

PRINCE EDWARD
TO-DAY and SAT.
SHOWS — 3.15 — 7.00 — 9.00

YEAH! FOOTBALL!
... MELODY!
... ROMANCE!
... LOVELIES!
... YEAH! FUN!

... cause it has the greatest
Team of players ever packed into one big musical hit!

JACK OAKIE
GEORGE MURPHY
WALTER BRENNAN
LINDA DARNELL
MILTON BERLE

MARK HILLINGER'S
Marriage Hit

RISE and SHINE

SELOON LEONARD — DONALD MEEB
RUTH DONNELLY — RAYMOND WALSH
Directed by ALAN BRAY — Produced by HARRY BELMONT
A NEW CENTURY PRODUCTION

EXTRA — NEWS
AMERICA AT WAR
"MARCH OF TIME"

CAPITOL
TO-DAY and SAT.
SHOWS — 3.15 — 7.00 — 8.45

IT'S A CHILLER-DILLER!

RALPH BELLAMY
MARGARET LINDSAY

MEET THE WILDCAT

JOSEPH SCHILDKRAUT
ALLEN JENKINS
JEROME COWAN

ALSO — POPEYE CARTOON
MUSICAL COMEDY
SEA RAIDERS

Winners In National Temperance Study Course

PRINCE COUNTY

Primates 9 yrs. and under—1. Charlotte Cairns, Freetown. 2. Louise Craig, Middleton. 3. Donald Profit, Freetown. 4. Ruby Drummond, Freetown. 5. Doris Wright, Middleton. 6. Sally Ruth Osborne, Summerside.

Juniors 10 and 11 yrs.—1. Katherine Auld, Freetown. 2. Malcolm Matheson, Freetown. 3. Olive Craig, Middleton. 4. Shirley Gorrill, O'Leary, Pauline Phillips, Summerside. 5. Helen Stright, Summerside. 6. Virginia Campbell, Summerside.

Intermediate 12, 13 and 14 yrs.—1. Elizabeth Wright, Middleton. 2. Marion Wright, Middleton. 3. Jimmie Harris, Summerside. 4. John Craig, Middleton. 5. Betty Profit, Freetown. 6. Anna Harris, Summerside.

Seniors 15, 16, 17 yrs.—1. Mary Wright, Bequete. 2. Ruth Wright, Bequete. 3. Mary Matheson, Freetown. 4. Jean MacCallum, Bequete.

QUEENS COUNTY

Primates 9 yrs. and under—1. Jackie Howatt, New Wilshire. 2. Pauline MacLean, New Wilshire. 3. Reuel Newport, Hunter River. 4. Sterling MacRae, Brookfield. 5. Stanley Cruwys, Brookfield; Beverly Boston, Brookfield.

Juniors 10 and 11 yrs.—1. Shirley Cooke, York. 2. Mary P. Watts, York. 3. Marjorie Deacon, New Wilshire. 4. Leah Moore, Hunter River. 5. James MacFadyen, Hunter River. 6. Edith Howatt, New Wilshire. 7. Ruth Nicholson, York. 8. Cecil MacPhail, Bonshaw, Marie Martin, Hunter River. 9. Ethel Moore, Hunter River. 10. Doreen Campbell, New Wilshire.

Senior 15, 16, 17 yrs.—1. Shirley Crosby, Bonshaw. 2. Beth Nicholson, York. 3. Reggie MacPhail, Bonshaw. 4. Georgie Ward, Charlottetown. 5. Verna Robertson, Hunter River.

KINGS COUNTY

Junior—1. Hazel Jenkins, Cardigan, R.R. 5.

Senior—1. Marguerite MacDonald, Cardigan, R.R. 5.

PROVINCIAL WINNERS

Primates—1. Jackie Howatt, New Wilshire, Charlotte Cairns, Freetown. 2. Louise Craig, Middleton. 3. Pauline MacLean, New Wilshire; Donald Profit, Freetown. 4. Ruby Drummond, Freetown. 5. Doris Wright, Middleton.

Juniors 10 and 11 yrs.—1. Katherine Auld, Freetown. 2. Shirley Cooke, York; Mary P. Watts, York. 3. Marjorie Deacon, New Wilshire; Hazel Jenkins, Cardigan, R. R. 5. 4. Malcom Matheson, Freetown. 5. Olive Craig, Middleton.

Intermediates—1. Edith Howatt, New Wilshire; Ruth Nicholson, York. 2. Elizabeth Wright, Middleton; Cecil MacPhail, Bonshaw. 3. Marion Wright, Middleton. 4. Fred Cairns, Freetown. 5. Jimmie Harris, Summerside.

Seniors 15, 16, 17 yrs.—1. Shirley Crosby, Bonshaw; Marguerite MacDonald, Cardigan, R.R. 5. 2. Mary Wright, Bequete; Ruth Wright, Bequete. 3. Mary Matheson, Freetown. 4. Jean MacCallum, Bequete. 5. Beth Nicholson, York. 6. Reggie MacRae, Brookfield.

COLLEGES MERGE

WINDSOR, England — (CP) — Because the war has caused a decrease in the number of students, two famous public schools, Halliwell College and Imperial Service College, have decided to amalgamate.

TRAVELLER'S REST SCHOOL

Senior Department.
Grade X—1. Hazel Rayner and Dorothy Simmons (equal); 2. Alma Moore; 3. Florence McDonald.
Grade IX—1. James Pillman; 2. Emeline Rayner; 3. Amy Rayner.
Grade VIII—1. Ailie McDonald; 2. Brad MacInnis; 3. Russell Hogg.
Grade VII—1. Loretta Hogg; 2. Ora Hogg; 3. Evelyn Wood.
Grade VI—1. Florence MacInnis; 2. Virginia Moore; 3. Edna MacInnis.
Junior Department.
Grade V—1. Helen Simmons and Ruth Rayner (equal); 2. Doris White.
Grade IV Sr.—1. Norma Wood-

After a big NIGHT'S FUN

Feel "Spry" as a Robin"

Get into your stride quickly. Start a habit of drinking a glass of sparkling Alka-Seltzer.

Because Alka-Seltzer dissolves rapidly in water, it goes to work directly you drink it. It quickly makes you feel brighter and better. Alka-Seltzer's "two-way" action helps to offset over indulgence in food, drink or smoking. Its alkalizing properties tend to soothe and settle an upset stomach. And its fast-acting analgesic relieves pain. Remember Alka-Seltzer next time you get up. Write for a free sample. Address: Miles Laboratories Limited, Dept. 8, 167 Dufferin Street, Toronto.

GET THE QUICK RELIEF you want... plus the ALKALIZER you need!

ALKA SELTZER

Happy Landing
BY BASIL HAYE

"WE OUGHT TO CELEBRATE!"

"He should have shown more discretion. He ought to have known that I'm always ready to see you, Miss Vivian. And you couldn't possibly have chosen a better moment to arrive. I was only just talking about you."

"I knew somebody was. My ears were red hot. But—why are you talking about me?"

"Professional anxiety to arrange a meeting between tenant and landlord. Miss Vivian, I want you to see Mr. Michael Bond."

Bond was standing at some distance, his back to the glittering expanse of window, which the high noon-day sun turned into a golden glow behind him. So, until he moved, the girl could not really see more of him than his silhouette, very erect and very still.

She, however, faced the window. He could see her with great clarity. And she was, as Deeping had told him, of very charming appearance. A blonde, but without any of the usual vanity and boldness of the type. She was most quietly and correctly dressed in a dark tailor-made. She was dressed in the most expensive form of simplicity.

"Delighted, Miss Vivian," he stammered somewhat, and was helped over obvious embarrassment by her color slightly drawn voice.

"That's quite nice of you, Mr. Bond. I hope Mr. Deeping here has been telling you how anxious I was to meet you?"

"Exactly why I said you'd come at the right moment, Miss Vivian!" the other thrust in eagerly.

"I'm glad to visit you, I'm afraid—at the moment, anyhow," Bond regretted, but she laughed attractively.

"You won't despair, Mr. Bond. I'm sure you'll come."

Bond who had meantime taken up his hat, only too anxious to escape the mirth room, turned to make his excuses.

"Deeping and I have finished all we had to discuss, Miss Vivian," he explained slowly and rather awkwardly, "so please don't let me intrude. I'm just leaving—"

"And so am I," she made him feel more awkward saying, slyly and with a smile. "We'll go together, shall we?" Or— isn't it the proper thing for a landlord to ask his tenant if she's famishing and—take her to lunch?"

"That was a shrewd one, Deeping told me. If you put it that way, Miss Vivian, I'm at your disposal. Bond simply had to accept the situation as it was. He had no choice. He held out her slim hand again to the solicitor. "I have such a lot to thank you for. I don't know what you'll do to thank people, even if it does take up their time, hasn't one? And—please don't sack that little girl. She's a real find. She's got a wife and four children, so he told me, so I suppose things must be difficult for him, wouldn't they?"

He didn't realize how important it was I should see you, of course."

Bond's mind was a whirl of confused thoughts.

He was astounded at the way Deeping took this apparently meaningless and time-wasting intrusion on him. Just to thank him, she had said for something. Walking into his office and out again, all in five minutes. But—one had to notice the fact—involving herself to lunch in the process.

"Have you any special preference as to restaurant, Miss Vivian?"

"We'll go to the 'Foreador,' shall we? We can talk there. We simply must talk, don't you think? I mean—remembering the strange circumstances of our last meeting, and then—our present position as landlord and tenant—we'll we really ought to—celebrate some I feel."

CHAPTER II
TWO PEOPLE'S PAST

The crowded, noisy streets made talking almost impossible, and he did not attempt it, as they walked in silence to the restaurant. He had thought, though now and again she passed some remark which really was of no account.

This earlier meeting of theirs, realized first when he had seen her facing the window in Deeping's office, filled his mental vision. It had happened a little over a year since on the Continent, Marseilles at night, and especially the quarter known as the "Foreador."

In fact, if it came to that, contact with her on that night in Marseilles, obliging him to waste good time in assisting her, had completely spoiled the business which had specially taken him just then to that particular part of Europe's least reputable port. He never had felt thankful to her over that, nor did he see in this unexpected fresh meeting with her the slightest cause for celebration or for explanation.

He said as much when she opened the subject, once they had seated themselves in the "Foreador."

"You were perfectly wonderful that night, and—of course, you really saved my life. I've got to thank you for everything," she remarked when the meal had been ordered.

He laughed a little drily. "You were tremendously thankful to Deeping just now over something."

"I should say I was," she laughed, too, and leaned forward. "And I suppose I really ought to confess what that something was. You see, Mr. Deeping arranged matters so that you and I should meet to-day at his offices as we did."

"Deeping arranged it?"

"He and I did between us, although that funny little clerk of his nearly upset things. I'd told Mr. Deeping that I was very anxious to meet you, and he phoned through to me where I was staying in Town so soon as he knew you were looking in on him. That's how I came to turn up when I did."

"And why, may I ask, were you in such a hurry to meet me?" Bond inquired, still puzzled, and she laughed again.

"Because there was a photograph of you in your uniform in the porter's lodge down at Sunningholme, and I recognized you as my hero of Marseilles."

"Nothing heroic about me!" Bond remarked, smiling suddenly hot and embarrassed.

"One thing I can guess," she retorted. "You didn't think me very great in the heroine role that night and I can't blame you. That's why I was mad to meet you, wanting to explain how I came in that rotten place, what had been happening."

"I shouldn't," he cut her short again. "Let's look on it as all over and done with, shall we? On the principle that—least said, soonest mended."

(To be Continued)

Seamen's Manning Pool For Mercantile Marine

(By Bruce West)

HALIFAX — Sitting high on a hillside overlooking Halifax harbor is a great block of new frame buildings which seem destined to be one of the focal points in the grim Battle of the Atlantic.

Swiftly erected during the past few months, it will house the men who go down to the sea in the ships of Canada's fast-growing Merchant Marine. Known as a "manning pool," it will serve as a gathering spot for merchant seamen and men who have had their training at newly established schools for seamen which form part of the plan.

While waiting at the manning pool for their call to ship, the sailors will receive pay allowance, board and lodging. Thus will men who have lost their ships be spared the weary business of hanging around port, sleeping in "flophouses" while searching for another berth.

The new Halifax manning pool his arrival in this country. There he merely gives the requisite information on himself and the ship on which he served and from that moment on becomes a paid "guest" of this comfortable lodging place. He draws his allowance until he is again called to sea.

If he is in poor health as a result of his experience at sea, he is placed in a small clean hospital until he is able to get around again.

In the coming months of the Officers of the Merchant Marine are shown in their comfortable lounging room at the new Manning Pool for merchant sailors which has been erected at Halifax. Seamen receive pay allowance, board and lodging at the Pool until they are called to join new ships.

men from all parts of the country. It marks the recognition of the Merchant Marine as a fourth arm of the services and will be of vital importance in the big job of providing crews for the new ships now sliding down the ways with increasing rapidity.

Each floor is equipped with a speck and span wash room and shower baths. Dining rooms are neat and ship-shape and in them war, veterans of the seven seas and men from the farms and cities of inland Canada will rub shoulders within the walls of these manning pools as the Dominion musters every available man for the big task of keeping the supplies rolling across the oceans of the world.

And when the rugged sailing men come back from their perious

Shown above is the exterior of one of the several buildings of the new Manning Pool for merchant seamen which has been erected at Halifax. From such pools will be drawn crews for the new ships now coming off the ways in increasing numbers.

the plan's operation is Arthur Randies, Director of Merchant Marine, who is equal to that of any first class hotel.

If a sailor from a torpedoed ship has been picked up at sea by a vessel heading for Canada, he goes directly to the manning pool upon voysages, such institutions as the manning pool and the Allied Merchant Seaman's Club at Halifax will remind them that their country realizes and appreciates their courage and their value in this greatest of all wars.

TO-NIGHT — SAT.

EMPIRE

TO-NIGHT 7.00 AND 8.45
MATINEE SAT. ONLY 2.30

BROTHERS IN BANDITRY

is Tim makes the looting of the gold-studded west family affair!

TIM Holt
RIDES
The BANDIT TRAIL

with
RAY WHITLEY
and His 6-Bar Cowboy
LEE (Lasses) WHITE
JANET WALDO

PLUS — GALLUP POLL
PEEPS IN THE DEEP
CITY WITHIN A CITY
RAPSOODY IN RIVETS

Netherlands' "10 Commandments Of resistance"

LONDON, Feb. 4.—(CP)—A copy of the "ten commandments of resistance," reported to have circulated widely in the Netherlands, has been published by Vrij Nederland, organ of the Free Netherlands.

The paper said the copy had been smuggled to Britain. It remarked that churches have become rallying-points of resistance in the Netherlands. All churches are cooperating and for the first time clergymen of the various denominations are freely exchanged.

Vrij Nederland said the "commandments" had been carefully and cleverly written and the Nazis were at loss to take action against persons in whose possession copies were found.

Here are the "commandments":—

1. Thou shalt resist the evil one with all power; Thou shalt be courageous, intelligent and stubborn.
2. Thou shalt not spread false rumor, nor accept empty phrases, but shalt speak the truth.
3. Thou shalt not extinguish thine anger, but master it, that thy conscience may not be blunted by adjustment to wrong causes.
4. Thou shalt renew the life of thy soul, that civilization may find thee ready after the fires of war.
5. Thou shalt aid in building a community that offers all of good-will at fair chance, justice, peace and truth.
6. Thou shalt not withhold thyself from common suffering, but shalt live here with a warm heart and judge thine enemy in justice.
7. Thou shalt not be passive only, but shalt turn thy soul to the permanent risk of life.
8. Thou shalt not safeguard the purity of thy soul in pernickety ways, but shalt follow thy destiny in the great order of the world and not withhold alliance in the fulfillment thereof.
9. Thou shalt pursue light even in the darkness; for light remains light.
10. Thou shalt realize that the basis of life is not "must" but "may"; not "law" but "mercy"—this is thy consolation, thy creed and thy power as a christian Netherlander.

MOUNT TRYON CONCERT

The annual Christmas concert of Mount Tryon School was held in the school house on the evening of Dec. 22. The school was beautifully decorated for the occasion by the teacher, Mrs. Walter Wood and pupils. The school was filled to capacity by the ratepayers and outsiders, among them being the past teacher, Miss Marjorie M. Cameron of Albany Village.

Following was the program.

Address of Welcome, Lloyd Waddell.

Recitation, Wanted Volunteers, Vernon Martin.

Exercise, Christmas Givings, Boyd Eise, Freda, Fice Velda.

Dialogue, That's Nothing, Kathleen, Melvin, Carman.

Recitation, Writing to Santa, Velda Martin.

Dialogue, How Mr. Bates Got Out of Shopping, Wynne, Doris, Melvin, Gladys Florence.

Exercise, The Christmas Starling Board, Lloyd and Lloyd Stanley, John J. Eldon.

Recitation, Christmas Wish, Lorne Mayhew.

Dialogue, A Plan That Worked, Allister, John J., Gladys and Florence.

Recitation, Almost As Good, Eleanor Warren.

Exercise, A Good Plan, Lloyd and Eldon.

Recitation, Explaining to Santa, John J. Warren.

Exercise, Christmas Tree, 3 pupils.

Recitation, A Letter to Santa, Albert Warren.

Exercise, Christmas Dreams by pupils.

Monologue, Learning a Piece, Melvin Waddell.

Pantomime, Silent Night, 4 girls.

A Farewell, Eleanor Warren and Esie Martin, after which Santa Claus arrived and distributed gifts from a well-laden tree to both teacher and pupils.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the teacher for the splendid manner in which each of the pupils took his or her part so excellently. The singing of the National Anthem brought the programme to a close.

WASTE FOR ADMISSION

SOUTHAMPTON, England — (CP) — Ten pounds of waste passed was the admission fee charged at a dance at this hard-hit blitz port.

SOUTH AFRICAN ACE DEAD

LONDON — (CP) — Squadron Leader M. St. J. Pattle, a South African with the D. F. C. who was officially presumed killed in action, Pattle was credited with shooting down 23 enemy planes when he received his bar a year ago.

Charlottetown Presents Gifts To Corvette

Dr. F. C. Dougan, Charlottetown alderman, came to Halifax to present a set of silver service to officers and men of the newly commissioned Canadian corvette Charlottetown. The presentation was made on behalf of the citizens of the Prince Edward Island city. Dr. Dougan is seen above with the crew after the presentation. Mrs. Dougan, who accompanied her husband, and Mrs. L. B. MacMillan also came to Halifax. They presented a silver coffee urn to the men on behalf of the Wavy Navy League of Charlottetown, Navy League of Canada auxiliary.

MODEL SCHOOL

Honor roll for January.

The following pupils received Honor Standing for the months of December and January, Alphabetical Order.

Grade VII—Odella Ferguson, Betty Lou Howatt, June Younker.

Grade VII—Jimmie Karrey, Ivan Mitchell, Marcelle Flouide.

Grade V—Vivian Andrews, Jackie Howatt, Ian McMillan.

Grade IV—Winnifred Hill, Joyce Proctor, Ann Worthing.

Grade III—Walter Blanchard, Barry Benz, Barry MacMillan.

Grade II—Ruthie Collins, Earle Jewell, Don Livingstone.

Grade VII—Jimmie Karrey, Ivan Mitchell, Marcelle Flouide.

Use Minard's for aches.

WINSTON'S GRANDSON

LONDON — (CP) — The five-year-old grandson of Prime Minister Churchill is a "chip off the old block." He-O.G.I. E. at Wicksam, to his constituents he always saves his empty shells for George Julian Winston's boys "who delights in playing at soldiers and shooting."

Canadian-made Bofors anti-aircraft guns, hauled by Canadian-made tractors, help guard the Pacific coast which has suddenly become a front upon which all eyes are focussed. These fast-firing guns are capable of hurling 140 shells a minute to a considerable altitude.