Farm Production Responsibilities

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 (CP)—The farm production responsibilities of Canadian provinces in meeting United Kingdom food requirements have become clearly defined, officials said today in reviewing the results of successful campaigns in 1941. The Prairie provinces would bear the major part of increased hog production to provide 600,000,000 pounds of bacon for export. Eastern Canada and British Columbia are concentrating on cheese, and other farm products to export to Britain. It was probable the eastern provinces could do little more than maintain present production arrangements for dehydration of vegetables on a large scale for export purposes indicated West coast and eastern provinces may soon be required to increase output in this line. Alberta, the largest western hog producer, had 1,584,029 carcasses graded in 1941 compared with 1,288,444 in the previous year. Saskatchewan rose from 354,849 to 511,588 and Manitoba from 1,878,294 to 2,101,000.

In contrast, Quebec production fell from 78,543 to 67,364. Poor feed conditions affected all eastern provinces.

Cheese contract ending in March this year was for 112,000,000 rounds and enlarged amounts may be ordered from the body of a lieutenant, was fined 25 (about $9).

Mr. Justice Arsenault Addresses Grand Jury What a Life!

Refers to Island's part in war; Grand Jury calls attention to overcrowding at Falconwood Hospital.

Following is the text of the address delivered by Mr. Justice Arsenault to the Grand Jury: Mr. Foreman and Gentlemen of the Grand Jury: Once again we meet here under the shadow of the most widely spread and most devastating war the world has ever seen. Practically all the nations of the world are involved in this war struggle but it is encouraging to realize that all these nations, apart from Germany, Italy and Japan, are ranged or would willingly be ranged if they could, on the side of Britain, United States, and Russia.

I consider it rather presumptuous for me or for any of us ordinary laymen to attempt a review of radio broadcast and with our host of daily newspapers, with pronouncements from such outstanding men as Churchill, Roosevelt, and Anthony Eden, to say nothing of trained war commentators, there is little I can say that can add to the sum of knowledge which you as intelligent men already possess.

The dastardly attack made on the United States possessions by Japan has united that great nation to the south of us as never before. United States, with its teeming millions, with its great wealth, with its resources in minerals and all materials necessary for defence and offence production, with its millions of trained workmen and its well equipped factories and manufacturing plants, has brought to Britain a strength in men, arms, and munitions the volume of which has never heretofore been produced.

Japanese Treachery It is a matter of regret that, as with Britain and Russia, United States was not assisting Japan for at this country not only without warning but even at a time when peace negotiations were still proceeding and the Japanese Ambassador at Washington was banqueting with American officials and diplomats. As has been said, the thug and the bully can easily gain momentary advantage by attacking where an assault is not anticipated.

The secret preparations of Germany for an attack on Russia and the elaborate plans of Japan for an assault on the Philippines brought about an immediate great advantage but it has had the effect of uniting these powerful nations and infusing in them the determination of not only defending themselves but in tremendous preparation to bring the war to these aggressive and unscrupulous countries, and although we were for a time that Germany would overrun Russia the tables have now been turned and Germany is now desperately trying to escape from the claws of the Russian bear.

You have heard and read that United States has now in preparation, the most stupendous program of war material ever seen. Tanks, equipped with the latest armament, in ships, in planes, tanks, guns, and other war materials of England and its Dominions, must strike terror to the hearts of Hitler, Mussolini and the Japanese Emperor. Japan has now for several years been at war with a country that was totally unprepared for such a contest and, instead of conquering China, a large Japanese army has recently been all annihilated by this underrated nation.

China's Vast Army We, in Canada and elsewhere, have been rather underestimating the Chinese. It is true that they also were unprepared for a war, but in the past few years, under the leadership of General Chiang Kai-shek, they have been building the largest army now in the field. It is estimated that the Chinese have at the front an army of five million men with over ten million in reserve, besides a substantial army carrying on guerrilla warfare behind the Japanese lines. They have already won three outstanding victories, the latest of which was at Changsha. With the additional equipment they are now getting from the United States, they are becoming a considerable menace to the Japs.

The British Dominions, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa, all owing allegiance to our common King have united in the moment of peril. The Crown was in danger and, as was our duty, we without being called have rallied to its defence. We are proud of the effort we have already made but we have no call for self-congratulation. In defending the Mother Country we are defending ourselves, and indeed, had it not been for the British Fleet, we have no assurance that the Hun would not already be on this side of the water.

Prince Edward Island is a very small piece of land; it is only a dot on the world's map. Frequently, in fact, we are entirely overlooked, and I have seen maps of Canada which even ignored us altogether. And yet we are a Province in Canada with the same rights and privileges of the larger Provinces. Small though we be, we have the distinction of having supplied to the Army, Navy, and Airforce, a greater number of recruits per capita than any province of Canada. We are likewise proud of the distinction for outstanding services that has come to some of our boys such as MacMillan, Stewart and Burnett.

Some of you, maybe all of you, like myself have sons who are now serving their King and Country. We cannot know what their fate will be. We pray that they may return to us after faithful service. To your enlisted boys and to the enlisted boys of all other parents, we will owe much. We will owe to them, when tyranny has been conquered, the great privilege of living according to our ideals, to frame our destinies as democratic nations, free in our region, in our language, not to be herded as captives, not to be regimented as so many automatons. But in the meantime, let us not forget them. Let us pray for them and provide them with the means of defending themselves and for overcoming enemy. Let us through the Red Cross and other like organizations, provide them with those worldly comforts they stand in need of and by so doing we will keep up their morale and give them the assurance that if they are doing the fighting we are at least providing the arms and some of the comforts of life.

White Gloves And now, Gentlemen, to come down to the business in hand. You have seen performed today, a very ancient ceremony, that of the presentation to the presiding Judge of a pair of white gloves, emblematic of purity and evidence that at the moment the County is free from crime.

Not since the Assizes of January 1936, that is six years ago, has this ceremony been performed at the Queen's Assizes. It is said to reflect that in the past few years it has not been to our credit that we have had three Assizes, but in fact, four young men indicted for such murders, two of whom have suffered the extreme penalty, the two others of whom are serving sentences in the penitentiary.

It had been very many years since an execution had taken place in this Province and we were getting to be boastful of our record. Well, unfortunates, the world has been broken but let us see to it that it will be very many years more before we have cause to repeat this drastic means of preventing crime.

Not only are there no criminal cases before the Court but there are no civil jury cases. In fact the only case docketed, at the present Assizes, is an appeal from a prohibition conviction. Of course, gentlemen, you will please bear in mind that under our present practice we no longer wait for Assizes and after a case is ready for trial, unless it is a case which must be tried by a Judge with a Jury, the case is heard and determined out of term, and most of the cases nowadays are tried as determined in this way.

Your duties will be very onerous. As usual you will pay a visit to the Jail and to the other public institutions and after a careful examination make your report. I now leave you to the fulfillment of your duties with full assurance that they will be well performed.

Grand Jury Report After inspecting the public institutions, the Grand Jury presented the following report: "We the members of the Grand Jury beg leave to submit the following report, but before doing so, we would like to congratulate Your Lordship on your exceedingly careful and comprehensive summation of the present conditions and in which we are in full accord.

"It was with keen pleasure that we were supplied with the white gloves to Your Lordship which is symbolic of the freedom of crime in our fair Province in spite of the chaotic conditions at present existing throughout the world. "On visiting the goal, we found everything in excellent condition. "We, however, would strongly recommend that adequate fire protection be supplied to this building. "The Gaoler Dwyer and his wife are doing an excellent work but we feel that they are sadly in need of more fire extinguishers and fire hose equipment.

"Next we visited Falconwood Hospital where we were met by Dr. MacLellan, Dr. MacLellan, the Matron, Mrs. Dignam, who kindly escorted us over the premises and in every way helped us to see all parts. "We were greatly impressed with the cleanliness and excellent conditions prevailing. "We feel that too much praise cannot be extended to the entire staff in the admirable manner they carry on their duties.

Overcrowded "With 276 patients and a staff of 50, we find an overcrowded condition which we hope in the not too distant future will be overcome by providing suitable quarters for the staff. "We would further recommend the installation of a dumb-water in the main building so that food may be conveyed to the second and third floors as at the present time the trays have all to be conveyed up and down stairs three times each day. "In our final recommendation we strongly urge the construction of a paved highway to this Institution. Daily transportation is absolutely necessary. Not only is food and supplies distributed from there to the jail and infirmary, but most important of all is to keep the place accessible to fire equipment if the need should arise. "Let us not forget the disastrous fire of a few years ago. "At the Infirmary we found everything beautifully kept and very homelike. Here too we found an overcrowded condition, there being 185 patients. The Matron, Mrs. Ganda, is deserving of great credit for the very efficient way she discharges her many duties. "In view of the disastrous fire which occurred in Sackville, New Brunswick, recently where at Mt. Allison University Residence some four young lives were lost, we would like to bring to the attention of the proper authorities the necessity of supplying proper fire escapes and fire fighting equipment to many of the public buildings, schools and colleges, here in our Province. "It is fortunate that our Province has been blessed in having such marvellous institutions such as we inspected today and it has been very enlightening to us to have had the pleasure of inspecting them, and we strongly urge our people to take the opportunity of seeing for themselves how efficiently they are managed and maintained. "Signed He-Lewis Weeks foreman for self and fellows. Use Minard's for dandruff.
