Pat was sitting in the smoking carriage puffing at an old clay pipe, when a lady got in and set down beside him.

"You're no gentleman," says she, "or you'd stop smoking when a lady sits down beside you."

"If you were a lady you wouldn't get in here," said Pat, puffing away at his pipe.

"If you were my husband," she snapped, "I'd give you poison."

Pat looked at her for a minute.

"Bedad," said he, "if I was your husband I'd take it."

CANADIZATION

The following paper, on Canadization, given by Mrs. W. P. Cameron, Albany, at the Women's Institute in Central Bequete received much favorable comment.

"It is a true instinct that led me to the heart of the young boys and girls who are to be the good Canadians of tomorrow."

Our goodly inheritance of undeveloped wealth makes it especially important that the habit of industry be inculcated from the earliest possible stage and with this, that of thrift or saving, without which a taste for labour might well fail to achieve its fullest reward.

Today there may indeed be an unemployment question problem which calls for political measures, but that problem presents itself also in an individual aspect and there is little fear that Canadian children, brought up with habits of industry and thrift, will ever find themselves on the bread line.

SPLENDID DRAMATIC SHOW AT KELLY'S CROSS

Undoubtedly the largest gathering ever assembled at a dramatic performance in Kelly's Cross Hall, greeted the Dramatic Club Wednesday evening, the 17th inst, when the curtain was rung up for their third act comedy drama "The Vanquished Squire."

Many motor parties from the city and country were amongst those present. The ladies and gentlemen of the cast, many of whom were appearing for the first time on the stage played their parts very creditably.

Thomas McAvinn, the leading man in the part of Don Chamberlain, a young lawyer and Mary McManus, as Edith Hazelton, the leading lady, interpreted their parts splendidly and both showed careful study and much dramatic ability.

Esmett Trainor as Reuben Hazelton, Frank J. Flood, as the Squire and Joseph Kelly, the Sheriff, all favorites were at their best in their different parts. The two comedians of the show, Abner and Sally, played by Mark Curley and Adrianna Monaghan, made up a comedy team highly hard to beat in a rural community for genuine applause and laughter, they both scored one hundred per cent. Mrs. John Nantes, as Reuben's wife and Maria Malone, as Grace Evans, the Squire's daughter, acted the roles assigned to them with ease and ability.

Gerald Nantes, as Ezra, who had one of the most difficult parts in the drama, made a most favorable impression. The play produced is the first entertainment held at Kelly's Cross by the recently appointed parish priest, Rev. Clarence Pitre. It is hoped that many rural communities will have the pleasure of seeing this comedy drama which is one of the best that Charles R. Angell has written. Between the acts, specialties were introduced by Mr. Frank Flood and Miss Nora

IN MEMORIAM

MR. WILLIAM CAMERON

A deep gloom was cast over the home of Wm. Cameron, when on August 23rd, his spirit took flight to Him that gave it.

He had been in failing health for some time, but eight days previous to his death, he was stricken with leakage of the heart. All that loving hands and medical aid could do was done, but to no avail. He had reached the ripe age of 89 years and God seen fit to call him home.

He had been a citizen of Kensington for the past twenty-five years, and will be deeply missed by his many friends as well as in the home, where he leaves to mourn his widow, (nee Bessie Underhill) and daughter Lulu at home, Mrs. Edith Webster, of Lulu River, Vt., (who arrived the night previous to her father's death), and Mrs. Hattie Cameron, of Kensington; two sons predeceased him some years ago, also two brothers, moun, Alban, of Margate, and Alexander, of Long River.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from the home on Aug. 25th, the Rev. F. W. Williamson of Malpeque officiating. He spoke feelingly from text found in St. John 14-1-2 "In My Home are Many Mansions." The hymns sung were, "Asleep in Jesus," "Take Comfort, Christians," "Shall We Gather at the River?"

The pall bearers were Robert Douglas, of N. B. MacFarlane, Alexander Henry, Albert Boyle, Charles Chlova, and Gordon Glover.

All that was mortal of a kind and loving father was laid to rest in People's Cemetery at Kensington—Y.
