the Very Reverend A. J. Macgillivray, D.D.; Rev. John MacNab, M.A., B.D.; Rev. D. R. Drummond, D.D.; Rev. James Whiston, D.D.; Rev. T. Crawford Brown, M.A.; and Rev. D. A. Thomson, D.D.

The Rev. D. A. Thomson, D.D., made a short but inspiring address to the graduating class. Following another hymn, the moderator of the presbytery of Toronto, Rev. J. A. Mustard, B.A., closed the convocation with benediction.

"Where's Millicent? Isn't she coming?"

butterfly is captured, the chase is dropped. But that is the end of the butterfly. So it was with Elinor's suitors.

Undoubtedly, if Daniel Carver's last will and testament had not brought the affairs of Elinor and Millicent and Tony Deering to an abrupt climax, Tony would have cent, since she herself didn't want him as a husband,—that very fact lent a touch of glamour to him. There was something dog-in-the-mangerish about Elinor. She didn't want Tony, but she still found a certain thrill in making him want her. She found a deep satisfaction in seeing him miserable, in watching his struggle to avoid her, to avoid her eyes, the touch of her hand. She took a malicious delight in displaying her most alluring tricks in his presence; in putting forth her every enchantment when there were other young men about—men of whom Tony had been furiously jealous—always with his eyes upon her.

It was such a safe game. Elinor couldn't see how contemptible it was, how thoroughly unsporting. She called it "amusing."

And, through it all, Millicent was blind. Blind in her love for her young husband. Blind in her admiration for her foster-sister. Blind in her sense of youthful importance as chaperone of the lovely old Lynnwood estate.

But Tony was suffering the torments of the damned. He woke each morning to take a fresh resolve, to take a solemn oath that he would be faithful to Millicent in spirit as well as in deed. She was his wife. He honored her. He would give her his allegiance, his tenderness, his loyalty, even if he couldn't give her his heart.

And then he would go down to the pool back of the tennis-court for an early morning plunge, while the dew glistened like diamonds on the grass, and the freshness of the new day drifted across fragrant fields, and the meadow-larks sang in the sunshine. And Elinor would be sitting on the edge of the pool, clad in a sea-green bathing suit, looking for all the world like a Lorelei, with her copper-colored hair gleaming in the sun.

"I thought I'd wait for you," she'd draw. "It's no fun bathing alone—and besides, suppose I drowned—all by myself? Wouldn't you be sorry?"

Her eyes challenged him. He refused to look at her.

"Where's Millicent? Isn't she coming?"

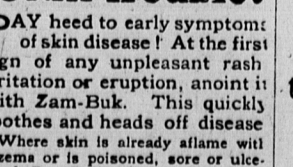

because he was infatuated with a girl he had no right to think about. She was there, smiling her mocking smile, but with no comment on this week of absence, except:

"I'm frightfully glad you came down this morning. It's our last swim together."

"Our last—" His voice deserted him. She nodded imperturbably.

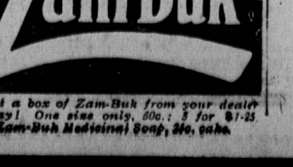

"I'm leaving for New York tomorrow." She added lightly: "It's good-bye forever, Tony." The world went black around him.

We hear Ourselves!

—as others hear us—is the verdict of the famous Victor Artists who sing and play, so that you too may hear them on the new Orthophonic Victrola Naturalness is precisely what you get in Orthophonic Victrola music at home, whether it is the "Sextette from Lucia" or "Cohen on the Telephone". It is amazingly real, whether a solo voice, clear and pure, or a chorus of a thousand voices extending from soprano to bass—a saxophone solo or a symphony concert. The new Orthophonic Victrola gives you the "feel" of the performance, and you get this, above all in your own home, at the time you select.

These wonderful performances of music come to you only because "Matched Impedance" brings them to you. In more popular words the Victor controlled principle which applies "smooth flow of sound" to every Orthophonic Victrola.

To play your music so fine, you may have cabinets of rare beauty, smart designs, carefully selected woods. Electric drive, if you wish, at slight additional cost. All instruments self-stopping. Prices from $1400 to as low as $115, on convenient payments at any His Master's Voice dealers. Hear them play—today. Arrange for a home demonstration.
