Stranger In Shady Gulch

By Denver Bardwell

CHAPTER XXVI

Lally was standing between Stringy Meehan and Chick Gardner. As the gun appeared in his hand, Chick leaped toward him and quickly brought his own gun down on the rancher's wrist. At the same instant, Stringy's gun flashed up and came down on Lally's hat crown.

Steady Gulch's leading citizen staggered and fell forward: Young Tom, who was just struggling to his feet in front of his father, was knocked flat and was soon being helped to his feet.

Tom, sweating vengeance, assisted Meehan to his feet. He had just brought him back from San Jacinto, and drove off with him.

"They had scarcely gone, when Sheriff Olds strode to the dance hall. When his deputies had given him an account of what had happened, he turned to Duke Hasser.

"Hasser, you better watch your step. Me and some of my other deputies just arrested and jugged half a dozen of your men that we caught trying to break into the back of the hardware store to get guns. Of course, you wouldn't know they was put to do that!"

"We're leavin' town, Olds," Hasser replied coolly. "Turn those men out a jail and give us back our guns."

"Those men are stayin' right where they are the sheriff continued. "On a charge of attempted theft. You and your other men will get your guns when the dance is over-not a minute sooner!"

Hasser told him that he had seen her going upstairs. At the foot of the stairs, Radkin found Mark Waller. "No use hanging around here to see my girl, Radkin," the rancher said rancorously. "You've caused her and me enough trouble already. Keep away from her!"

"Mr. Waller," Radkin replied evenly, "you're driving your herd to a

MAKING GOOD RECOVERY - L. Opl. Earl Fraser, Paratrooper who is convalescing after a severe illness, is spending three weeks leave, accompanied by Mrs. Fraser, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fraser, Plymouth Park. They returned last evening from Charlottetown, P. E. I., where they spent a week at Mrs. Fraser's former home. They expect to remain here another week before L. Opl. Fraser reports back to his unit. - New Glasgow News.

KINSMEN'S TAG DAY - The Kinmen's Milk for Britain fund was augmented by 2200 lbs. of milk on Saturday last as the result of a very successful Tag Day. This amount will supply 2400 quarts of milk for the children of Britain who have been left homeless by enemy air raids. The Kinmen Club, recently organized, with the help of patriotic Charlottetown girls sold tags. Miss Velma Carmody with $19 worth of tags sold topped the list, while Miss Jean Costello came second with $13.75. The Charlottetown branch of the Kinmen's Club have raised a total of $300 for the Milk for Britain fund, while the Canadian organization of Kinmen have sent $400,000 worth of milk overseas during the past year.

WEDDING BELLS - A happy event took place at Victoria West United Church on Friday, Oct. 23 at 4:00 p.m., when a large number of friends from far and near gathered to witness the marriage of Lilla True, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Macdonald, Victoria West, to Opl. Bruce Kalg Coulson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coulson, Sea View. The attendants were Miss Mary Lillian Enmore, cousin of the bride and Mr. Earle Enman of Victoria West. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. S. Murray of Wellington, the four standing beneath a beautifully decorated arch of autumn leaves, seasonal flowers and plants, leaflets arranged by friends of the bride. As the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the Wedding March was beautifully rendered by Miss Pearl Enman, church organist. The bride wore a street length dress of embroidered rose crepe and matching hat with white shoulder length veil and white accessories. Her bouquet was of pink and white carnations with white net bow and ribbon streamers. The bridesmaid also wore a street length dress of light rose crepe, matching hat and veil with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. The ushers were Messrs. Oliver MacLeod and Leonard Enman, cousins of the bride. The bride's mother wore a wine wool dress with wine velvet plume hat and black accessories. The groom's mother wore a wine colored crepe with black velvet coat, matching hat and accessories. After the ceremony the happy couple with their attendants left the church in a gaily decorated car, amidst a shower of rice, confetti and good wishes, proceeding to the Queen Hotel, Summerside, where supper was served. The following morning Opl. and Mrs. Coulson left by bus for Montreal while there they had a very pleasant visit with Opl. Coulson's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Coates, Coates' Mills, Kent Co. N.B., returning to the home of the bride on Wednesday evening, Oct. 28.

Mrs. Louis Darnach of Wilmet Harbor, spent Sunday in Bristol, the guest of Miss Mabel O'Brien.

Building movers last week moved a house from St. Peter's Harbor to the paved highway in good time. This new family brings the school children in the district to about forty eight. The teacher reports the school at Bristol crowded with three in every seat and the trustees have been asked to do something about it.

Cpl. Carol McAdam and his wife arrived in Morell, last week on a honeymoon trip. Cpl. McAdam, who is attached to the R. C. A. M. O., is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McAdam, and his bride is a Halifax girl.

Miss Mabel Smetton, who is a student at P. W. C. is at present home with the mumps.

Miss Reta Malone, has gone to St. Peter's where she has accepted a position as housekeeper for Rth Rev. A. A. Macdonald.

Mrs. Richard Gullen, spent the week-end in the City, returning to her home in Charlottetown.

Mrs. Charles McCarthy and Mrs. and Mrs. Frank McCarthy were in the City Friday, on business.

Bristol and Vicinity

From time to time letters are received from distant points from readers of this column. Last week a letter from Mr. John T. O'Brien, from an old school mate of his, three score years ago or more, Mr. Angus Joseph MacCormack, Edmonton, Alberta and dated November 3rd. Mr. MacCormack, said that he had gone west forty-five years ago and entered the coal mining business and gathering from his tone he has been very successful. He stated that he had visited Bristol different times in the summers of 1939-40-41 and not knowing his old school pal was still living had passed his door.

Mr. O'Brien, Mr. MacCormack, have not met since school days sixty year ago. He said he reads the Bristol and Vicinity each week with interest as he finds many names of people and places he recalls quite clearly.

Mr. Edmund Perry, who arrived from Halifax, a short time ago to spend a vacation with his widowed mother, left on return to his duties Monday.
