LETTER FROM PROHIBITION INSPECTOR BRUCE

Sir,—I read in your paper statements made by William McLeod and Rev. Mr. Rand against me regarding the enforcement of Prohibition. To me it is almost impossible to know where to commence, as they abused the Government and took up old matters that were threshed to pieces at every meeting for years. In 1885, I joined the great Eastern Lodge and at that time there were thirteen places between Souris and East Point, selling liquor and one of them a licensed hotel, as the law then was by getting two-thirds vote of the school district, you could get a license. I want to show the difference then and now. In helping to enforce the law our Lodge appointed a committee to look after those places and to get information and enforce the law. We did not pledge that Lodge not to reveal that we were appointed for the purpose, but went boldly and notified them that we were appointed and that we intended to prosecute if not stopped. We followed our threat and closed every place for over twenty years. It is that way it is done now. Oh, men and women are ashamed of afraid to own that they assist in enforcing the law. You must pledge yourself that you will not whisper that they assist. What? ashamed to give information, ashamed to own that they are in the fight? Now, for nearly fifty years, Mr. William McLeod make those speeches, fault find, criticize and abuse some one and for that time there is a place selling rum, right at his nose and he says it is still there. That is giving a temperance worker.

Now two years ago, there was a meeting of the Temperance Alliance in St. Peter's. I was notified to attend as there were charges to be brought against me. I did attend and went from the station to the hall with Rev. Mr. McLeod and he told me there was a statement of all times past, and in looking over them, they said I paid more in than any man that ever went before me. I met Rev. Mr. Wilson outside, and in talking he asked me how was it there were so few fines collected. I told him that they were well collected, and if I had a statement, and if I would show it to him, I did so and he was surprised when he saw it. He said he didn't have that and asked me if I would let him copy it. I did so. I attended the meeting and I went to Mr. McLeod and asked him to have the charges against me brought in. He said he would see me brought in. He said when he came back he said they were not going to make them. I suppose that when Mr. Wilson showed my statement to the leading men, they saw that they had no charge and were well satisfied. He said that there were four trials at St. Peter's. That showed that I wanted to push matters. One man told him if I had asked him if he got it from his wife that he would say 'yes'. This was the man that swore that he got it twice for medical purposes, but treated the stuff out of his medicine bottle. Now for the benefit of the public, I will give an idea whether the stuff that sold such was a perjurer or not. You can refer to the Judge's notes. This is the way that every witness was examined:—"Do you know the accused? Do you know where he lives? Were you in his place within the dates in your subpoena? Did you get any letters there? Did you ask for any? Did you get from anyone on the premises, within the dates? Did you get anyone else to get it there for you? Did you? And so now, is that not asking if he got it from his wife. She must live on the premises. Now, I think it a small thing for him to take this here, and before the whole Island, but get both sides of it. Now, I attended a public meeting at Dundas last fall. I was called on to speak and I referred there to the way we used to work, as I did in the first of my letter.
