AN announcement from the International Bureau of the Boy Scouts Association in London records a historic development in Scouting in India. This is the recognition of the Boy Scouts Association of India as an independent national organization, operating under its own laws, and affiliated with the International Bureau. Previously the various Indian State Scout organizations functioned within the structure of the Boy Scouts Association of Great Britain. A result will be to bring Indian Scouting into closer touch with other parts of the world, strengthening the bonds of peace.

A bean supper, eaten seated on the floor, picnic style, was the feature of the Christmas Eve, Scout and Wolf Cub night at Swift Current, Sask. The Rotarians lost out in the bean eating contest.

"To you Scouts this great Rally means a good time under canvas, making new acquaintances, getting to know your fellow Scouts in friendly rivalry with boys from other places. To me the significance is deeper. You come from different States; you are of different religious faiths. In spite of these differences you live here together in goodwill and friendly rivalry. That is the spirit of Scouting - tolerance, goodwill, rivalry without bitterness, and retaining of your own individuality while working for the good of your particular Group, and so for the good of all. Your States, India, and the world as a whole are in need of those ideals which you as Scouts cherish. You have your part to play; see that you play it well."

H. E. The Viceroy of India, Lord Linlithgow, addressing a great rally of the Boy Scouts of the Punjab at Lahore.

A troop of Boy Scouts has been organized among the Basque (Spanish) boys at the Laleham Refugee Centre, Margate, England, and registered at Imperial Scout Headquarters as the 36th Margate (Laleham Basque) Troop. These refugee children were so undisciplined that I was certain Margate would not put up with them much longer," it was explained by Rover Leader Angel. "But scouting has brought them together in the most marvellous way imaginable, and everyone is astounded at the result. The Centre which only a few weeks ago was a living mass of undisciplined, is now run on the lines of the English school prefect system, and everyone is better for it." The Troop is running so successfully that every one of the Spanish boys has passed his English tenderfoot tests, including the Scout Law. It is said that the whole atmosphere of the Centre, which there are eighty children, has been transformed by the introduction of Scouting ideas and ideals.

Opening the recent Australasian Boy Scout Jamboree at Sydney, His Excellency the Governor-General, Lord Gowrie, Chief Scout for Australia, read the following message from His Majesty the King:

"I am very glad to think that so many Boy Scouts of Australia are met together on this the last day of the year. I thank you warmly for your kind and loyal message, and send to you and your fellow Scouts from our Dominion and nations overseas my best wishes for your welfare and happiness in the coming year. If throughout the year you try your best to be true to the Scout Law, you will have done much to promote the spirit of goodwill among men which is so essential to the peace of the world."

Some 11,000 Boy Scouts from the different Australian States, with representative contingents from France, Hungary, the United States, Great Britain and other parts of the Empire, participated in the year-end assembly of Boy Scouts under the leadership represented by one Scout leader, Assistant Scoutmaster Charles Lashbrook of Edmonton. The great camp, divided into distinctive subcamps characteristic of the home countries of the boys, attracted many thousands of visitors from New Zealand, the Loyalty Islands, Noumea and elsewhere. It attracted much attention. Novel and interesting camps also had been erected by the Scouts from New Zealand, South Africa, India and Kenya.
