

Coming to the English throne when the nation was weary of the strict discipline of the Roundheads, Charles II. led an extravagant existence scarcely paralleled in British history.

vicious and effective nation. It may be interesting also to note that the vendors of alcohol, feeling the injury to their trade which was bound to follow from a continuance of this manifesto before the eyes of the public, made such a determined protest as to compel its withdrawal from publication, although copies remained posted up in certain hospitals and upon the wall of the Hotel de Ville for a period of at least six months.

Among others present from outside places were Messrs David Embree, of Maine, a stepson; David Creelman, a nephew; of Stewiacke, a brother-in-law; of Mrs. Mitchell; and Mr. Lester Wharton of Moncton.—Amherst News.

PRESIDENT DOYLE.—Mr. Samuel P. Doyle of Charlottetown, President of the Maritime Province Branch of the A. A. U. C. arrived in town at noon yesterday. He will remain here during the course of the afternoon, meeting with local athletic officials. Mr. Doyle is enroute to Kentville where he will attend the final game of the Maritime Hockey Championships. He will take his departure on the Ocean Limited.—Amherst News.

GOING TO LIVERPOOL.—Mr. R. R. Montgomery of the Royal Bank of Canada has been transferred to Liverpool, says the Amherst News. Mr. Montgomery was located in Amherst for three or four years, coming here from Summerside, Prince Edward Island. He made many friends and acquaintances in Amherst, and became fairly prominent as a hockey player and long distance runner.

RELATIVES HERE.—Mrs. K. H. Gordon and Mrs. Joseph A. MacLean of Oakland, who underwent medical treatment in local hospitals recently, have returned to their respective homes and are rapidly improving in health and strength. The Maple Leaf, says that the Journal, will be pleased to welcome these two P. E. Island ladies at future meetings, as they and their stalwart husbands have been among the most faithful attendants in the past.

ISLANDER KEEPS ORDER.—Who does not know by this time what an islander is? asks the Oakland Maple Leaf. The police force of Eureka a year ago had the wisdom of choosing a well behaved islander for a member of a night squad. This is no other than Charles E. Ellis, native of Grand View, P. E. I. He has been 25 years away from the island, and is much in love with California. The maiden name of Mrs. Ellis was Anna Munroe, native of Pictou, N. S. Their family consists of one son who attends the high school. Officer Ellis makes a fine appearance in his neat blue uniform. He is now on night duty.

FIRE AT HOPE RIVER.—One of the most disastrous destructions of farm buildings by fire occurred last week at the farm residence of Mr. Leonard Reid, of Hope River. The main barn was an exceptionally large three story structure. Mr. Reid lost twenty-eight head of cattle, four horses, nineteen pigs, eighty hens—besides all farming implements, together with two days' hauling of wheat grain—and all the many small articles—harness, etc. used on an up to date farm. The cause of the fire is unknown. The loss is reimbursed to a comparatively small extent by insurance. It was discovered about 4 p. m.

Loss of property by fire is getting to be a serious matter on P. E. I. Looks as if it might require legislation. Original negligence to enter a barn or place containing inflammable material, with a lighted cigar, cigarette or pipe. The "straw man of the law" appears to be more potent than the entangling mortal snarl. A "happy medium" of liberty is a desideratum. We, the people, often times must be protected against ourselves.

ISLANDERS PROSPER.—The Oakland Maple Leaf says:—Grand River, P. E. I. is well represented by its brothers in the town of Arcata, Humboldt County. They are Benjamin and William Chaffey. Benjamin came out 42 years ago, and William 51 years ago. They liked the country so well they never returned. They both own two first-class homes, and are retired in comfort. The maiden name of Mrs. Benjamin Chaffey was May McCahey, native of England. Their family consists of nine children. Both brothers are carpenters and house builders. The maiden name of Mrs. William Chaffey was May McCahey, native of Humboldt County. William Chaffey at one time was owner of a single mill. He lost his only son in the World War. He has two daughters living.

BUILDING IMPROVEMENT.—Mr. E. R. Brow has moved into his new office in the temporarily occupied by Prosser & Farnsworth, which has been nicely remodelled and painted. In the rear of the commodious main office is a private office; between both offices is an attractive arch of grill work. The new quarters are attractively furnished and all the woodwork, etc., resplendent with its new coat of paint and varnish applied by S. B. French. The office vacated by Mr. Brow is also being remodelled. A new hardwood floor is now being laid after which a front counter will be built in also a glass private office. Phillips & Sons have the contract for the remodeling and when their work is completed the office will be maintained by Waller & Doyle. These premises will be ready for occupancy about the latter part of the month and when completed will be quite an addition to "Financial Row." The property lately acquired by Mr. Geo. V. Moore on the corner of Sydney and Queen Streets has also undergone a considerable change. Two large shops have been arranged with a wide stairway being added, leading to offices on the upper floor. One of these stores is already occupied and the second as well as the offices will be ready for occupancy shortly.

Lion At Large In French Village

(By British United Press) PARIS, Mar. 16.—The inhabitants of Chateaufort, near Bourges, in the Department of Cher, were thrown into a panic the other day when a lion escaped from a circus and dashed through the streets, causing pedestrians to scurry for shelter. After racing through the streets growling and snarling, the lion dashed through the open door of a small grocer's shop. The grocer's wife rushed behind the counter, and remained crouching on the floor petrified with terror, but the beast took no notice of her, and knocking over tubs of butter and barrels of sugar, made for the stairs and entered the bedroom, where the grocer, Mr. Cotineau was asleep.

He was awakened by the noise, and opened his eyes to stare into those of the intruder. He sprang from the bed and dashed screaming down the stairs into the shop, and fell into the arms of the trainer, who by this time had arrived in search of the truant. The trainer was able to corner the animal in the bedroom, and led it chained back to the circus to the great relief of the inhabitants, most of whom watched his progress along the street from their windows.

IN MEMORIAM

LEO ANDREW CAVANAGH The death occurred at New Haven on March 12th, of Leo Andrew, infant son of Simon and Mrs. Cavanagh. He had been ill only six days. All that each day could do to relieve the little sufferer was done, but to no avail. Death broke the fetters, and the suffering spirit went forth to its Maker in Heaven, where the breath of sin and care can never mar the beauty of that young flower.

The funeral took place on Sunday, March 13th, at St. Ann's cemetery, where his little form was tenderly laid to rest.

MRS. WILLIAM HENRY

There passed away at the Prince Edward Island Hospital on March 13rd, Clara A. Bell, wife of William Henry, aged 67 years. The late Mrs. Henry was of a quiet and unassuming disposition and will be greatly missed in the home where she was a devoted wife and mother.

She leaves to mourn besides a sorrowing husband, two sons, Harold W. and Arthur of this city, and one daughter, Miss Stanley Powell of Little Harbor, N. S. Also two brothers and three sisters, namely: John H. and Charles Bell of Charlottetown; Mrs. Henry Hardy, York, Mrs. Geo. W. Snelgrove, Charlottetown, and Mrs. Henry Cassford of Kingston, Ont.

The funeral took place from her late residence, 197 Kent Street, on Sunday, March 14th and was conducted by Rev. W. M. Ryan of Trinity Church.

The pallbearers were Messrs Harry Conn, Geo. A. Hughes, Archibald McKinnon, Lemuel Whyte, Donald Fraser and Murdoch McLeod.

MR. HEDLEY V. MacKINNON

The death occurred at Vancouver, B. C. on Tuesday the 15th, after a four months illness, of Mr. Hedley V. MacKinnon at the age of 49 years.

Mr. MacKinnon was born in Charlottetown, being the son of the late Alexander MacKinnon. He graduated from Prince of Wales College at the age of 17, and studied law for a time in the office of Mr. W. S. Stewart, now Judge Stewart. He served in South Africa as a member of the First Contingent, and was the first man to cross the Modra River in that famous battle. When he returned to Canada, he joined the editorial staff of the Saint John Standard and later became Editor of the Standard and later its proprietor. Five years ago he sold out to a syndicate, and left for Vancouver, B. C., where he was engaged in journalistic work for a time and later in the radio business.

HONEY 2½ Pound Pail 47cts.
HONEY Bottles 25c and 40cts.
Bee and Honey Facts
1 There are from 30,000 to 100,000 bees in a hive. One hive of bees is known as a "colony."
2 A colony of 75,000 bees will secure ten times as much honey in a good season as one of only 25,000, or one-third the strength.
3 Normally there is but one queen-bee to a colony.
4 As a rule, likewise, two queens do not get along peacefully in the same hive at the same time.
5 Mothers and daughters may, however, live peaceably for some weeks; but mother-in-law and daughter-in-law, never.
6 When two queens get to fighting they not only try to sting each other, but they pull each other's hair in real woman fashion.

Battle Of The Bun Vs. Bob

(By British United Press) LONDON, March 16.—The battle of the bun, the bang, and the bingle, the chignon and the shingle, the crop and the coil, and all the other variations of women's coiffure, of which past and present hairdressing has taken official cognizance, is raging behind the scenes in the salons where the permanent waves are set.

In the outer world, so far as the heads of the majority of the feminine population go, the short-haired, bobbed, and the fashion knows no class limitation. It is the chosen of countesses and chamberlains, of marchionesses and maid-of-all-work. Girls and grandmothers, seventeen and seventy, bow their heads to the scissors.

Married The Wrong Woman

(By British United Press) OTTAWA, March 15.—An amazing story of a marriage is related by Thomas Wagstaffe, of Nuregon, on the completion of 42 years' service as clerk and vergent at Nuregon Parish Church. The strangest experience of his career happened at a gipsy wedding when, through a misunderstanding and a strange coincidence in names, a man married the wrong woman. The papers were in order, and the couple answered to the names called, but after the wedding the real bride appeared and explained that she could not get to the church in time. Later it was stated that the bridegroom, after waiting for some time for the real bride, thought he could get married by proxy, so the ceremony proceeded. The tangle was unraveled shortly afterwards by the gipsy's wife. He enjoyed a wide popularity, dying.

LETTER OF SYMPATHY

To Mrs. Howard Carr. Dear Mrs. Carr, We the members of the Oyster Bed Bridge Women's Institute feel it our duty to convey to you our heartfelt sympathy in the loss which you have been called upon to bear, the loss of a kind and affectionate parent. May our Heavenly Father bring you comfort in this hour of sorrow, and may you look to him for help and realize that your father is not really dead, but only separated from you for a time. But how often the dear ones who are left to mourn, will long for the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still, yet can be not even in our darkest hours. Find comfort in the thought that our Heavenly Father knows and loves you, and that he has called a loved one to a higher service, while we are left amid life's shadows a little longer.

You have our deepest sympathy. Signed on behalf of the Oyster Bed Bridge Women's Institute. Mrs. G. A. Horne, Miss Edna MacInnis, Secy. Miss Eva Matheson.
