Physical Education Books Distributed

Aiming towards the development and coordination of mind and body the Provincial Department of Physical Fitness has almost completed distributing physical education books to the majority of schools on the Island.

Each school teacher has been the recipient of four books covering physical education activities of all children from Grades I to IX. The curriculum begins with a study of rhythmic activities in the first two grades to instructions on basketball and hockey in the more advanced grades.

The distribution of the books was carried out with the co-operation of the Provincial Department of Education and the Departments of Physical Fitness in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The books are standard texts for the three oldest Maritime Provinces.

Complete instructions on soccer, volleyball, softball, basketball, hockey and track and field are given in the book for the older students. Other activities covered in this book are marching, free hand exercises, group games and relays and gymnastic activities.

Books for the intermediary students contain instructions of games and activities of a less strenuous nature. The physical education for the first two grades consists of story plays, games and elementary mimetics.

Hockey Game At Summerside Is Postponed

The scheduled game on Saturday night between the Summerside Crystals and the R. C. A. F. Meteors was postponed and will be played some night this week, probably on Thursday although this was not definite last night. This is the last game in the schedule for the Crystals although the Air Force has two more, one against Prince of Wales and one against St. Dunstons.

Their game against Airmen is also the only remaining game for the Welshmen. As Summerside and P.W.C. are tied for the bottom playoff berth at present these games against the Meteors are all-important. If both Summerside and P.W.C. win or lose their games they will remain tied for fourth spot but if one of them wins and the other loses the loser will be eliminated. — S

World Ski Meet Ends

(By Harold Classen)

ASPEN, Colo., Feb. 19—(AP)—Zeno Colo, a hawk-nosed farmer from Italy, slammed down the slide of Mount Aspen at a speed of 53 miles an hour Saturday to win the world's downhill run, final event of the world ski championships.

The squat Italian, who crouches so low he appears to be sitting on his skis, ripped through the 2.1-mile course that drops 2,400 feet in two minutes, 34.4 seconds.

That was 1 3/10 seconds better than any other of the 58 starters from 13 countries could do. The daredevil from Italy has an unofficial record of 100 miles an hour for a stretch of 220 yards.

Earlier last week Colo won the giant slalom and took second to Georges Schneider of Switzerland in the slalom, a feat seldom duplicated in world skiing.

Yves Latrelle and Yvon Tache, both instructors at Sun Valley, Idaho, topped the Canadian entrants, finishing 26th and 28th respectively. Latrelle, from Ste. Adele, Que., was clocked in 2:51.3, and Tache, from Quebec City, in 2:51.7.

Counting the earlier jumping and cross-country events—the Nordic phase of the championships—at Lake Placid, N. Y., and Rumford, Maine, the complete, unofficial team scores tabulated by the Associated Press were:

Austria 67, Sweden 57, Norway 46 1-2, Italy 31, France 29, Finland 23, Switzerland 21, United States 9 1-2, Canada 2.
