PRINCE EDWARD THEATRE.—Those who were privileged to view the latest Pallas-Paramount photograph, "THE AMERICAN BEAUTY" at the Prince Edward Theatre yesterday were shown an amazing achievement. In this Pallas production Myrtle Stedman plays two different roles at the same time. The character of the aristocratic white-haired, sorrow-marked Mrs. Ellsworth is such a contrast to the character of the beautiful daughter, Ruth, which she also plays in these scenes, that it is almost impossible to believe she is the same person. The quality of the double-exposure work is so phenomenal that it establishes a precedent. The play has a considerable amount of interest locally and from the fact that Newfoundland and Nova Scotia figure therein, the fishing scene being very realistic. A ship on fire and all on board taking to the boats makes a vivid scene. The other pictures were "The Trunk Picture," the eight adventure "Grant the Police Reporter," and "His Model Wife," a sparkling comedy.

The large hall was cleared for dancing and to the strains of sweet violin music furnished by Mr. George Birt and Mr. McCabe and the inspiring swirl of the bag pipes skillfully manipulated by Mr. John E. MacKinnon, the light fantastic was tripped and heartily enjoyed by all. A dainty supper was also furnished, and after singing the National Anthem the happy party dispersed. The kindness of Dr. Blanchard, medical superintendent, and Miss Herridge, matron, is deeply appreciated by all who were party to this unexpected treat and accentuates the good feeling prevailing throughout the Institution. A tribute must also be paid to the kindness of Mrs. McLellan, housekeeper, and her assistants, who contributed so materially to the evening's entertainment.

RECRUITING MEETING.—One of the best recruiting meetings of this season was held at Webster's Corner on Friday evening, Rev. A. J. McDonald, the pastor, presided. The hall was filled with the good feeling of a premium. Rev. J. McDonald representing the Patriotic Fund, spoke in the interest of that cause giving an excellent discourse showing the aims and objects of the organization and the reasons why it should be supported. Col. Jenkins gave a forceful address on behalf of recruiting for the army and was followed by Dr. McMillan for the navy. Both received a very attentive hearing. The speeches of Rev. Dr. Fullerton and Rev. Mr. Fullerton were also well received and were worth the claims of the Empire on the attention of the young men. Short addresses were also given by Mr. David McDonald, M. L. A., Glenfanning, and Mr. J. H. Cumiskey, Webster's Corner, P. C. chairman. Rev. A. J. McDonald spoke strongly in his appeal for recruits and a response to the Patriotic Fund. Mr. McDonald in his rendition of Longfellow's Bridge, received rapturous applause. After the singing of the national anthem a sale of pies followed in aid of the Red Cross and Belgian Relief Funds. The amount realized was $127.50. One recruit signed on, Mr. Alban McDonald of Glenfanning, a brother of Lieut. Leo McDonald, of that place.

IS THIS MAN A DETECTIVE'S VICTIM?

Clergyman Arrested For Selling Drug-Forming or Drug-curing Concoction

BROOKLYN, N. Y., February 18.—The Rev. William N. Richie, retired Presbyterian minister, and a Grand Army chaplain, who was arrested at his home, 105 St. James place, January 12, charged with selling habit-forming drugs, pleaded guilty today in the Court of Special Sessions to violating the Public Health Law. Justices Kernohan, Moss and McInerney remanded him to jail to await sentence on February 23. The clergyman was technically charged with the sale of one bottle of an alleged remedy for drug addicts, which he says he has been selling for twenty years. Through his attorney, he insisted that he was interested in the sale of the preparation only as "a work of God," and that his only motive for carrying on the business was that he felt it his duty to benefit unfortunates afflicted with the drug habit. He offered to place in evidence testimonials from six hundred former habitués of his preparation, as proof that the "remedy" did what he urged it would do—help drug victims gradually to overcome the habit. Detective Alonzo H. Greer, who made the arrest, testified that the defendant had first refused to sell him any of his alleged drug cure without a physician's prescription, and that the first bottle was obtained after he had visited Dr. Sutton, of 1979 Bedford Avenue. The second time, he said, he paid a hurried visit to the American man, who sold him the second bottle of the "Remedy" without the physician's orders, when the detective informed him that he had to leave town at once and had no time to make another visit to the physician. The Rev. Dr. Richie admitted all this, but insisted that his motive in thus violating the law was that, heavily moved by his supposed patient's plight as a drug fiend, and had acted honestly and in the best of faith in selling him the drug. He believed that it was saving him from distress and that it was incumbent upon him to do so," he explained through his counsel.

American Ship Sails Unarmed

(Canadian Press Despatch.) LIVERPOOL, Feb. 19.—The Philadelphia, the first American liner to leave Europe since Germany's declaration of unrestricted submarine warfare, sailed on her late Wednesday afternoon. She carried 95 passengers of all classes, of whom 38 were Americans. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, formerly United States Minister to Holland, had originally intended to sail on the Philadelphia but decided earlier in the week to postpone his departure until Saturday. The Philadelphia was unarmed, carrying neither a mounted nor an unmounted gun. In addition to her cargo of what is known as express freight and two tons of despatches from the American Embassy in Washington. The despatch bags contained important documents for consulates in nearly all the countries of Europe, including a large number from Germany, despatched before the breaking of diplomatic relations.

Sign Damage Waivers.

A jolly and good-natured crowd waved farewell from the Philadelphia's decks to anxious friends as the ship left the dock. Prior to embarking the passengers had discussed the prospect of the liner being attacked by a submarine, but most of them treated it lightly. However, many tried to take out large life insurance policies before leaving, especially in view of the fact that when they engaged their passage the company made them sign a waiver not to hold it responsible for any loss in the event that the ship was sunk by a mine or submarine.

There were comparatively few British passengers and this was explained by the fact that the authorities refused passports, except in a few instances. Even the London Daily newspapers tried in vain to procure permission for staff men to make the voyage. The editors of these papers had to content themselves with engaging the few American newspapermen on board to send their stories in the event of disaster befalling the ship. Some even arranged to have accounts of the trip cabled after the liner reached America. The young man, Nelson Ryder, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Prince County Hospital, has recovered so well, as to return to his home in Muddy Creek.
