"MY STOMACH IS FINE
Since Taking Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets"

Mrs. J. Merkluger, Waterloo, Ont., enthusiastically recommends Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets. Her experience with them, as she outlines it, explains why.

"I was greatly troubled with my stomach", she writes. "I had taken so much medicine that I might say to take any more would only be making it worse. My stomach just felt raw. I read of Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, and a lady friend told me they were very easy to take, so I thought I would give them a trial and really they worked wonders. Anyone having anything wrong with his stomach should give Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets a trial, they will do the rest. My stomach is fine now and I can eat any food."

One of the many good features of Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets is that they are so pleasant and easy to take. The relief they give from heartburn, flatulence, biliousness and dyspepsia is prompt and permanent. Try one after each meal—they'll make you feel like a new person.

Coming and Going

THE smooth, clean, economical concrete road is coming—as certainly as the railroad, the steamship and the telegraph came.

And the muddy, sticky, deep-rutted dirt and macadam road is going—as surely as the stage-coach, the sailing ship and the spinning-wheel have gone.

It's simply a question of which communities will take advantage of the better, modern way of building roads now—enjoying its benefits from now on—and which ones will continue to "get along" in the poor old way until forced by competition to avail themselves of science's latest contribution to public convenience.

Concrete Roads

are not experiments. There is no "chance" taken with their adoption. They have been quietly proving their value for twenty years. Concrete roads built twenty years ago, when concrete construction was nothing like so far advanced as it is to-day, are still giving absolutely satisfactory service.

Concrete roads have proven themselves best—under all sorts of conditions, from the standpoints of both service and economy. Their first cost is near that of good macadam, their service is greatly superior, and their final cost—the only one to consider in comparing roads—is a great deal less.

These are strong statements. They might be stronger and then not over-state the truth. Concrete roads "back them up" with facts—facts that prove concrete to be the best and cheapest material for road construction—either for city streets or country highways.

Many Canadian counties and cities are already using concrete pavements. Many others are preparing to do so as fast as they can.

They will be enjoying the many advantages that good roads bring, while others who stand by the "poor old way" with its mud and ruts and expense and repairs are waiting—for what?

Every citizen should have the information on concrete roads which we will send free upon request.
