

Give some of the Dollars you Spend a "Return Ticket"

They'll come back when you need them most from Imperial Life

Mr. T. receives $100 a month for life

Back in 1927, Mr. T., a retailer, decided to attach "return tickets" to some of the dollars that passed through his hands. So he took an Imperial Life Policy at 44 years of age. Today he is just past 55.

He has retired from active business and receives a cheque from Imperial Life for $100 every month. Mr. T. hardly missed the deposits he made with the Company, and now he is assured of financial independence for life.

Twenty or twenty-five years hence the dollars you invest in Imperial Life Assurance will return to you. You will be tired by then; ready for a rest—a change. How acceptable, how useful they will be—those "returning" dollars you have saved—the ones that come back. Out of all those that have passed through your hands they will be the only ones that really count.

Meanwhile, your Imperial Life Policy will give you protection every day. Should the unexpected happen, your family will be taken care of. Thousands of men answer the uncertainties of business and routine investment, with the certainty of an Imperial Life Policy—always at par, and protected from loss.

Every day is important. See the Imperial Life representative at once.

Calling All Dog-Lovers

In two of these brief articles already published, we have stressed the need for informing ourselves concerning the laws affecting dogs, for realizing that over-harsh laws on the statute books only lead to evasion of law and in disrespect for law, and we have pointed out that correction of imperfect laws through an informed public opinion making itself felt through the proper and orderly legislative channels.

So far we have but touched on general principles. Let us now get down to statute law, taking first an Act Respecting Dogs in the statute books of Prince Edward Island and assented to on April 16, 1937.

The first provision is that the Act may be cited as The Dog Act and we will hereinafter refer to it under that name.

The second provision is that "Every dog found at large without its owner or other person in charge, or its owner or other person in charge, shall be deemed to be at large while within the limits of his owner's property."

At a casual reading of this provision, little fault may be found, providing it is what the people of Prince Edward Island want. Dogs may be accustomed to certain types of muzzles without any pain or injury. BUT, if the people of this province want this regulation, how does it appear to be so little objectionable?

You may be a law-abiding citizen. You may know of this provision of the statute book. You may be careful that your dog never strays off your premises unmuzzled. But, for his sake remember that so muzzled he is defenceless against attack by any dog who is not so scrupulous in his observance of the law.

So it comes about that we begin the consideration of The Dog Act with a plea that so long as this provision is in effect it should be more rigidly enforced, so that the law-abiding citizen's dog may not be placed at the mercy of any dog whose owner flouts the law.

How many dogs in your neighborhood go muzzled? And yet, if you unfortunately had a spiteful neighbor, and we hope you have not, he might go to the officer and demand that your dog be muzzled, no matter if that dog were a lovable, less old ancient, long past the age of chasing cats or of possible danger to anybody.

So long as you must muzzle your dog, to comply with the law, you are justified in demanding that others comply with the same law. You may say that such a provision is difficult to enforce on everybody. And you would be right. You might decide that your dog was harmless and that even if he were tempted beyond your line fence without his muzzle, nobody would do anything about it. But listen to what the Dog Act says in its third section: "Every dog found at large without its owner in charge shall be immediately shot or otherwise destroyed by ANY PERSON."

"Think that over. Remember it gives any person the right to shoot or poison your dog if he is found unmuzzled and unaccompanied anywhere beyond the bounds of your property. The person may be a poor shot and your old friend may have a lingering and painful death. It gives you no opportunity to defend your animal of even, "a dog's chance."

Girl Guides

A Ranger Company has recently been organized in Kensington. There are fifteen members and they have formed into three patrols. Their emblems are Oak, Birch and Maple.

Plans are being made for the enrollment of three recruits on Easter Monday. After the enrollment the girls (weather permitting) will hike to the woods where a number of them will try the fire-lighting test. For ten girls this will be the last test on the list for the second class badge.

A Happy Easter to all our sister Guides in the Province.

A new Alberton Brownie Pack was organized recently under the leadership of Misses Marie MacLellan, Mae Malley. The following members were enrolled: Frances MacAlduff, Jean Murphy, Jean Thompson, Mary Giffis, Mary Saunders, Greta Avery, Stella Power, Velda Smith, Eva Gaudin, Frances Wallace, Esther MacDonell, Margaret MacQuaid. The aid and Margaret MacQuaid. The new Brownies show great interest in their meetings which are held in uniform.

on Saturdays in the Callahan Building. If this interest is kept up we feel sure that their success will be ensured.

MORE COLOR IN BRIDAL GOWNS

It is interesting to hear that spring and summer brides are more color-minded. Blush pink and pale blue are the favorites for bridal gowns. These colors appear in nets, tulle, mousseline de sole and cotons. Sometimes the dotted Swiss has a pastel dot, and sometimes the lawns and organdies are embroidered in pastel colors.
