

The WEEK at S. D. U.

On Tuesday evening the students returned from their week-end holidays. The quarterly examinations, which begin the first of the week, put them back to their books with-out delay.

Word has been received here recently from Mr. Joseph Ready B.A. '38. Joe is a member of The British Air Force and is now stationed in England. He has recently passed his examinations and expects to be active service within the next couple of months.

Football: The senior team returned on Tuesday evening from the mainland where they played two hard games with Mt. A. and U. N. B. Although the boys were tired and somewhat disappointed with the result of the games, they were loud in their praises of the sportmanship shown by the two mainland teams. They were greatly impressed by the U. N. B. squad, and some are of the opinion that they are going to be their most formidable opponents this year. The boys will read differently in their games on October 28th and November 4th.

It is expected, at the time of writing (Thursday), that the senior team will play a return game with the Army on Saturday. Should this game materialize the fans are assured of witnessing a real never-say-die struggle before the winner is proclaimed.

Among the supporters who attend the game at Mt. A. Saturday were Rev. Fathers: J. A. Sullivan, P. L. Cass, R. G. Edworthy, L. O. McCreedy and J. W. McCardie from St. Dunstan's, and J. Kenny, A. McGaughan, J. McCallum, Gerard MacKinnon, Vernon MacDonald, James Roach, Michael Campbell, Vincent Roach, Art Campbell, William Higgins and Gus Campbell from the City.

NEW GLASGOW, N. S., Oct. 19.—Alexander MacCallum, MacGregor 75, Conservative member of Parliament for Pictou from 1917-21, died suddenly here today. A railroad construction contractor, he had been retired for several years.

NOT VERY FAR

It seemeth such a little way to me Across to that strange country, the Beyond; And yet not strange, for it has grown to be The home of those of whom I am fond;

It makes it seem familiar and more clear As journeying friends bring distant regions near.

So close it lies that when my sight is clear I think I almost see the gleaming strand; I know I feel those who have gone from here Come close enough sometimes to touch my hand; I often think but for our veiled eyes We should find Heaven rightround about us lies.

And so for me there is no sting to death And so the grave has lost its victory; It is but crossing, with abated breath And with set face, a little slat of sea.

To find the loved ones waiting on the shore More beautiful, more precious than before I cannot make it seem a day to dread When from this dear earth I shall journey out To that still dearer country of the dead.

I love this world, yet I shall love to go To meet the friends who wait for me to know; I never stand above a tier and see The seal of death set on some well-loved face But this I think: "One more to welcome me." —Author Unknown

CHRIST'S BEQUEST OF PEACE

"Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." (John 14:27)

Peace is a strange theme for such days as these, yet it is more than ever necessary to remind ourselves that there is a peace which cannot be broken even by the wars and rumours of wars with which we are now only too familiar. The peace of the world is always uncertain, unless man keep the peace of God. And now that peace has seemed once more to vanish from the large areas of the world, we shall do well to think again of that "peace which passeth all understanding." For many of us it is the only peace that is now possible. And thank God it is possible—a tranquility of spirit and composure of soul that cannot be destroyed even by those things which make for conflict between classes and nations.

This peace our Lord bequeathed to His disciples. When He came to die He had little to leave them. Indeed, there was nothing in the way of property or money that He could pass on as an inheritance. Yet He did bequeath them a possession of incalculable worth. "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid?"

Is any word of Jesus more comforting than that? Is there any word of His more relevant to our present need? Men seek for many things. Some seek fame, others money, others pleasure, and yet others power. But behind and beyond all these ends to which so much human activity is directed is the one supreme aim of peace. For of what is fame or money or pleasure or power unless it lead to rest of spirit and peace of soul? Yet with all their seeking and finding, the one thing that the world cannot give us is that "peace of God which passeth all understanding." That peace is the gift of Divine grace. It is our Lord's grand bequest to all who put their trust in Him.

It is difficult to put into exact words exactly what this peace is. There are some things which cannot be defined; they defy logical analysis. They can be known in their essence only by those who experience them. A man who has never been in love can never really know what love means. A woman who has never passed through the fires of affliction cannot really understand the suffering and sorrow of one who has. So it is with the peace which Christ gives. The most eloquent tongue, the most skillful pen, cannot set forth its beauty and strength. It has to be personally experienced to be known.

Yet there are some things which may be said about it. We know that it is the peace of reconciliation with God. The forgiven soul, the peaceful soul. The man who knows the joy of sins forgiven also knows the peace which (paradox though it seems) transcends all knowing. Because he is at one with God, he is also at one with himself and with the world. It is also the peace which is strengthened by doing the will of God. As we bring our souls more and more into harmony with Divine will, we more and more discover that "His will is our peace." It is also peace in the midst of strife, serenity of soul in the presence of all the trials of life. It is deeper and higher than all the changes of human experience. It is not destroyed by the shocks and invasions of earthly things. It is something the world cannot take away. It is Christ's own peace of heart and mind bestowed upon all those who trust their souls to Him.

"We bless Thee for Thy peace, O God."

ALCOHOLIC LIQUOR RESPONSIBLE FOR "THE BAD BOY" (Excerpts from the National Radio Broadcast by Judge J. M. Braude, of the Chicago Boys Court, sponsored by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, as reported in the Union Signal April 22, 1939)

"Alcoholic liquor is responsible for between thirty and thirty-five per cent of all the cases that come into the Boys Court. Under its influence, boys will commit almost any crime and will steal more money to buy more liquor. "While we have plenty of laws the on our Statute books which prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor to minors, they are, as one may imagine, very difficult to enforce. "To really do something about this feature of the problem, we must look to those agencies which are charged with the responsibility of character formation in our growing young people—the home, the school and the church."
